Unloaded Gun May Add Boy to Long List

Shot in the abdomen last night with a gun he thought was unloaded, Whit McClay, 16 years of age, 5323 Rockhaven street, was taken in a critical condition to Georgia street Receiving Hospital. There the wounded youth told police officers that his brother, Robert, 11, had shot him unintentionally while they were alone in their home.

The youth said that when he reached home he found a 32-caliber automatic pistol in one of his brother's coats hung in a closet. The younger brother told him that he had found the pistol. The elder removed the clip with six cartridges in it before returning the weapon. Then the pistol was snapped, discharging an overlooked seventh shell. The bullet struck Whit.

Police Surgeons Spear and Snyder decided on an immediate operation. The boys' father is dead and their mother was not home at the time.

CUBS TRIM ATHLETICS

Down Mackmen in Own Park

Three-Run Rally in Sixth Brings Victory to Chicago, 3-1

Hornsby, Cuyler Shine After Many Failures; Bush Beats Earnshaw

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

SHIBE PARK (Philadelphia) Oct. 11. (AP)—Just when it looked as though they intended to spend the rest of the series striking out, Rogers Hornsby and Kiki Cuyler suddenly recovered their batting eyes this afternoon and propelled the Chicago Cubs to their first victory in the 1929 world's series.

Hornsby and Cuyler were tied for the dubious distinction of striking out the times when they came to bat against George Earnshaw, big right-hander of the A's, in the sixth inning of the third game but in rapid succession they did enough damage to account for the entire margin by which the Cubs won, 3 to 1, behind the crafty twirling of Guy Bush and put themselves back into the battle for the world's championship.

CUBS OUTHIT

The Cubs were outhit, nine to six, and Bush was heard pressed most of the way, but the battling Bruins made enough punch in their one-run rally to check the wild dash of Connie Mack's agile young men, who their strike-out jinx for the day being and spoil the homecoming of the American League champions.

At the same time, the Cubs regain the National League's one victory since October 9, 1926, thereby ending a record losing streak that had extended through ten games, in three years.

The Athletics still lead by the commanding margin of 2 to 1, needing no more victories to clinch their fourth world's championship. They are still big favorites, however, to win at least a fight more, inasmuch as the series is certain to go through two more games, tomorrow and Monday, at Chicago. Bush (Cub) will be opposed by the Cubs tomorrow with Lefty Grove in the box for the A's. It will be anybody's ball game then.

CUBS DRAW CROWD

The home-town reception for the Chicago Nationals A's was marked by a good attendance of only 20,000 spectators, the smallest in nine games of world's series play and assuredly short of the expected crowd of around 35,000 to 40,000. The shortage was understood to be due to the refusal of the club officials to accept passbooks or bail bonds through the hands of speculators and emerged without any regulation government tax stamps.

Even allowing for this situation, however, and the erection of big bleacher stands atop a row of houses outside the park, not many more than 30,000 fans actually viewed the proceedings in which Babe Ruth went down to de-

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 11. [To the Editor of The Times:] That certainly was nice of Connie Mack not to discourage the National League entirely. He will keep fooling around and have to start some of his best pitchers yet. If the series can go seven games and play to capacity they have a chance to merge with the City National Bank of New York.

By the way, an old country boy banker from Colorado slicked the city slicker bankers out of 500,000 bucks and they give him fifteen years so fast that you would have thought he had assassinated a big government official. You let a city banker slick an old country boy out of something and before night he will merge with another bank and finally wind up as a member of the Federal reserve.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Censorship Foes Win Victory

Tariff Bill Amendment to Lift Customs Ban on All Indecent Books Passed

Literature That Might Urge Treason Also Allowed; New Vote Likely

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Opponents of literary censorship by customs officials won an entirely unexpected victory in the Senate this afternoon, and against heavy odds.

Though most of the regular Republicans were compelled to stand by the Finance Committee in opposition to any change in the censorship laws and the Democratic section of the antitariff coalition had been weakened by the subtle influence of the Ku Klux Klan, a compromize amendment offered by Senator Cutting of New Mexico prevailed by a vote of 38 to 36.

Earlier in the afternoon, Cutting's first amendment, which aimed at eliminating all forms of censorship, was snowed under, 33 to 48. During the debate, however, it became apparent that some Senators were prepared to vote for a modified amendment, so Cutting offered a substitute and after several hours of fervid oratory it prevailed.

The amendment, in effect, lifts

FALL GOES TO COURT

Risks His Life by Action

Government Mistrial Move Successfully Opposed Through Counsel

Advice of Doctors Unheeded as He Determines on Do-or-Die Course

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—The determination of Albert B. Fall to force the government to try him now on charges of bribery or dismiss the indictment caused him today to leave his sick bed, enter court in a wheel chair and, through counsel, successfully oppose the government's motion for a mistrial.

With that the trial continued. Two witnesses were heard while Fall slumped weakly in a tall chair. He will be taken to court by relatives again tomorrow.

Earlier in the day and prior to Fall's dramatic appearance, Justice Hitz announced from the bench that four physicians who examined the former Cabinet officer at the court's request, found he is suffering from bronchial pneumonia and that his attendance at court would endanger his life.

MISTRIAL URGED

At that session government counsel urged the court to declare a mistrial on the basis of the physicians' reports. The defense objected, saying Fall should have the opportunity to "obtain vindication," and asked a recess until Monday.

Justice Hitz reserved his decision until this afternoon, saying "it is not a trial by jury, it is a trial by ordeal."

Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for the defense, said Fall will continue the trial or die in court. He said he regretted it is necessary for Fall to continue, adding Fall himself insisted that the government finish his prosecution or dismiss the case. Fall, Hogan said, told him he would rather die in court than have a mistrial declared and the charge continue to hang over him.

"The responsibility for what happens now is the government's," Hogan declared.

GOVERNMENT RELUCTANT

Owen Roberts, special government counsel, said the government did not wish to go on, pointing out it lost its motion to halt the case.

"The government has done all it could to prevent a sick man being brought into court," Roberts said. "We do not intend to dismiss the indictment against Fall."

Roberts added a dismissal virtually would mean the end of the government's case against Doheny, who is charged with giving Fall $100,000 for the Elk Hills (Cal.) naval oil lease. It is this sum the government contends was a bribe, while the defense asserts it merely was a loan to an "old friend."

After Fall, in bed at the Mayflower Hotel, learned the court was undecided whether to recess until Monday or declare a mistrial, he arose, was placed in a wheel chair and later in Doheny's automobile and proceeded to court. On arrival there his counsel announced "we are ready to proceed."

The government at once called C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law and former Collector of Customs at El Paso, who described the purchase of the Harris ranch in New Mexico by Fall with money obtained from Doheny. Chase said Fall told him the money was a loan, for which Fall had given his note.

E. C. Finney, solicitor of the Interior Department, who was first assistant secretary under Fall, identified a number of documents, leases, letters and telegrams pertaining to the Elk Hills naval reserve lease and the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, naval oil storage contract. Court then recessed until tomorrow.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11. (AP)—A dispatch to El Universal from Tlapocoyan in the State of Vera Cruz says that thirty persons were drowned yesterday in the River Martinez de la Corre when a launch was swamped by a wave and sank with all on board.

The victims were stated to be among the best known residents of the town. Only eleven bodies were recovered.

AIR VIOLATIONS INCREASE

But Number of Planes and Hours Flown More Than Doubled During Year, Says Federal Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Although violations of air regulations more than doubled during the last fiscal year the increase was proportionately below the gain in the number of planes operated and hours flown, according to a statement today by the aeronautics division of the Commerce Department.

The number of planes in operation in 1929, 176 were assessed the civil penalty, seventy-six pilots were suspended, twenty-one licenses were revoked, licenses were denied six, reprimands were issued to 192; twelve cases were referred to the Department of Justice, public hearings were asked for six violators. Fines were collected to the amount of $4525, it was stated.

The number of planes in operation doubled over the previous year and number of flying hours increased ten times, the statement said.

There were 224 violations in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1928, while there were 493 in the past fiscal year. In 1928, the civil penalty was imposed upon sixty-five; 121 were reprimanded, twenty-two licenses were revoked, five were denied licenses because of violations, twenty-two cases of violations were closed for lack of evidence, and a public hearing was asked for seven.

In the fiscal year ending July, 1929, the greatest number of violations of air regulations, it was said, have consisted of acrobatics over prohibited areas, flying low over congested areas, flying licensed aircraft without a pilot's license, flying with no identification numbers displayed, and flying without navigation lights.

CIVIL WAR STARTS FIRST BUILDING TRADES STRIKE

Walkout of Electric Linemen Is Most Serious Disturbance of 1903; Meat-Cutters Double-Crossed

This is the twelfth of a series of articles on the Los Angeles open-shop war. Others will follow daily.

The building trades, the most important in Los Angeles from the viewpoint of the closed-shop propagandists, have been the object of many attacks during the forty-year war to maintain the open shop in this city. It is in these trades that the unions have their largest numerical membership, notwithstanding which building in general has been, though with difficulty, kept on an open-shop basis.

Oddly enough, one of the first considerable strikes in the building industry, in 1901, was due to no differences between employers and employed but to civil war in the unions themselves. The fight started over the refusal of the union bricklayers to join and recognize the authority of the building trades section of the Council of Labor. The bricklayers emphasized their independence of the other unions by refusing to march in the Labor Day parade, whereat the carpenters declined to work on building jobs with the bricklayers, laid down their tools and walked out. They were followed by the hod carriers, cement workers and bricklayers' helpers, to a total number of about 500, including the ostracized layers of bricks, who could not work without hod men and helpers. There were several free fights in which it was demonstrated that union men could beat up fellow-union men with as much efficiency and enthusiasm as the hated "scabs." Finally, after about ten days of this, the Council of Labor ordered all hands back to work. In the meantime the building contractors had filled most of the vacant places with nonunion men, so that the open shop profited by the incident after all.

The only other labor disturbance worthy of note in 1901 was a strike of the woodworkers in November. In violation of its agreement with the employers, the woodworkers' union demanded nine hours' pay for eight hours' work and struck when it was refused. The strike failed and most of the men went back to work in about a week.

REIGN OF TERROR

In vivid contrast to the comparative industrial peace of Los Angeles was the situation in San Francisco, where more than 23,000 men were on strike and the city was undergoing a reign of terror. The teamsters went out in July following a boycott of the Morton Special Delivery Company by the San Francisco Labor Council and an effort on the part of the Draymen's Association (employers) to have the teamsters haul for the nonunion concern. A dozen other unions struck

CHINA CIVIL WAR FEARED INEVITABLE

Marshal Feng's Forces Said to be Moving Against Nationalists at Hankow

NANKING (China) Oct. 11. (AP)—War between the Nationalist government and the powerful forces of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, war lord of Central China, is a powerful, though uncertain factor in far eastern politics, but is believed here to be inevitable.

Little has been heard of Feng lately, but his forces are reported already moving against the Nationalists with Hankow as their objective.

The Nationalist state council today ordered the arrest of Lun Chung-Lin, Minister of War, and Gen. Liu Chi, ablest of Marshal Feng's commanders, on the grounds that they were frequently plotting against the government. Both men escaped from Nanking.

The Nanking government has ordered a punitive expedition against Feng Yu-Hsiang, whose Kuominchun armies are quartered in the provinces of Honan and Shensi.

Announcement was made in an official communique stating that the Kuominchun commanders intended to launch an expedition against the central government which would destroy the unity of the country. The government therefore proposed to suppress this fresh rebellion and to punish the guilty.

TARIFF BILL LOBBYISTS DRAW FIRE

Rumors of Commission Experts Approached to be Investigated First

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—Reports of an attempt to influence experts of the Tariff Commission will receive first attention of the Senate Lobby Committee when it begins hearings Tuesday.

William Burgess, a former Republican member of the Tariff Commission of Morristown, N. J., and Frederick L. Koch, an expert now in the employ of the commission, were summoned today by Chairman Caraway. He said the committee was going to ascertain whether "efforts were made to lobby with or influence agents of the Tariff Board in arriving at their conclusions as to values and cost of production."

The committee understands that Burgess and Koch disagreed over a report made by the latter relating to valuations of china and porcelain wares.

Meanwhile, Chairman Shortridge of the Senate committee investigating the activities of William B. Shearer for shipbuilders at the 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference indicated today that the hearings would not be resumed for perhaps a week or ten days. The Senate committee will meet tomorrow to determine its future course.

Illinois Student Ballot Scandal Brings Revolt

URBANA (Ill.) Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—The University of Illinois election scandal turned into a student revolt today.

Twenty-six officers of the Illinois Union, the student organization which controls campus activities, signed a petition announcing they will resign from the union unless the university authorities reinstate their president, Charles P. Edwards of Kansas City, before next Tuesday.

Edwards is one of ten student officers ousted from office by the university officials following the class elections of a week ago, in which, to quote the statement of the university, "disgraceful episodes occurred."

PREMIER CALLS ON WORLD TO MOBILIZE FOR PEACE

MacDonald in Address at New York Pleads for Public Opinion to Back Disarmament Ideal

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—An appeal to mankind to enthrone peace over the world was made tonight by J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, in a speech to the members of the Council on Foreign Relations, at a dinner held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. He asked that public opinion be mobilized behind the peace efforts initiated by his conversations with President Hoover.

Speaking with marked earnestness in what probably will be his last public utterance on his historic meeting with the President, the Prime Minister warned that much remains before the peoples of all the nations will relinquish military security for political security. He re-emphasized the fact that his negotiations with this government had been entirely in the open, and took occasion to rebuke "the few voices" which had charged that an Anglo-American alliance had been entered into at Washington.

DISCUSSIONS OPEN

"I want the whole world to know," said the Prime Minister, raising his voice, which was broadcast virtually to every corner of the globe, "that during the entire course of our negotiations there was never any idea of an exclusive understanding between Great Britain and the United States.

"Our discussions were in the open and there was nothing discussed between the two governments which we would not be happy to have discussed before the whole world. The understanding which we have reached, however, will always be incomplete until it has become the common possession of all the nations of the earth."

The speech of the Prime Minister was a summing up of his visit to this country and an analysis of the fruits of his mission.

After telling of the good will which he had found manifest by the public as his conversations with the President progressed, Mr. MacDonald took note of those who had indicated disharmony with the conference.

NOTABLES PRESENT

"There has been an odd voice or two which were out of harmony with the progress which we made," he said. "I have heard that there is some leaven of the old diplomacy in the far corners of the world. When two statesmen get together to talk there are some who think there must be something sinister in it.

"Well, I will say to these that they are very much out of date."

His spoke bluntly at times and as his theme was developed the enthusiasm of the distinguished audience mounted steadily.

The ballroom of the hotel was festooned with the British and American colors, and among the members and the guests of the council were many of the leading bankers, industrialists and journalists of the country.

Mr. MacDonald in the course of his address suggested that the British people would have to be educated to naval limitations. He pointed out that the "British navy is Great Britain in itself," adding that the nation had always been of the sea and that a month's blockade of the British Isles would starve the nation.

ROOT SPEAKS

Elihu Root, honorary chairman of the council, presided. Hale, despite his 91 years, the distinguished American spoke in ringing tones of the meeting between the Prime Minister and the President. Praising the "noble efforts of the two leaders of government," Mr. Root called for an ending of the old procedures between nations.

Mr. MacDonald, rising amid a thunder of applause as Mr. Root ended his introductory remarks, repaid the tribute of the toastmaster in kind. He said that he had met Mr. Root for the first time on Thursday night, after years of admiration for his work toward universal amity.

"Tonight, I am speaking to you and I see you," said the Premier, looking to an unseen audience of millions. "The public has followed the course of our negotiations through the press and as we have gained points the public has cheered and upheld our efforts.

IN GLASS HOUSE

"That fact, Mr. Chairman, is very well illustrated by the circumstances under which these conferences were inaugurated. When

NAVAL POOL HELD MYTH

Stimson Issues Quick Denial

Story of Alliance Growing Out of MacDonald Visit Declared Fallacy

Understanding With Britain Described as Purely Moral One

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—The Hoover administration does not want any misapprehension to exist as to the purpose of Premier MacDonald's visit as viewed by this country or as to the scope of the "new understanding" that resulted between the United States and Great Britain on international affairs.

This was illustrated abundantly today when Secretary of State Stimson went to the unusual length of directly and formally repudiating a newspaper article which stated that in effect the two countries have agreed to "pool their navies" for the maintenance of world peace.

The article gave circulation on this continent to what it has been feared has been a suspicion all along on the part of France, Italy and other nations that Premier MacDonald and President Hoover were bent on establishing an entente or alliance between the two English-speaking countries and that in view of their joint statement of two days ago they must have succeeded in coming to general terms on that proposition.

MORAL UNDERSTANDING

Hastening to deny the suggestion in certain terms that nothing is further from the truth and that not even the hint of such a thing had entered into the conversations between the President and Prime Minister. The "understanding" that grew out of the MacDonald mission, he said, is based on the Kellogg peace pact and is purely a moral one, having no connection with the use of arms.

It was quite apparent that Secretary Stimson was acting to head off as rapidly as possible the attaching of credence here or abroad to what he termed in so many words a most preposterous and unwarranted interpretation of the efforts of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald for a better all-around relationship and atmosphere between their own and other nations on the peace question, an interpretation which might, if allowed to go uncheckeck, throw a serious monkey wrench into the forthcoming naval arms conference.

Mr. Stimson's statement follows:

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

"In reading comments on the Prime Minister's visit and the joint statement which was issued on his departure I have noticed a statement which so completely misconceives and misrepresents the actual facts and the spirit of our conference that I cannot let it pass without correction.

"Mr. David Lawrence says that 'Great Britain and the United States have in effect agreed to pool their navies to maintain the peace of the world.' During the whole of our conversation there was not a syllable of such a suggestion. The tenor of the conversations was exactly

ISHBEL HAS DAY IN COURT

British Premier's Daughter Fascinated Witness as New York Juvenile Mill Grinds

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Great Britain's Prime Minister, sat on the bench of the Children's Court of New York today and listened with solemn-eyed interest to the disposition of two cases.

With far more rapt attention that she has given to any of the enthusiastic receptions of the three cities she has visited, Miss MacDonald heard Judge Peter B. Hanson dispose of a case of parental neglect and a case of desertion.

The two little girls who stood before the bar so fearfully had no idea who the pretty young woman carrying a bouquet of orchids and Scotch thistle might be and appeared not to care. But Ishbel MacDonald cared about them. She leaned forward almost breathlessly as the judge recommended the mental examination of the 13-year-old girl whose parents were charged with neglecting her.

GIFT FROM JUDGE

Miss MacDonald was greeted when she reached Children's Court by Judge Samuel B. Levy, who gave her the corsage she carried and a packet of documents which he said contained some interesting case records and extracts from his opinions.

"Do you know," said Miss MacDonald, "this is the nicest thing I have received of all my gifts since I came to this country."

For this was Miss MacDonald's day as a social worker, for her the most important of all her visit. This morning before leaving her hotel for the court she uttered her first pronouncement on social conditions. As she talked her whole manner of a charming, politely interested young woman changed into the attitude of one who has a vital interest in life.

The young Scotswoman, a member of the London County Council and an experienced social worker in London's slums, declared that she

Everything conducted in ...glass house, with no secrecy, no ...certains, no blinds, and from that ...ay to this, our negotiations have been conducted by men who wish to live the open life, and have no desire to pursue the secret one.

"We have not come together for the purpose of enthroning peace over the Atlantic. We have come together for the purpose of trying to enthrone peace all over the world.

"The chairman was perfectly right when he said that what we had in mind was to effect moral disarmament first of all. We shall never be able to effect physical disarmament until we have succeeded in effecting moral disarmament.

PROBLEM ARISES

"And I venture to hope that the statement which was issued the other day on behalf of your President and myself in the opening paragraph has proclaimed between us a state of moral disarmament.

"This is the problem of statesmanship. On the one hand, you get your moral disarmament. Sentiment is with you. Parity is with you. Resolutions that read fair and sound well are carried unanimously. But the moment you begin to apply them for the purpose of transferring the mentalities of the peoples from the mentality of military security to a mentality of political security, then poor statesman is beset by 1000 and one exceedingly intricate problems.

"Now the task that lies in front of us is to go through that condition here. We have declared that no war can take place between us. We have declared more that we do not conceive, we cannot conceive any circumstance under which the armed forces of the United States and of Great Britain can come into conflict. So far so good."

BIRTHDAY TODAY

The address to the members of the council closed a day during which the Prime Minister had striven with all his resources to further the ideal of Anglo-American unity to promote peace. He will rest tomorrow, which is his birthday, and on Monday morning will depart for Canada, where he will remain for seven days.

A few hours before he began his speech to the council he had attended a tea and reception of the Foreign Policy Association held at the Commodore.

While his mission and its fruition were the theme of his later speeches, he had avoided direct reference to them in his first address of the day. He had attended a luncheon of the English Speaking Union at the Astor, where he faced more than 4500 persons.

STIMSON DENIES POOLING NAVIES

...he reverse and I believe the joint statement makes that perfectly clear. The understanding which we framed at was a moral understanding. The influence which we are seeking to exert is a moral influence and not a military one.

BASIS OF DISCUSSIONS

The basis of our discussions was the Kellogg-Briand pact of peace which aims at outlawing war and all forcible compulsion of nations and which relies wholly upon the public opinion of the world as its sole sanction. This breathes throughout the entire joint statement yesterday, from the beginning where we say that we discussed one of the 'means by which the moral force of our countries can be asserted for peace,' down to the final sentence where we said that we are endeavoring to take steps which will be a contribution toward efforts for peace 'not by military organization but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by a sense of justice in the civilized world.'

"Nothing could have been further away from the truth than to suggest that we contemplated any other or pooling of our navies. No such idea even was broached or discussed."

During the last few weeks the administration repeatedly has emphasized that neither this government nor Great Britain contemplated anything in the nature of a two-party alliance. Premier MacDonald stressed that point in the interview granted Washington newspaper correspondents on the day of his arrival here. Finally, the joint statement by President Hoover and the premier set forth most plainly that each government would go about the business of promoting world peace in accordance with its own policies, and that no formal diplomatic connection had been or would be considered.

Such an alliance, or "pooling" of naval strength as suggested in the article published today in many newspapers, is exactly the sort of thing France and Italy have been on the watch for. Realization of this is understood to be behind Secretary Stimson's wide departure from custom in making a formal denial.

CONFIDENCE SOUGHT

Moreover, such reports are held to be especially obstructive at this particular moment, since the United States and Great Britain, having themselves come to agreement on the principle of naval reduction, are seeking to allay suspicions current throughout the capitals of the world to the end that other naval powers will agree to participate with cordiality and sincerity in the London conference in January. It is virtually necessary to the success of the movement for general disarmament that these other maritime powers, notably France and Italy, be brought to a point of view where they will sit down with the United States and England, and try earnestly to work out a real reduction compact. If they refuse to assist the naval reduction program is sunk.

THREE-POWER POSSIBILITY

This was pointed out in the joint statement by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald. It would, of course, be theoretically possible for the United States, Great Britain and Japan to enter into a three-party treaty, but under it only a sliding scale of reduction would be possible and this would be subject to change constantly to meet competition with France and Italy.

In another direction a rather delicate situation exists between the United States and France. It is the French view that any 'agreement worked out at London should, before it becomes effective, be submitted to the League of Nations disarmament conference.

This is not the view of the Washington government. It is understood that President Hoover and Secretary Stimson would be quite willing that the London agreement should be made the basis of a larger League of Nations disarmament plan, but they will insist that any treaty worked out at London shall be complete and effective in so far as the signatory nations are concerned, before the conference adjourns.

GRAPE MEN TO LEARN OF PROSPECTS

State Meetings to Post Growers on Progress of Efforts for Industry

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Just what has been accomplished in the grape industry in California in the last year and what can be expected with the cooperation of the Federal Farm Board in the future is to be explained to growers throughout the State at a series of seventeen meetings to be held during November.

Donald D. Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardists' Association, which organization is a unit in the Federal Fruit Stabilization Corporation, wires from Washington in advance of these scheduled gatherings:

"I am satisfied the progress made thus far fully justifies a successful consummation of all our plans."

Conn emphasized the untruth of reports which have gained circulation in some quarters that the Federal Farm Board will not recognize stabilization corporations in their programs of relief, and added he has absolutely no intention, as reported in the same circles, of resigning his position as the executive head of the C.V.A.

Freak Sinking of Texas Oil Field Ground Halts

BEAUMONT (Tex.) Oct. 11. (AP)—After a day of salvaging oil-well equipment from the sides of the crater formed by sinking earth in the Sour Lake oil field the novelty of the unusual phenomenon had subsided and practical oil men were taking up serious discussions on future action in the disturbed field. The settling apparently stopped this morning.

Estimates on the depth of the hole at the center were fixed at approximately eighty feet, though the bottom, where it is covered with water, has not been measured and the area covered by the huge bowl and cracked portion on its rim is set at seven to ten acres.

Arizona Paper Sues Officials

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 11. (AP)—The Mayor, City Auditor, City Attorney and five Councilmen of Tucson are named defendants in a suit filed today by the State Consolidated Publishing Company, publishers of the Arizona Daily Star, seeking recovery of a $2000 fee paid by the city to City Attorney Hill.

According to the plaintiff this fee was paid in addition to the attorney's regular salary, for his services in settling the Gray defalcation case to the benefit of the city.

Suspects Held in Perkey Case

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Marie Knowles, a divorcee, and James Lamonte, who admits he is a professional gambler, making his living from the race tracks, are being held in connection with the robbery of Mrs. R. C. Perkey, wife of a millionaire Florida real estate broker.

The Chief of Police of Cicero says he is convinced the robbery and shooting of Mrs. Perkey was a "frame-up."

BACKING GIVEN TO FARM BOARD

Senate Committee Votes for All of Nominations

One Ballot Against Legge Among Opposition

Debate on Floor Expected to be Started Next Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—A favorable report was voted by the Senate Agriculture Committee today on the nominations of all members of the Federal Farm Board.

All except three of the nominations were approved unanimously.

One vote was cast against Chairman Legge and three votes were cast against Carl Williams of Oklahoma, who represents cotton, and Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska, who represents wheat.

Of the nineteen members on the committee all voted except Senators Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and Shipstead, Farmer Labor, Minnesota, who were not present during the hearings on confirmation.

Chairman McNary of the committee said he would make the report to the Senate immediately and will open up the debate on confirmation the first of next week.

While the opposition to Williams and McKelvie was expected, the vote against Chairman Legge was somewhat of a surprise.

Opposition to Williams has been expressed by some Senators from cotton States because of his testimony during committee hearings regarding a fair price for cotton.

COMPLAINTS MADE

Some wheat State Senators have complained against McKelvie's testimony before the committee and the opposition to him on the Senate floor is expected to be led by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, a member of the Agriculture Committee, and Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

Senators Wheeler of Montana, Caraway of Arkansas and Smith of South Carolina, all Democrats, voted against McKelvie. The three voting against Williams were Senators Smith, Wheeler and Heflin, Democrat, Alabama.

Although it was reported Senator Wheeler had cast the only ballot against Chairman Legge, the Montanan declined to comment. He said, however, that he does not intend to attempt formulation of an organized movement against Legge on the Senate floor.

The board members approved unanimously, the crop they represent and their terms are James C. Stone of Kentucky, tobacco, five years; Charles S. Wilson of New York, miscellaneous agriculture, four years; C. B. Denman of Missouri, live stock, three years; William F. Schilling of Minnesota, dairying, two years, and C. C. Teague of California, fruits and vegetables, one year.

Chairman Legge also has been designated for a one-year term. McKelvie was appointed for two years and Williams for the only six-year term available at this time. Hereafter, all board members will be named for six-year terms.

REASON GIVEN

Senator Smith, who has objected strenuously to Williams, said he had made no effort to organize opposition to the Oklahoman in the committee and does not intend to do so in the Senate.

Senator Heflin said he voted against Williams because he does not regard his knowledge of cotton conditions as comprehensive.

"All Williams knows about cotton he has obtained from Oklahoma and Oklahoma is not a typical cotton State," he said.

Senator Wheeler announced he will carry his opposition to McKelvie to the floor. He said he does not consider the Nebraskan qualified and asserted he will divulge information intended to substantiate his viewpoint.

ASSAULT MADE ON CENSORSHIP

the customs ban against "all indecent and obscene books, pamphlets, papers, writings and circulars," and also permits the importation of literature which might advocate "treason and insurrection." Cutting modified a number of Senators by agreeing that the customs officials shall have the right to hold up a book which urges "forcible resistance to any law of the United States," or contains "any threat to take the life of or inflict bodily harm on any person in the United States." Sections of the present law relating to birth control and lotteries remain unchanged.

Senator Cutting insisted that removal of book censorship will not invite a flood of obscenity, explaining that there are sufficient laws in all States to punish outright pornography. He summed up the whole argument against censorship in this very striking sentence:

"The road to enlightenment is not a Federal highway; it cannot be surveyed in advance; each man traveling the road must find the way for himself."

ALL INTERESTED

Debate over the need of literary censorship ran through the entire afternoon and, as on yesterday, it seemed to fascinate a majority of the members. It was not necessary, as on other days of tariff discussion, to resort to frequent quorum calls to hold members in their seats. This proved to be a subject in which all seemed keenly interested.

Although the whole controversy was provoked last spring, when the House sought to confer on the Treasury Department the right to interpret "treasonable" literature, that phase of the bill was discussed only casually.

Those who supported the "liberal" point of view included Borah of Idaho, Tydings of Maryland, Wheeler of Montana, Dill of Washington, Caraway of Arkansas, La Follette of Wisconsin and Copeland of New York.

Wheeler brought the whole subject up to date when he compared the conservative attitude toward Ramsay MacDonald a few years ago with the spectacle provided in Washington during the present week.

"Only a few years ago," said Wheeler, "if Ramsay MacDonald had tried to enter this country, he might have been detained at Ellis Island for holding revolutionary theories of government. But last Friday we gave him a nineteen-gun salute and the keys to the city. Five years ago you conservatives would have favored a law prohibiting the importation of any book written by Ramsay MacDonald but this week you applauded him when he spoke here, and have been chasing around town wining and dining with him."

"Not wining," protested Copeland with mock horror.

"I'll withdraw that one word," said Wheeler with a grin, "but the rest goes."

Borah varied the affair by reading with considerable dramatic effect Milton's essay for a free printing press. Dill compared all literary censorship with a belief in ghosts, adding that "as long as we flee from ghosts ghosts will pursue us."

HEFLIN AND BLACK SPLIT

Toward the end of the afternoon the Senate had the unusual spectacle of the two Senators from Alabama, Heflin and Black, violently disagreeing with one another. Although both were elected with Klan support, Black is very much of a liberal, voting against the "100 per centers" on such items as cruiser bills. He made an impassioned plea for free speech, a free press and freedom of intellectual activity, and Heflin, equally impassioned, retorted that the Cutting amendment will flood the country with obscenity and with the political doctrines of the Russian Soviet and the Italian Fascisti. Although the principles of Communism and Fascism are as far apart as the polls, Heflin condemned both in the same breath.

Cutting's victory today may never be translated into law. Senator Smoot announced tonight that he will ask another vote on this provision before the bill goes to conference. Several Senators who were unrecorded were in Washington this afternoon, but found pressing business elsewhere when the time to vote arrived. Most of these Senators privately are with Cutting but it might not be politically expedient for them to vote that way.

PROTEST READING BLOCKED

An attempt by Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, to have read in the Senate today a telegram from the executive committee of America's Wage Earners' Protective Conference, protesting a speech made during a recent tariff debate by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, was blocked today by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader.

Senator Robinson heatedly condemned the reading of a telegram attacking a member of the Senate.

Watson started to withdraw the telegram, which had been addressed to Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, but before he could do so, Robinson asked that it be expunged from the record.

There was a chorus of ayes from the Democratic side. Watson then explained that he wanted to withdraw the message, signed by Mathew Woll and other officers of the association, if it was regarded as an atack upon Senator Ashurst.

Forty Planes on Ford Tour Finish Safely

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Oct. 11. (AP)—Forty-one planes demonstrated today the mettle that entitles them to participate in the National Air Tour for the Edsel Ford reliability trophy.

Twenty-eight of the craft that landed at municipal airport here late this afternoon were contesting ships. The others were official and service machines. The most unfavorable of flying conditions, haze, squalls, low ceiling and many miles of flooded terrain whereon a plane could not be set down with safety, lay between the hop-off of the day's second leg at Augusta, Ga., and this port.

One mishap, a nose-over in landing, marred the day's otherwise perfect performance.

Pair Arrested on Kidnaping and Other Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (AP)—Albert Kenady, 27 years of age, and his 19-year-old girl companion, Grace Gibson, were arrested here today on charges ranging from kidnaping to violation of the State revolver law after George Miller, Reno taxi driver, told police the pair had engaged him to drive them to Auburn, Cal., then forced him to bring them to San Francisco under threat of death.

The girl was arrested in a Bush-street rooming-house, while Kenady, who, police said, is known to them as Bert Baldwin, alias James Sullivan, and by other names, was taken into custody at a downtown express office. In their luggage were found four revolvers, detectives announced.

NEW PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION

William H. Daum

DAUM ELECTED BY REALTY MEN

Industrial Development Key to Prosperity, He Says

Veteran Los Angeles Dealer Virtually Unopposed

Woman Vice-President for First Time in Body

BY ROSS GRANT
"Times" Staff Representative

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive) William H. Daum, veteran Los Angeles real estate man and industrial specialist, today was elected president of the California Real Estate Association. San Jose was chosen as the city for the 1930 convention.

In the election and acceptance speech of Mr. Daum the real estate men of the State foresee a concentrated effort toward the further industrial development of California. In accepting the highest honor, the silver jubilee convention of the association had to offer, Mr. Daum declared:

AS GOES THE STATE

"When California prospers industrially the real estate interests of the State prosper proportionately."

Peter Hanson of Glendale, who was Mr. Daum's only outstanding opponent, made a graceful gesture by seconding Mr. Daum's nomination and virtually withdrawing from the race.

Sam A. Selover of Long Beach was named treasurer, and Glenn D. Willman of Los Angeles will again fill the post of State secretary.

George W. Zent of Hollywood was named vice-president from the eleventh, Los Angeles and Hollywood, district.

WOMAN ELECTED

In the election of Mrs. Beatrice Hards of San Pedro as vice-president of the eighteenth district, the association today set a precedent. Never before in the twenty-five-year history of the organization has a woman been accorded such an honor. The election has particular emphasis at this time, as Mrs. Hazel M. Grant of Pasadena, is leading a fight to force the admission of women members to the Los Angeles Realty Board.

Dickinson & Gillespie, Los Angeles subdividers, won the salesmen's attendance cup; the Los Angeles board was awarded the percentage attendance cup; W. E. Wallace of Oakland finished first in the home-town contest and the Santa Monica board received the achievement award. Long Beach was named as winner of the advertising contest.

Gov. Young was the speaker at the annual banquet this evening which wound up the four-day session of the organization.

"Yes, I think if we gave children good houses, sanitary conveniences and generally good conditions their morals would take care of themselves," she said in reply to questions. "I am a member of the education committee of the London County Council"—she always speaks of this organization with pride—"and I am one of the people who decide to what industrial school children committed by the court shall go.

"I am very much interested in the workings of children's courts here and in England. It is a rather new phase of the work for me but I expect to do a good bit of study when I go home."

Miss MacDonald positively refused to tell the nature of the "surprise" she has planned for her father for tomorrow, which is his birthday.

"If I told you," she laughed, "it would not be a surprise. But of course, I am planning something."

MRS. WATTS NOT FIRST CONVICTED MURDERESS

CARSON CITY (Nev.) Oct 11. (AP) Mrs. Rosa Watts, found guilty at Winnemucca Wednesday night as an accomplice in the slaying of her husband, Rollin Watts, is not, as at first believed, the first woman in Nevada to be convicted of first-degree murder. Mrs. Elisabeth Potts and her husband Josiah were hanged for murder at Elko in 1888. Mrs. Watts was convicted of first-degree murder as the principal accomplice of her divorced husband, Glenn Trousdale, in the slaying of her husband. The jury recommended life imprisonment, which will be the sentence.

ARMY SPLITS CHICAGO ENGINEERING DISTRICT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—Another step in the reorganization of the Army Engineering Corps has been taken by the War Department with the issuance of orders separating the present Chicago Engineer District into two parts. Lieut.-Col. William C. Weeks, district engineer for Chicago, was named engineer for the new first Chicago district. Maj. Herbert J. Wild, assistant district engineer in Chicago, was placed in charge of the second district.

BURGLARS SENT TO PRISON

PHOENIX, Oct. 11. (AP)—E. L. Guernsey, former Phoenix policeman, was sentenced today to serve from seven to fourteen years in the State penitentiary for robbery and burglary convictions. Claude Smith and Lawrence Rearden, convicted with Guernsey of eleven burglaries and robberies in Jerome, Ashfork, Flagstaff and Phoenix, were sentenced to from five to fourteen years.

in sympathy and for over two months the Bay City business and industry was at a virtual standstill. Out of its 360,000 inhabitants it was estimated that 234,000 directly and indirectly suffered from the strike. The streets were the scene of constant and bloody rioting with which the police were totally unable to cope. The strike literally wore itself out by its own violence and ended in a compromise in October.

The following year in Los Angeles was even more free than its predecessor from labor trouble. Its most noteworthy event was the almost complete disintegration of the street railway employees' union, on the heels of renewed efforts by San Francisco organizers of the same union to expand and consolidate the local body. They overestimated their success, and, when the usual post-organization strike was ordered, barely a dozen men left their cars. This ignominious fizzle was the cause of much recrimination in the union and its president finally went back to San Francisco in disgust.

SMALL STRIKES

Union iron molders struck in September for higher wages and recognition. The foundry-owners yielded on the former count but refused the latter. The men returned to work as individuals after a little more than a week.

In February, 1903, thirty carpenters, wiremen and ironworkers struck on the O. T. Johnson Building, then under construction, because a walking delegate objected to the employment of nonunion plumbers on the job. Their places were filled. The same result attended a small strike of sheet-metal workers the following month, called, incidentally, in violation of their union by-laws which provided that no strike should be called between December and May.

The typographical union called a strike of union pressmen and pressfeeders in several job-printing establishments in April but succeeded only in adding another failure to its record and in increasing the number of open-shop establishments in the city. A handful of ironworkers went out on the Union Trust and Hellman Building jobs in May, returning after a few days on the old basis.

An odd strike, said to have been engineered to keep the streets torn up and the city embarrassed during the May Fiesta de las Flores, was that of some 400 Mexican laborers employed as trackla...ers for the street-car company. With only the vaguest notion of what it was all about, the Mexicans had been persuaded to form a union and then to strike, ostensibly for higher wages. Their places were filled and the union went to pot. There was a suspicion that this "strike" was so timed as to make the streets difficult of passage during the visit of President Roosevelt, who honored the city's fiesta with his presence that year.

LINEMEN'S STRIKE

The principal labor disturbance of the year started on May 5, when 200 linemen, employees of the telephone, lighting and power companies struck to enforce a new wage scale and a voluminous set of union-made regulations for the conduct of the industry, acceptance of which meant establishment of the closed shop therein. The companies declared the proposed regulations to be absurd and impossible. Typical of them was one forbidding subforemen to report to their foremen outside of regular working hours, notwithstanding that an important part of the work of linemen consists in the repair of breaks in electric lines which occur at all hours and which must be repaired immediately, not only for the convenience and service of patrons but frequently for the protection of the community.

All the local companies were affected except the Los Angeles Electric Company, which had had its own linemen's strike a few months before and had then definitely established itself on an open-shop basis.

The first stage of the strike was marked by an unsuccessful effort to get the telephone girls to join the walkout. In the meantime the companies had recruited crews of nonunion linemen and filled the places of the strikers. The appearance of these crews on line and repair jobs was a regular signal for attacks upon them by groups of strikers, usually in numerically superior force, and the Receiving Hospital was kept busy by injuries on both sides. Following one such battle at Castelar and College streets, where a nonunion crew of the Home Telephone Company was set upon by strikers, four of the latter were arrested, fined and jailed on charges of assault.

The sentiment of the community was strongly against the strikers and their tactics, which included sabotage against company property such as short-circuiting service lines and the like. The union appealed to other linemen's organizations for support and on June 23, 1500 linemen in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone Company walked out in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona. Whether this was a true "sympathetic strike" is disputed, inasmuch as the telephone employees made wage and closed-shop demands of their own.

MEAT BOYCOTT

Like many other local strikes, the linemen's walkout had no decisive end. It simply petered out. After dragging along for several months the strikers got tired and either went back to their jobs individually, took up other work or left town. It was an open-shop victory, or rather, a closed-shop defeat.

It was during this period that McCarthy and his forces were organizing the New Los Angeles Labor Council and otherwise showing the Los Angeles unions how San Francisco did it. A score of expert organizers from the Bay City were at work in as many industries and the meat business was selected for a demonstration of how to create a closed shop. The butchers' union presented a set of closed-shop demands to the Simon Maier wholesale meat establishment, one of which was that he should discharge nonunion employees and hire union ones. Maier made the traditional Los Angeles reply, his union employees walked out, and a boycott was slapped on Maier meat. The more courageous retail butcher shops kept on using Maier meat. The walking delegate who was conducting this closed-shop demonstration thereupon ordered the meat-cutters in these retail shops to strike rather than cut "scab" meat, though the cutters themselves had no grievance whatever. About sixty obeyed the order.

In launching this strike, the closed-shop demonstrator announced that victory would be attained through bringing about a meat famine in Los Angeles. As time went on and chops and roasts continued plentiful, the original strikers in the Maier plant concluded that the benefits of the closed shop had been somewhat exaggerated to them. Without saying anything to the meat cutters who had struck in sympathy for them, they went quietly back to work at their old jobs on the old basis, leaving the "sympathy strikers" to hold the bag. Many of the latter promptly resigned from the union and returned to their cleavers, earnest advocates of the open shop. The demonstrator went back to San Francisco.

This fiasco put a damper on striking for the balance of the year, the only other walkouts being a small one of union pipe and tank makers and one by a handful of job pressmen and press feeders. Neither was successful.

Tomorrow's article will deal with the progress of the war in the period from 1905 to 1909, inclusive.

UNIONISTS HEAR DAVIS GIVE TALK

American Federation Also Gets MacDonald Pledge to Appear at Convention

TORONTO, Oct. 11. (AP)—The annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today heard addresses by James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor of the United States, and Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor for Canada, and applauded a message from Premier MacDonald of Great Britain, accepting an invitation to be its guest next week. It also gave consideration to some of the many important business items before it.

Mr. MacDonald's message, transmitted through the British High Commissioner to Canada, reversed his previous decision to remain away from the labor gathering in Toronto, and arranged for his appearance in the convention next Wednesday morning.

Mr. Heenan, in his address, remarked on the similarity of conditions in the United States and Canada, expressed the hope that unemployment difficulties faced by older countries can be avoided in his country, and told of progress toward old age pensions.

Secretary Davis predicted that industrial progress will bring greater rewards and more leisure to workers in the future and argued for restrictions of immigration into the United States.

DEL MONTE, Oct. 11. (AP)—... ...hods of the Judge Carlos Hardy ...peachment trial and the Aimee ...ample McPherson kidnaping case ...ere first heard at tonight's business ...eeting and banquet of the State ...ar of California in convention ...ere.

Attempts to effect a closer relationship between the State judiciary and the State bar brought frequent mention of the Hardy case during the evening discussion, which ended with an evident division of opinion concerning the status of judges in the membership. One contingent urged the complete divorce of the bench and the bar, agreeing with the Supreme Court decision in the Hardy case, while another argued for an affiliation which would permit judges to participate in the bar membership without forfeiting their immunity to investigation from that body.

Tonight's meeting adjourned without a definite decision on the future relationship of the judiciary and the bar and the debate was continued until tomorrow morning's session.

FASTER JUSTICE

The elimination of unimportant facts before trial and the centering of testimony on important facts at the trial were the principal features of a plan to shorten civil court procedure submitted to the judicial section by Myron Westover of the Los Angeles Superior Court.

"We must expect courts and counsel to be multiplied indefinitely to meet the increasing volume of litigation," Judge Westover said. "The courts and legal profession must provide a simpler and shorter method of handling litigation. For that reason I have devised a plan which I believe is adapted for use in all phases of civil cases.

AFFIDAVITS TO BE TAKEN

"Immediately on issues being joined and within a limited time, counsel for each party would examine all witnesses to be used at the trial, take an affidavit from each, reciting the more important facts, and prepare a brief statement of all issues and names of witnesses to prove them. Copies of all such affidavits and statements would be served on opposing counsel and originals with proof of service filed with the clerk; after which, but not before, either party might move to set for trial.

"Before trial the court, or an attorney would compare the affidavits of witnesses, eliminating by check marks the parts on which the witnesses agree or substantially agree, and marking the more important facts remaining.

"At the trial the court would require that the testimony of each witness be directed especially to the important facts upon which the witnesses by their affidavits appear to disagree. Witnesses would be examined as at present on direct, cross and rebuttal examinations. Their affidavits would not be used as evidence unless so stipulated."

ILLINOIS MINE UNION IN ROW

Two Sets of Officers Seek Members' Support

Elected Group Has Court to Issue Injunction

Appointees of Lewis Defied by District Men

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 11. (AP)—Allegiance of 60,000 Illinois coal miners is the stake for which two opposing miners' union chiefs strive in Illinois tonight. One is the regularly elected president of the Illinois mine workers, Harry Fishwick of Springfield, and the other Frank Hefferly of Collinsville, Ill., named as provincial president by international officers at Indianapolis, who today ordered the elected officers displaced.

Supported by a temporary injunction granted by Circuit Judge John Harry Fishwick still holds office tonight, but three blocks away the three men named as provisional officers, who announced they had settled down to await the court's next move.

Fishwick is optimistic even to the point of cheerfulness.

LEWIS DEFIED

"Good," he said. "We have been expecting this for months. We are prepared to show usurper John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, not only out of Illinois, but what is more, out of his office in Indianapolis."

Before the injunction was obtained, bringing developments which earlier in the day resulted in a riot call for police to prevent provisional officers forcing their way into district headquarters, Frank Hefferly established "provisional headquarters of District Twelve" in his hotel room and called upon the rank and file of Illinois miners to continue at work as if nothing had happened.

INJUNCTION WANTED

In granting the temporary injunction restraining international officers from revoking the charter of the Illinois district, ousting its officers, establishing a provisional government, and taking possession of district headquarters, moneys and records, Circuit Judge Jones deferred setting a date for the hearing.

With Hefferly, who spent last fall negotiating a wage contract for miners in Montana and Wyoming, as provisional officers, are Joseph P. Goett of Peoria, as vice-president and John T. Jones of West Frankfort as provisional secretary-treasurer. The two groups have disagreed time after time.

IRREGULARITIES CHARGED

The international charged irregularities in the last State election, and the State group countercharged that Lewis is holding office without authority in that he has neglected to hold the usual international convention.

Asserted dishonesty in the Franklin subdistrict offices resulted in indictment and a purported confession, led to an ouster of the subdistrict officers by Lewis, and a provisional establishment. The State organization disconcertanced that move and divided the subdistrict among other subdistricts, and defied the international. Today's persecution and ouster is a result of that break.

BENCH AND BAR ISSUE DEBATED

Close Relation Sought at Del Monte Meeting

McPherson-Hardy Case Up in Discussion

Four Justice in Civil Matters Considered

DEL MONTE, Oct. 11. (AP)—Trial of Judge Carlos Hardy on charges of conspiracy in the Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping case was heard at tonight's business session and banquet of the State Bar of California in convention here.

Attempts to effect a closer relationship between the State judiciary and the State bar brought spirited discussion of the Hardy case during the evening discussion, and ended with an evident division of opinion concerning the part of judges in the membership. One spokesman urged the entire division of the bench and bar, including with the Supreme Court decision in the Hardy case, while another argued for an organization which would permit judges to participate in the bar association without forfeiting their authority to investigate from that standpoint.

The meeting adjourned without a definite decision on the question of the judiciary and the debate was resumed tomorrow morning's session.

FASTER JUSTICE

The discussion of unimportant matters took up the centering of important facts at the trial were the principal features which led to the demand for changes in the present court procedure, outlined to the judicial council by the plan was described by Judge Woolwine of the Los Angeles Superior Court.

"The trial expert courts and rules in multiplied indefinitely and the increasing volume of business," Judge Woolwine said. "The courts and legal profession must provide a quicker and shorter method of handling litigation. For my part I have devised a plan that I believe is adapted for use in all cases of civil cases.

AFFIDAVITS TO BE TAKEN

"Practically on issues being joined and within a limited time, and by each party would examine all witnesses to be used at the trial, take an affidavit from each setting the most important facts, and prepare a brief statement of the issues and names of witnesses to prove them. Copies of such affidavits and statements would be served on opposing counsel and filed with the clerk; after which, but not before, either party would have to ask for trial.

"Then the court or an attorney would compare the affidavits of witnesses, eliminating by choice the facts on which the witnesses agree or substantially agree, or nothing the more important for resolving.

"It is then the court would require the testimony of each witness to be directed especially to the material facts upon which the parties by their affidavits appear to disagree. Witnesses would be examined in person on direct, cross or rebuttal examinations. Their affidavits would not be used as evidence unless so stipulated."

HAMBLET ELECTED

Hoyle A. Hamblet of Oakland was elected president of the State Bar at the annual organization meeting of the board of governors, succeeding Thomas C. Ridgway of Los Angeles.

The officers elected are: Joe C. Ward, San Francisco, secretary-manager; Reuben Hickey, San Diego, V. P. Keller, Sacramento, Edward B. Stevens, Los Angeles, treasurer.

Supreme Court justices completed the roster as ex officio members of the State bar. They are: Raglan Tuttle, San Diego, president; C. J. Seawell, Fresno, vice-president; Curtis D. Wilbur, Los Angeles, secretary, and Michael J. Roche, William H. Waste and Homer Spence, San Francisco, will compose the executive committee.

RIFT DENIED BY JOHN GILBERTS

They Return From Honeymoon Abroad

Film Actor and His Wife, the Former Ina Claire

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (AP)—The story that the John Gilberts have separated "is the bunk," take it from the film players themselves.

"What happened," said Gilbert as he and Ina Claire returned today on the Mauretania from a three months' honeymoon abroad, "was that I decided about 2 in the morning to go for an automobile ride in the Riviera and was gone five hours.

"On reaching Paris the mere fact that I took an automobile ride was distorted to imply that Miss Claire and myself had separated. What many of the public seem to want of motion-picture people is that they be unhappy. We will have to disappoint them this time for we are quite happy."

Before ship news reporters were able to ask a question Miss Claire said: "Now I'll tell you in advance we are not separated, nor divorced nor the least unhappy."

ALCHEMY MIRAGE PASSES

Bavarian Plumber's "Discovery" Declared Hoax; Opportunity for "Sleight-of-Hand" Admitted

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.)

MUNICH, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Now that Munich has had its gold rush, the mystery of the alchemy of Franz Tausend, plumber, reveals itself as a debt swindle, in the judgment of serious scientists, but the gay Bavarian capital still is wondering whether it is the victim of a premature carnival joke.

It now is admitted, however, that Tausend's former partner, who was allowed to be present when the experiments were being made in the official mint, slipped the plumber a package of cigarettes. It is suspected that they had been sprinkled with gold dust, which found its way into the melting pot as Tausend tossed the ashes off his cigarettes.

There is general running for cover on the part of the numerous pondering officials who supervised Tausend's experiments, which one of the leading chemists of Munich University today called "Tausend's little pleasantry." The professor of chemistry pronounced the episode as a huge hoax and denied that the gold produced was transmuted from lead, but asserted the gold by some feat of legerdemain previously had been deposited in the melting pot. The society, organized in October, 1925, for the purpose of exploiting Tausend's discovery, was composed of prominent men, including Gen. Ludendorff. The organization soon broke up in a row, although Tausend enjoyed a period of prosperity while conducting his backers on an excursion into the realms of alchemy.

DIRIGIBLES' NEW MAST MEETS TEST

Navy Mobile Mooring Unit Tried Out on Los Angeles and Proves Satisfactory

LAKEHURST, (N. J.) Oct. 11. (AP) The Navy's new mobile mooring mast was hailed as a distinct success today after its first public demonstration in grounding the giant dirigible Los Angeles.

Secretary Adams and other high officials of the Navy witnessed the demonstration. The mast is designed to facilitate the handling of the dirigible in cross-hangar winds and to reduce the size of the ground crew necessary to handle the ship.

The mast was constructed at the naval station here under the supervision of Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl. It consists of a steel mast attached to a triangular steel base which is mounted on three caterpillar wheels. After the ship is moored to the mast a tractor attached to the base and the ship hauled into the hangar. In launching and landing the dirigible it had been found the ground crew scarcely could hold down the ship in a wind of more than twelve or fifteen miles an hour.

New York Fire Takes Two Lives and Injures Trio

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (AP)—Two men were burned to death and three injured today in a fire which swept a six-story loft building in Greenwich Village. The fire drove 150 persons to the street, many by fire escapes and over the roofs of adjoining buildings.

The fire started in the fifth floor plant of the Aerograph Textile Company, manufacturers of dyed silk, and spread rapidly on the chemicals used in the dyeing.

Axel Jaeson, 65 years of age, a painter, and a man known as Lang, employed by a stained-glass factory also on the fifth floor, were trapped by the flames. Their bodies were charred almost beyond recognition. The fire caused damage of $100,000.

SOUTHERN SECURITIES DEMANDED

Bay City Retirement Fund Directors Refuse to Back Down in Investment Issue

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Executives of the San Francisco city employees retirement system refused to back down today on their desire to purchase utility bonds originating in Los Angeles, despite pressure to have them purchase municipal bonds of San Francisco.

John S. Rogers, president, explained the position of the officers by saying:

"As trustees of the fund (treasury surplus) we are in the same position as bank directors. It is impossible and would be poor business for us to put all of the fund money in municipal bonds. We must diversify our investments.

"The fund has taken a loss in the past in buying San Francisco municipal bonds, but we did it in the spirit of good-citizenship."

The matter came to a head yesterday when City Auditor Boyle refused to honor the retirement system's warrant for $54,852 with which it was proposed to buy bonds of the Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and Southern California Gas Company.

REDS RAGE AT ACTION OF FRENCH ACE

Reported Sale for Coste's Plane to Chinese Held Breach of "Hospitality"

MOSCOW, Oct. 11. (AP)—Reports that Dieudonne Coste has sold to the Chinese authorities the airplane in which he made his recent record-breaking flight from France across Russia and Siberia to Manchuria has caused a storm of indignation in aviation circles here.

Commander P. T. Baraboff, president of the Soviet Civil Aviation Council, declared today that Coste's action in failing to follow the route prescribed by the soviet government, entering the forbidden military zone of the soviet far-eastern army and failing to land at Irkutsk or elsewhere in soviet territory as he had "pledged" himself to do not only violates the laws of the Soviet Union as well as international aerial law, but constitutes a distinct hostile act and abuse of Russian hospitality.

Baraboff said that this was more flagrant in view of the highly strained relations between soviet Russia and China.

Conference With Prohibition Administrators Held

Search for Information Will Center Here

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—John L. McNab, appointee of President Hoover, intrusted with the task of finding out what ails prohibition enforcement, if anything, and what to do about it, sat down today to watch the wheels go around in that part of the government machinery which is charged with enforcement. Sitting with him were William O. Walker, prohibition administrator for the Northern California district, and William Woods, administrator for the Southern California area.

Walker and Woods explained the mechanism and McNab listened. The conference was entirely one of acquainting the Presidential monitor with conditions as they exist.

No suggestions were made or offered. McNab deeming it his first task to acquaint himself with the gears, drive wheels and cam shafts of enforcement machinery as it exists in all its branches before drawing conclusions upon which to base the recommendations to President Hoover that are expected to come under consideration at the December session of Congress.

HIS NEXT STEP

His next step will be conferences with judges, both here and in Los Angeles, to determine what happens after liquor violation cases reach the courts and what can be done to expedite or control them, or change the procedure if necessary.

At today's conference, the status of enforcement legislation as it affects California, and the relation of State laws to Federal laws, was discussed in detail. Other discussions will follow, at which time the respective ideas of the conferees will be exchanged. McNab then will draw his opinions and conclusions.

He has the widest latitude in his inquiry and will receive the fullest co-operation of all agencies contacting conditions which have grown out of the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment.

McNAB'S BELIEF

It is known McNab believes the ultimate destination of proper enforcement is the Department of Justice rather than the Treasury Department, under which departmental head it now functions. The Treasury Department should retain only those phases of the liquor question which have to do with revenue, McNab believes. In this he is understood to reflect the views of persons high in both departments. Whether or not he will recommend this change depends on what he finds in the investigation he has undertaken.

It is known also he believes the Federal courts are cluttered up with litigation involving minor liquor transactions which should be placed under the jurisdiction of lesser courts. Of this he has commented:

"Trivial prohibition violations that clog the machinery of the Federal courts have reduced the dignity of those high tribunals to the level of police courts."

Chicago Detective Squad Officers Indicted in Death of Colored Candidate

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Lieut. Philip Carroll and his detective bureau squad were being sought by the Sheriff's office tonight on capiases for murder and assault to kill as a result of indictments returned by the grand jury this afternoon. The detective bureau squad is formally charged with murder on Primary Day in April, 1928, of Octavius Granady, colored opponent of Morris Eller, big cog in Mayor Thompson's City Hall machine, for Republican ward committeeman.

The grand jury ordered that Carroll, four other detectives and four Italians be held without bail for the killing.

Inasmuch as tomorrow is a holiday in the courts the policemen will be locked up over Saturday and Sunday should they be found by the Sheriff. On Monday a hearing will be demanded from Chief Justice Normoyle on the question of bail. Attorney W. W. Smith, representing the policemen, served such a notice today on the State's Attorney's office.

Commissioner Russell said that until he is officially notified of the indictment he will take no action. The policemen, technically fugitives from justice, presumably are going about their regular duties tonight.

Locke has been secretary of the organization for twenty-two years but has served on a part-time basis heretofore and received no salary for his work. As executive secretary, Locke will be the man over the league's activities through the State.

RULE OF SOVIET GHASTLY FARCE

Economic Experiment Fiasco Says Investigator

Far-Sighted in Party Under Thumb of Clique

Test of Communistic Theory Proves Its Falsity

This is the last of a series of seven daily articles in which Paul Marion, for eight years an outstanding figure in the French Communist party, and chief of the political agitation and propaganda section, tells of his disillusionment after fifteen months in soviet Russia. What he found in Russia led him to resign from his party. In these articles he describes what he found.

BY PAUL MARION

PARIS, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—It is only since 1923 or 1924, in fact, since the great Trotzky rebellion, that the main body of Russian Communists, headed by the leaders of the revolution of October, 1917, have begun to doubt the success of their work and have considered the possibility of the failure of the revolution.

It is curious to note that it is from that very period, five or six years ago, that Russia has had a stabilized ruble; has seen the ending of civil war and of foreign military complications; and the suppression of the military economic and financial blockade, with the result that soviet policy has been able to function freely and clearly to show what it was worth.

So long as extraneous events interfered with their program the Bolshevists benefited by a sort of atmosphere of Socialist mysticism created by decades of revolutionary propaganda and by the effects of the great year 1917. The result was that a great proportion of public opinion and even many of their former opponents afforded them unstinted support.

DYING, BUT HOPING

"We were dying of hunger and cold but we were moving toward a new world; we were going to create a better social organism; we were going to astonish the world."

These words were spoken to me by an engineer who has since become an anti-Communist. The underlying idea of his remarks was repeated to me by crowds of workmen, of humble people of all kinds, of civil servants and even of full-fledged members of the Communist party, who, angry and disabused, cherish in the privacy of their homes thoughts quite different from those they utter in their offices or at the meetings of their "cells."

This spirit of mysticism was not dissipated until 1925 or 1926, when the problem of the economic development of the country along Socialistic lines began to be acute after the Communists had completed their work of re-establishing the wrecked industrial undertakings.

EYES OPENED

It then became apparent with increasing clearness that the bureaucracy of the Communist party and of the soviets had created a very heavy, expensive and paralyzing system of production which could exist only by destroying administratively every kind of commercial and industrial competition. And this in spite of the new economic policy, which allowed a certain liberty to private initiative, recognized as useful in trade.

The new system prevented any serious development of agricultural savings which, indeed, the government raided by taxation and by the ingenious system of charging high prices for industrial goods and allowing only low prices for agricultural products.

This condition inevitably brought economic anemia and low wages, which created a spirit of discontent among civil servants, clerks, workmen, peasants and virtually everybody in Russia.

There was, of course, the usual political repercussion. The dictatorship had to be strengthened and from being a military dictatorship during the period of war Communism it developed into a Communism of policemen, petty politicians and hypocrites.

CLIQUE CONTROL

The government of the country was carried on at first by the Communist party, which very largely followed its chiefs blindly during the period of the great struggles. Later it tended more and more to pass into the hands of a small government clique which inflicted its power on the Communist party after having expelled, deported, exiled or humiliated the leaders of the old heroic age such as Trotsky, Zinoviev, Kamenev, Tomsky, Boukharine, Rakowsky and Radek.

It must be recognized that nothing else could have happened because, after all, one cannot create a state of society superior to capitalism by brutally substituting for capitalism and for the complicated machinery of industrial leadership a political party which has been socialized by decree.

Such a scheme must lead either to more or less rapid collapse, as would have happened if that warlike prophet Trotzky had remained in power, or to the creation of a feudal bureaucracy of which Stalin is the practical embodiment in the Soviet Union.

This bureaucracy has created a backward and reactionary economic regime in spite of all propaganda may say. To exist it has to stifle all productive forces in the country, in both towns and villages.

WITHOUT CHECK

The bureaucracy has further set up a political regime corresponding to this economic regime—that is to say, it has formed a dictatorship in which a small governing group under nobody's control practices a policy of despotism it asks you to believe is a policy of enlightenment.

It is not to be wondered that the one question asked among friends who can be trusted in every class of society when the situation in Russia is discussed is: "How is all this going to end?"

Will the present regime be altered? Numbers of Communists of the Right wing and avowed or unconscious Menshevists, of whom many are to be found among government employees, will say that the country should pass little by little from the bureaucratic system and from the government control of industry to a state where the concessions to foreign capitalists will be increased very largely.

This would allow the progressive establishment of a mixed economic regime in the bigger undertakings, which would be run half by private capital and half by the soviet state. It also would enable smaller industrial concerns and the small peasant investor to develop freely and would lead to a gradual return of freedom of action of trades unions and local soviets, and to a general evolution toward democracy. Thus, we are told, there would be set up in the Soviet Union a type of economic and political machinery both original and progressive.

NOT IMPOSSIBLE, BUT—

In theory all this is not impossible, but it would be asking the Stalin bureaucracy to cut its own throat. This solidly intrenched minority which controls the enormous state organization recently smashed the Right wing of Communism, led by Boukharine and Tomsky, that enjoyed the support of an important section of the population, but whose forces were scattered and without any central control.

There remains admittedly foreign pressure from democratic states in Europe and from the European labor movement. Nothing, however, is ready in those quarters. There is also pressure exercised by foreign industrial leaders who have dealings with the Soviet Union, but these leaders do not find it too difficult to work with the Napoleonic regime of Stalin.

Any violent upsetting of the dictatorship is out of the question because the enemy forces at home are unable to carry out such a plan. There may be peasant risings, growls and groans from workers and government servants, labor may be discontented and "go slow," strikes and sabotage may be carried out by a minority of the proletariat, but all these things are far from being welded in one big revolutionary movement.

RUSSIAN RESIGNATION

"We put up with the Romanoffs for 300 years," you will be told by Muscovites in a spirit of resignation, "so why should we not tolerate the Bolshevists for thirty?"

As regards a foreign war, it may be said that the Soviet Union, although without economic reserves and saddled with a peasant class ready to mutiny and desert, could nevertheless hold out for a time by means of the very powerful military and police forces at its disposal and thanks also to the patriotism of the city dwellers.

"I do not love the Bolshevists," said a skilled worker to me, "but how delighted I should be to fire two or three shells into the backs of the Poles."

Any serious war, though, would probably be fatal to the dictators of the Kremlin.

If such a thing should come we must not shut our eyes to the fact that the government that would succeed the Bolshevist dictatorship would be one of the narrowest White reaction. The moujik would vote, in his anti-Communist fury, for the most backward of anti-Reds.

INTO THE FIRE

This, in my opinion, would be a pitiable outlook for the whole world. Far preferable to such a state of affairs would be the evolution of the soviet system in the direction of political and economic democracy.

The Stalin regime with the huge resources afforded it by its economic and political dictatorship and by the maneuvering ability which enables it to avoid one crisis by creating another, still has a long life before it, though I recognize that such a life is to the disadvantage of the mass of the Russian people, of the international labor movement and of world progress in general.

That is why I consider it necessary to make known the truth about soviet Russia, to destroy the mysticism of the Russian revolution and to disabuse workmen and small bourgeois of their extremist, anti-democratic illusions.

Detroit River Rum Runners' Plot Thwarted

DETROIT, Oct. 11. (AP)—Police believe they have broken up plans of Detroit River rum runners to run the Federal prohibition blockade under cover of machine gun and automatic rifle fire with smugglers disguised in naval and military uniforms.

The supposed plot was unearthed last night with the seizure of a small arsenal which included the machine gun stolen last Saturday from the United States Marine Corps Reserve Armory. The equipment consisted of the machine gun, two rifles, a pistol used for shooting flares, hundreds of rounds of ammunition, blankets and marine and army uniforms.

Six persons are held.

One is said to have confessed he and four other men broke into the armory, held up the guard and took the machine gun.

Habibullah Khan, erstwhile Bacha Sakao, waterboy king, had left already and his whereabouts were unknown. Most of Habibullah's army officers were captured.

RED WORKERS PENALIZED

Russian Factory Employees Must Pay Damages for All Defective Goods, Under New Ruling

MOSCOW, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Russian factory workers producing defective goods henceforth will have to pay damages out of their own pockets, according to a ruling made today by the highest soviet of the people's industry.

The ruling advocates that not only financial, but also criminal responsibility be fixed upon the workers and administrative officials of any factory producing imperfect goods.

The percentage of defective goods, from which the country has suffered heavy losses, mounted very high this year. There were two reasons for this; in the first place, each factory administration, being anxious to obey the government order to reduce production costs, lowered the quality of their materials.

Secondly, individual workers, entering the proclaimed Socialistic competition to see who should produce the most, and anxious to make a show of their patriotism, produced larger quantities of goods, but of poor quality.

Woman Nearly Loses Legacy

DENVER, Oct. 11. (AP)—Maxine Solthoff Mueller, 29 years of age, of San Jose, Cal., narrowly missed losing a $50,000 legacy left her by her great-grandfather, Henry Solthoff, pioneer Denver manufacturer, because her mother, Mrs. D. E. Gordon, changed her name several years ago in an effort to forestall purported attempts of her divorced husband to take the girl, court records revealed today.

A detective organization hired by a Denver banking company, administrator of the estate, spent four years searching for Miss Mueller. She was located recently in San Jose. A court sustained the young woman's claim to the legacy over objections of others, who asserted the girl forfeited her right in the change of names.

Mrs. Gordon and Miss Mueller are en route to California.

Convicted of Plotting for Slaying of Printer

Septuagenarian Tells Why She Insured Victim

MACON (Ga.) Oct. 11. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Powers, 71-year-old rooming-house proprietress, today was found guilty, without recommendation of mercy, as an accessory before the fact in the slaying of James Parks, youthful Atlanta printer. Under Georgia law such a verdict automatically carries the death sentence.

Sentence was pronounced and the date for execution set for November 29.

CRIME PLOT DENIED

The landlady had denied any knowledge of the crime, and stated that she insured Parks's life solely to protect herself against loss of money she had advanced to him.

Mrs. Powers went on trial Monday. The State held she plotted the death of the youth after luring him to her rooming-house with a newspaper "ad" for a "young man who wants home-like surroundings." She then obtained a $7000 double indemnity insurance policy on the young man's life, the charge said, and planned his death in order to collect $14,000.

YOUTH CONVICTED

Earl Manchester, 19-year-old Rochester (Mich.) Youth, was convicted as the slayer several months ago and is under a death sentence pending an outcome of his appeal for a new trial.

Manchester was called by the State to testify against Mrs. Powers, but when told he was not forced to testify, asked that he be excused and that the court "be merciful to her."

THOUSANDS SEE AERIAL TACTICS

Sensational Show Put on by March Field Graduates

Fifty-one Ships Hold Their Formation Perfectly

Maj. Harmon, Commandant of School, Gives Diplomas

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 11.—Thousands of Southern Californians today flocked to March Field to witness a sensational aerial show presented by the fifty-two cadets and one student officer who this morning were awarded their diplomas. Formation flying in groups of three and nine opened the air program and parachute jumps made a spectacular finish.

The fifty-one ships in the formations circled the field three times, taking off and landing in the same precise formation they held in the air. All three types of training ships, in use in the primary, secondary and advanced flying at the field, participated in the formations, CO5, DH and PT3 types being used.

As the last formation landed, the Fokker trimotored transport flew over the field, disgorging six parachute jumpers, who made fine landings in quick succession. Jumpers today were Lieut. Gilbert L. Tefft, Lieut. John Quincy Adams, Lieut. Oscar F. Carlson, Lieut. John Bobo, Lieut. Richard P. Gilley and Sergt. George W. Wehling.

Following the air maneuvers, the cadets gathered in No. 1 hangar where they were given their diplomas. Capt. C. P. Graeser gave the invocation and Maj. M. F. Harmon, commandant, congratulated the cadets upon the successful termination of their training here. He presented the diplomas as the names were read by Lieut. Townsend Griffiss, assistant commandant of cadets.

Immediately following the exercises, the graduates left for Kelly Field, Tex., where they will take advanced flying courses.

Today's class made a new record in time, having completed their work two weeks ahead of schedule. Excellent flying weather during the summer months made possible the completion of needed air hours early. Lieut. James M. Bovans, commandant of cadets, was in charge of training activities.

New Masonic Temple Assured

SANTA ANA, Oct. 11.—This city was assured one of the finest new Masonic temples in Southern California last night when workers in the building-fund campaign of local Masons in official reports added $15,000 to sums already raised and brought the intensive campaign they have been conducting to an official close with a total in hand of $175,010. Reports were made at a dinner in the Masonic Temple.

The goal of the campaign was $200,000, the amount needed to build the kind of temple that is planned and furnish it. It was decided to continue the fund-raising effort until the full amount is in hand, although intensive operation of the campaign has ceased. In a brief talk, George S. Smith, general campaign chairman, complimented the workers, characterizing the raising of so large a sum in ten days' time as a "wonderful achievement."

Municipal Bus Terminal Taken

SOUTH GATE, Oct. 11.—Part of the new building at the southeast corner of Seville avenue and Santa Ana street has been leased by the City Council for a municipal bus terminal station at a rental of $100 per month for a period of ten years. The city will have a space thirty-three by 150 feet at the east end of the building. The location also is the end of the "J" line of the Los Angeles Street Railway Company.

There are seven bus lines operated in this city, and it has been decided that all of these will enter and depart at this point, thus making a desirable waiting place for the hundreds of passengers who are carried in these busses every day. It is planned to sublease part of the station for concessions, and in this manner part of the rental will be returned.

CHAMBER TO RESUME MONTHLY MEETINGS

MONTEBELLO, Oct. 11.—After a three months' vacation the Chamber of Commerce will resume its monthly membership meetings Monday evening, under the supervision of W. F. Johnson, president. For several months the question of distribution of handbills, circulars and shoppers' guides in the city has been discussed by the merchants, business and professional men of the city, and City Manager L. G. Herr has requested that the chamber make recommendation to the City Council. Several other civic problems will be discussed.

CHAIRMAN READY FOR TEMPLE DRIVE

Judge W. Cloyd Snyder

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Organized to raise funds for the proposed $100,000 temple to be erected on Fair Oaks avenue, between Monterey Road and Oxley street, the executive committee of the South Pasadena Masonic Lodge will open an extensive campaign on the 16th inst., according to announcement made by Judge W. Cloyd Snyder, chairman of the committee.

Other executives on the committee are: Mrs. Flossie Taylor, chairman of the women's division; Judge Harry Archibald, L. J. Filley, Floyd James and Frank Bush, master of the South Pasadena Lodge.

Three teams constitute the women's division in the campaign and in the men's division there are seven teams.

The financial plan for the building has won the indorsement of the finance committee of the Grand Lodge and the approval of the State Corporation Commissioner. The goal set at $100,000 is an amount sufficient to insure the success of the enterprise. Of that sum, $85,000 will be used for the cost of construction and furnishing of the building.

Income of the temple from all sources is conservatively estimated at $12,300 annually over a ten-year period, leaving a surplus of $3800 annually. It is believed that the surplus will assure complete financing of the temple.

New Big Sisters Hospital to be Under Way Soon

VENTURA, Oct. 11.—Erection of a new Big Sisters Hospital on Foothill Boulevard, breaking of ground to start within the next thirty days, is the plan of the hospital board of directors. Designs for the structure, which will be a Class A building, erected on the unit system, are being drafted. Site of the structure will be on the boulevard in the Helena tract, where the hospital board has just bought ten lots.

The first unit probably will contain more bed space than the present institution at Poli and Chestnut streets, which has fifty beds, according to members of the directing board. Following construction of this unit, the main hospital building will be erected as the need demands and money is available.

Chaffey Boys Will Go East

ONTARIO, Oct. 11.—Four Chaffey Union High School boys, Harold Dutton, Fletcher Palmer, John Tate and Charles Birdsall, plan to leave tomorrow or Sunday for Kansas City, where they will compete in the national interscholastic stock-judging contests at the American Royal Live Stock Show. The boys won the California State title in stock judging this summer and fall and are eligible to make the trip to Kansas City, according to Charles Perrin, coach of the judging squad. Birdsall is alternate on the team.

In 1922 the Chaffey boys won the State title, but at Chicago one of the team members became ill, and the team fell down in judging. To avoid repetition of this possibility an alternate was chosen for this year's trip.

Traveler Kisses Blarney Stone

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 11.—Henry J. Anderson, this city's confirmed globe trotter, has returned from an extended trip to Europe in the course of which he visited Ireland for the express purpose of kissing the Blarney stone. Today he told of his travels before the Rotary Club, of which he is a member. He holds the record for having attended more different clubs than any other local Rotarian, even Ed B. Harris, president of the club, who was a delegate to the international convention in Belgium.

Anderson last year journeyed to Australia and the Orient and still wears a Rotary emblem presented to him by the Tokio club. In Belgium on the present trip, Anderson visited for two days with his former pastor and friend, Father Garnes, for many years priest of the local Catholic parish of St. John's, who went back to his native land about three years ago.

Annexation to Pasadena Asked

PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Annexation to this city of eighty acres of county territory in the southeast section, north of the San Marino limits, is asked in petitions circulated today. Headed by Dr. Charles F. Flocken of 2072 Blanche street, property owners in the section under consideration conferred with the City Attorney's office yesterday. They reported that 120 signatures have been obtained, and that the area they seek annexation for contains 400 registered voters.

The north boundary of the tract is the local city limits south of Keystone and Hiatt streets and along Blanche street. The west boundary follows the city line along Allen and Parkwood avenues, while the south boundary is the northern line of San Marino. The east boundary runs from a point west of Grand Oaks avenue to Craig avennue.

Law Officer Hurt at Last

REDLANDS, Oct. 11.—For forty years Joe Rivera has been constable of Redlands township. In that time he has arrested murderers, chased cattle thieves all over the sage brush hills, run down horse thieves, handled drunks without number and never was injured in the line of duty until a few days ago.

Rivera is also the truant officer of the township. He was chasing three or four lively boys who were playing hooky when he tripped over a wire and fell heavily. His leg was injured so badly that the constable has been confined to his home for several days. The boys did not escape for Rivera sent another officer after them and they are in school.

OLD STATION MAY VANISH

Plans Call for Replacement of Ancient Structure in Pasadena by Modern and Larger Building

PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Plans being prepared for elimination of Santa Fe grade crossings in this city will provide also for erection of a modern station, Douglas Mackenzie, assistant city engineer, revealed today.

It is probable, MacKenzie asserted, that the old station on South Raymond avenue will be wrecked and the property improved with a larger structure that will include two waiting rooms. The old station, erected more than twenty years ago, has been outgrown.

The Santa Fe is engaged in preparing designs for railroad viaducts over the present grade crossings. Both the city and the railroad are preparing cost estimates on relocation of sewers and storm drains, which will have to be run parallel to tracks, and on relocation of utility conduits. Special studies are being made of railroad connections to commercial and industrial plants.

"Most people," said MacKenzie, "do not realize the bulk of freight handled in Pasadena, or that most passengers from Hollywood and the San Fernando Valley use Pasadena as a boarding point."

AIR-MAIL PACKAGE COMES HIGH

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 11.—The most expensive shipment of air mail, or any other kind of postal consignment, has reached the local postoffice, carrying air mail stamps worth $967.60. It was a shipment of 15,000 booklets consigned to DeWitt B. Van Derlip, manager of the two local Fox theaters.

The shipment, weighing 625 pounds, was sent from Buffalo, N. Y. There were ten packages in the shipment, each containing 1500 advertising pamphets and, each package weighing 62½ pounds.

Although the postage on this shipment seems enormous, Postmaster Fred E. Laxdal, pointed out that it cost the government $4062 to make the delivery. The cost of carrying one pound of air mail from Buffalo to Los Angeles is figured at $6.30.

SAN DIEGO BASE FAVORED

General Defense Depot for Housing Dirigibles as Well as Other Craft Planned for Camp Kearny Location

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—A naval air base at the old Camp Kearny greater in scope and greater in acreage than originally discussed by naval officials, is being planned at Washington, according to advices received by city officials here. The site is to be enlarged by the addition of 800 acres and besides housing the huge dirigibles now being made at Akron, O., it is indicated that the navy intends to make the site a general defense depot of magnitude.

That San Diego has won the fight against heavy odds for the Navy air base is the belief of city officials here, based upon late correspondence with the Bureau of Aeronautics, which is said to have practically picked the Camp Kearny site to be recommended to heads of the Navy Department and to Congress by the Navy Air Base Board.

The site is to house the two dirigibles now being constructed by the Goodyear Company and is to provide a general air defense base for the Navy, according to plans disclosed in a request for an additional tract of land immediately south of the old Camp Kearny site. Instead of 1200 acres contained in the original gift to the Navy, the Bureau of Aeronautics now wants an additional 800 acres, making 2000 acres in all.

In addition to this site for immense hangars, the bureau now wants the city to furnish 100,000 gallons of water daily for domestic use. This is to be in addition to what water may be developed by drilling wells for irrigation purposes, according to a request made to the city operating department for estimates of the cost of extending water mains to the proposed site.

Further activities in connection with the Camp Kearny site is a reported tentative deal with the Santa Fe Railroad for the extension of the spur track now at Linda Vista to the dirigible site.

One of the most prominent of the new strings of horses is Catalina, a 3-year-old mare, bought from the Magenheimer stables.

PIONEERS RELIVE OLD TIMES

Early Settlers, Guests of Chino Rotary Club, Recall Days When Indians, Coyotes and Sagebrush Were Only Neighbors; Pine "Oldest Inhabitant"

CHINO, Oct. 11. — How San Bernardino Valley looked in 1860, when there was only one house at Cucamonga, one at Spadra and another at El Monte and all the rest was sage brush and wild animals from San Bernardino to Los Angeles, was brought out by pioneers who have been here since that time at a "pioneer party," given by the Rotary Club here.

E. H. Pine proved to be the record-holder for residence in the valley, having moved to Chino from San Bernardino in 1864. His parents, he told the Rotarians, left San Bernardino for the more peaceful surroundings of Chino because of the activities of Indians in San Bernardino.

George A. Hillman had helped survey for the town of Chino and was a close friend to Richard Gurd, who was at one time owner of Chino Rancho, one of the largest land grants in Southern California.

Ben Hoag was credited with having kissed more babies in Chino Valley than any other man in San Bernardino county.

A. R. McCarthy told of how he moved to Chino Valley fifty-two years ago and located on a small homestead. He now has one of the largest dairies in the valley.

B. R. Durrell opened the first general store in the settlement in 1888. Other old-timers were Peter Sholander, O. J. Newman and George Holcomb.

There were plenty of wild animals to hunt in the valley at the time of the pioneers' reminiscences and a journey to Los Angeles was considered an event.

GIRL BELIEVED TO BE KIDNAPED

Fifteen-Year-Old Florence McKinstry Missing

State-wide Search Starts for San Diego Miss

Two Swarthy Men Sought as Probable Captors

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—Closing their net around two swarthy men, believed to be Greeks, operatives of the Sheriff's office have organized a State-wide search for pretty 15-year-old Florence McKinstry, missing from her home at 3859 Oceanview Boulevard since the 6th inst., it was learned at the Sheriff's office today.

The girl had been trailed and approached several times by two men in a roadster with white wire wheels, according to information divulged today by the girl's mother. The make of the car, or its license number has not been obtained, but Mrs. McKinstry says the car is from Los Angeles and that the men came to San Diego about once a week and each time made advances to Florence.

The girl left her home Sunday to attend Sunday-school at 8:30 a.m. and has not been heard of since. A new angle entered into the case when the girl's parents divulged that she had been kidnaped a number of years ago.

The McKinstrys adopted a girl before Florence was born and the girl became very fond of her foster sister, they said. A number of years ago Florence was kidnaped by the foster sister and taken to Arizona, later being returned to her parents. Neither officials nor the girl's parents believe that the foster sister has anything to do with her present disappearance.

NEW JUDGE URGED FOR REHEARING

Imperial Grand Jurors Suggest That Outsider Sit for Gillett Trial

EL CENTRO, Oct. 11.—On the eve of the retrial of Sheriff C. L. Gillett of Imperial county, the county grand jury which filed indictments and accusations against him, today filed its final report and was dismissed by Judge C. A. Finney. The final act of the jury was to recommend that Judge Finney, who presided at Gillett's first trial last spring, obtain the appointment by the judicial counsel of Judge outside of Imperial, San Diego, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties to preside at the second trial of Gillett which is docketed for next Monday. This Judge Finney has requested and an Appointment is expected tomorrow. It is believed the trial will consume about three weeks, according to the grand jury. The grand jury's request was made on account of the constant close association between the court and both the defense and all the attorneys concerned in the case.

Other recommendations of the grand jury were: That the probation office and office of commissioner of indigent be consolidated; better co-operation among county offices; that the charter form of county government be further studied for prospective use here; that taxes be more carefully considered; and that the Supervisors supply the District Attorney with funds to investigate the reported violations of the alien land law in the county. It also returned "no bill" in the investigation of the killing of Robert L. Lamber by Marion Ivy at Brawley on December 19, last, and also in the killing of James F. Moore by his brother-in-law, Jess B. Dickey, at the latter's home near Holtville February 5. The element of self-defense was too strong in both cases to merit a trial in the jury's opinion.

BURNING CAR THOUGHT IN ILLICIT USE

Police Suspect Still Was to be Supplied by Auto, Judging from Contents

ONTARIO, Oct. 11.—An overturned automobile and a fire at 3:40 a.m. today led authorities to believe more firmly that a band of bootleggers is operating somewhere in the valley.

A speeding automobile failed to make the turn near Guasti on Valley Boulevard and overturned. It caught on fire and the occupants fled. Passing motorists extinguished the flames but the names of the owners had been destroyed. In the rear of the car were twenty-five cans of gasoline which had failed to ignite in the crash, and a large quantity of provisions.

It is believed by police the car and contents belong to rum runners, the provisions for the men at the still, and the gasoline to be used in operating the plant.

ASSERTED SLAYER IN FLIGHT TO MEXICO

The clothes and the personal effects of the accused man have not been moved, Sheriff Ross said. Navarro was shot about 2:30 a.m. on September 16. Before he died, Navarro named Garcia as his slayer.

Appeal 'Anticipated Before Five Days' Grace Expires

VENTURA, Oct. 11.—Notices ordering the elimination of unreasonable natural-gas waste in accordance with the rules recently issued by State Gas Supervisor R. D. Bush, today were posted on various wells in the Ventura avenue oil field. The posting was in charge of C. C. Thomas, deputy supervisor in charge of this district, and it was anticipated that the entire avenue field would be posted tonight. Under the law, the order is effective five days after posted.

The order, as far as it had been studied by local oil operators, appeared to be identical to those in regions with the order in force. Supervisor Bush at the conclusion of the recent hearings here.

Before the five days given are considered likely by many observers that an appeal will be taken by the operating companies or landowners in an effort to bring about modifications. The question of the supervisor in making drastic an order has been challenged.

The order places a limit of cubic feet a day on gas wells and decrees that there shall be no other wastage allowed. Under the terms specified, the gas output of the avenue wells would be cut in half and the oil production partially curtailed.

The ruling by Bush further decreed that the gas pipe line running from the field to Santa Barbara, which has a capacity of 100,000,000 cubic feet per day, should be shut down, because Elwood field, near Santa Barbara, was producing sufficient gas to satisfy the needs of the city. The order is the first step to summarily enforce California's new natural-gas conservation law.

He was a thirty-second-degree K.C.C.H. in the Scottish Rite and participated in all of the Hayes was also a member of Pasadena Commandery No. 58, Knights Templar and a member of the Malaikah Temple in the Shrine.

TWO FEET IN LITIGATION

Costly Legal Battle Presaged Between Neighbors Over Small Strip of Land for "Principle's Sake"

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 11.—Fighting a costly legal battle, they say, merely for "principle's sake," two neighbors of Pennsylvania avenue, were opened in the Superior Court what promises to be a two, and possibly a three-day case with two feet of land at stake.

The plaintiff in the action is Joseph Marshall, represented by Attorney J. A. Seymour, and the defendant is F. W. Braun, defended by Attorney H. L. Thompson. Should the court grant Marshall's demand, he will receive four feet of land, but Braun's request is for equal division of the four feet, two to each property owner. More than a score of witnesses have been summoned.

According to the issues of the case, Marshall owns Lot No. 29 and Braun Lot No. 30 between Kansas and Sedgwick on Pennsylvania. There has been a fence, presumably equally dividing the two tracts, for nearly twenty years. Marshall has lived on his land ten years and Braun on his about three years, it is said.

Differences arose between them and their respective claims. The surveyors reported the fence was about four feet over the property line apparently due to an error in the original surveying party.

Immediately Braun is said to have torn down the old fence and erected a temporary one on the new line. Marshall took the matter to court some time ago, it was reported, but the action was thrown out of court on technicalities. It asserts that since the fence had been between the properties for twenty years and he had mowed the strip of land for ten years, he is entitled to all the footage under the fence, thus giving a person title to land after an unchallenged residence of ten years. Braun stated that for the intervening four feet he would equally since it evidently was an error, and that the matter could be settled entirely through a survey.

Bush, today were posted on various wells in the Ventura-avenue oil field. The posting was in charge of C. C. Thoms, deputy supervisor in charge of this district, and it was anticipated that the entire avenue field would be posted tonight. Under the law, the order is effective five days after posting.

The order, as far as it had been studied by local oil superintendents, appeared to be identical in its provisions with the order as read by Supervisor Bush at the conclusion of the recent hearings here.

Before the five days elapse it is considered likely by many observers that an appeal will be taken either by the operating companies or the landowners in an effort to bring about modifications. The jurisdiction of the supervisor in making so drastic an order has been challenged.

The order places a limit of [illegible] cubic feet a day on gas wastage, and decrees that there shall be no other wastage allowed. Under the terms specified, the gas output of the avenue wells would be cut in half and the oil production greatly curtailed.

The ruling by Bush further decreed that the gas pipe line running from the field to Santa Barbara, which has a capacity of 7,000,000 cubic feet per day, should be closed down, because Elwood field, near Santa Barbara, was producing sufficient gas to satisfy the needs of the city. The order is the first attempt to summarily enforce California's new natural-gas conservation law.

Pioneer Mason Heeds Call to Eternal Lodge

PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Orren H. Hayes, pioneer business man and prominent local Mason, died today at his home, 1788 Monte Vista street, following a long illness. He was 65 years of age and had been a resident here for more than forty years.

He opened and conducted the first grocery store to be established in this city in the early '80s. In 1901 he opened a large feed and fuel store and warehouse that stood on the southeast corner of Union street and Broadway.

In 1905 he served for a few months as a member of the City Council, resigning because of the press of his business affairs.

He was a past master and past treasurer of Pasadena Lodge of Masons, No. 272, and past master of the lodge of perfection. He was a thirty-second-degree K.C.C.H. in the Scottish Rite and participated in all its degrees. Hayes was also a member of Pasadena Commandery No. 31, Knights Templar and a member of the Al Malaikah Temple in the Shrine.

In 1886 he married Miss Linda Wallis of this city. He leaves her, two sons, one daughter and three grandchildren. The sons are Benjamin H. Hayes of Redondo and Frank H. HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 11.—Ernest A. Everett of Graham, who was driving his automobile in this city Tuesday night when the car struck Mrs. Mary A. Everett was on his way to the hospital in Bell, where his wife was a patient at the time of the accident. Mrs. Woodard was 79 years of age and leaves four daughters and a son.

and they hired surveyors to study their respective claims. The surveyors reported the fence was about four feet over the property line, apparently due to an error by the original surveying party.

Immediately Braun is said to have torn down the old fence and erected a temporary one on the new line. Marshall took the case to court some time ago, it was reported, but the action was thrown out of court on technicality. He asserts that since the fence had been between the properties for twenty-five years and he had inhabited the land for ten years, he is entitled to all the footage under the State law giving a person title to land after an unchallenged residence of five years. Braun asked that the intervening four feet be divided equally since it evidently came about entirely through a surveying error.

PRAISE SOUNDS FOR SHORTRIDGE

Shipping Men Lead Fight Against Senator's Bill

Dollar Says New Smuggling Bill Perils Business

Proposed Measure Would Fine Vessel Owners

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Praise of Senator Shortridge for voting against the Senate bill, if passed by the House, would make steamship owners liable to opium-smuggling fines up to $10,000 per Chinese found by delaying men here today in their fight with the executive branch to prevent passage of the measure.

Ships operating between California and the Near West, including the Dollar line, owned by Robert Dollar, head of the company bearing his name; Takuo Yamamoto, San Francisco manager of the N.Y.K. lines, and D. C. Diemer, vice-president of the Matson line, agreed on the injustice of the proposed legislation.

The proposed legislation, which passed the Senate, would have given customs officials collect the full value of a fine equal to twice the value of the contraband dutiable.

EXAMPLE SHOWN

"It would force us all out of business," said Capt. Dollar. "For example, some time ago one of our ships [illegible] a shipment of hundreds of barrels of oil in China for San Francisco. We brought the oil here and unloaded it on the dock. One of the barrels fell off a truck and broke open. Inside that barrel, covered with oil, were dozens of cans of opium; we would have been fined $10,000 and through no fault of our own, as no amount of vigilance on our part could tell us there was opium in that particular barrel."

The stand taken on the matter by Senator Shortridge he said: "Senator Shortridge understands the situation and no man that does not realize the situation could possibly [illegible] such an act, amounting to confiscation of private steamship property."

WILLING TO DO MORE

"The steamship owners absolutely refuse to do anything further. We are doing all we can. We have employed our own secret service men to trace opium and we have placed notices aboard all our steamships that we will pay $25 a tin for every tin of opium found by a member of the crew.

"Recently our investigators and police men discovered $400,000 worth of opium in the anchor-well locker of the President Harrison, one of our vessels. Suppose we had been fined $800,000 for that find? How long would any company be able to last with penalties of that nature?

"We have no out of business because we cannot accomplish the impossible is the gravest kind of injustice.

"Aside from recounting what might have happened had not the [illegible] whose smuggling was traced to Mrs. Ting Kao, wife of the Chinese consular officer here, was found on the dock rather than on the Shinyo Maru, said:

A $1,000,000 PERIL.

"Under this proposed law, had the opium been uncovered while aboard the Shinyo Maru our company would have been fined the $1,000,000 for something that was no fault of ours. We have no search the personal baggage of passengers, and nothing we could have done, or any precaution we might have taken, could have prevented that shipment. No company can survive a fine of $2,000,000.

"It would be an impossibility," said he, "for any steamship to provide the [illegible] to watch every member of the crew who came aboard with a suit case or a bundle, much less every passenger. It would require many spies and police—there would be no room for cargo or freight."

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (AP)—The Radio Company tonight said it had picked up an SOS from the British steamer Pa[illegible] sinking she is ashore on Fry[illegible] Shoals, eleven miles southeast of Cape Fear on the North Carolina coast, and requires assistance.

The message picked up by the radio said the steamer Pa[illegible] was in communication with the Coast Guard cutter Maddox at Wilmington, Del., and that the cutter was preparing to go to the vessel's assistance.

MAN FOUND WHO NEVER HEARD ABOUT LINDBERGH

[illegible], Oct. 11. (AP)—Dr. [illegible] A. Kidder, director of the medical department of Carnegie Institution, believes he has found the only man in the world who never heard of Col. Charles Lindbergh.

Dr. Kidder arrived here with the flyer by airplane from Central American cities they explored [illegible] Indian villages from the [illegible] related an incident [illegible] shortly after they [illegible] camp an ancient ruin [illegible] Guatemala Roo.

"That," said Dr. Kidder, pointing to the famous aviator, "is Col. Lindbergh."

"Gee," or a word to that effect, came from two of the three chicle men, but the third remained unimpressed.

Turning to his two countrymen, the third chicle man asked:

"Who is he?"

"Fool," responded one of them, "don't you know what that is? That is Lindbergh, the man who flew around the world in one day."

LEAGUE AWAITS OBSERVER CALL

It Wants to Keep Watch on London Navy Parley

Fereonce Goes to England on Secret Mission

France Wants Assurance on Discussions' Scope

GENEVA, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—The League of Nations, on behalf of its members who will not be represented at the five-power naval parley, is awaiting an invitation to send an official observer to the London parley, it was learned here tonight. Under Secretary Dufour Fereonce returning to Geneva after attending the funeral of Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister at Berlin, departed immediately for London, although his mission was kept secret.

It has been stated repeatedly by Count Johann von Bernstorff, Germany's permanent representative on the preparatory disarmament commission, that while Germany and other non-naval powers realize that naval agreement primarily is a five-power problem, nevertheless, they are deeply interested in the inter-relation of a naval, land and aerial armament matters.

DIFFICULT PROBLEM

It originally was hoped in Geneva that the projected conference would be held here so that the disarmament section of the League could have held a watching brief on behalf of its unrepresented members. Designation of a League official, probably Eric Colban, Norwegian head of the disarmament section, is advocated in League circles.

According to reports reaching here from the Quai D'Orsay, France will demand specific assurance as to how the naval discussions are to be kept within framework of the League. America's nonmembership in the League, in consequence of which the United States is absolved of all covenant obligations, is seen here as presenting a difficult, though hypothetical problem.

GREAT BENEFITS

In League circles the preparatory disarmament commission is not expected to reconvene until just before the May meeting of the Council of the League.

There is a certain amount of pessimism in Geneva over the extent of the material results derivable from MacDonald's visit to Washington so far as its advancement of the League's disarmament movement is concerned. It is declared, however, that the political benefits resulting from the removal of the Anglo-American war bugaboo are incalculable.

APOLOGY IN LIEU OF CASH FOR MUZZEY

Columbia Professor Gets Amends and Withdraws Suit Against Gorman

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (AP)—Prof. David Saville Muzzey, Columbia University history instructor, withdrew his $100,000 libel suit against former Representative John J. Gorman today upon the introduction in United States District Court of Gorman's apology for his charges that Muzzey's textbooks are "pro-British." Federal Judge Wilkerson dismissed the case without assessing costs.

The suit was born of Mayor Thompson's famous "America First" campaign in 1927, during which the Mayor deposed William McAndrew as superintendent of Chicago schools on grounds that he was a "paid agent of the British crown."

Gorman stepped up to support the Mayor and in a letter to him and later in testimony before the Board of Education trying the ouster proceedings against McAndrew Gorman pointed out what he regarded as pro-British evidence in Prof. Muzzey's textbooks of American revolutionary history. He accused the Columbia savant of being a propagandist whose books were unfit for use in the public schools.

Igoe Company's Printing Bills Called Inflated

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—The James T. Igoe Printing Company, headed by James T. Igoe, Democratic representative from Chicago, was charged with inflating bills for printing personal property tax bills to $62,206 above contract prices during the last six years, in a survey submitted to the county board today by J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert. Mr. Jacobs declared that the excess payment was made with the approval of the board of assessors. He asked an investigation by the State's Attorney's office.

The printing company was awarded contracts for printing the rolls on a unit price per thousand names. Mr. Jacobs declared that they returned bills which were approved by the assessors, listing a greater number of names than the total assessment rolls show.

Back in the Pleistocene Period, a Million Years Ago, the Mammoth and Giant Ground Sloth Roamed the Land which is now the United States. Both species are believed to have survived up to a period 20,000 years ago. In several instances whole carcasses of the mammoth have been found preserved in ice. In these interesting mural paintings, recently presented to the Field Museum at Chicago by Ernest R. Graham, a herd of mammoth (upper) is shown trecking across snow-covered plains, while below the giant sloth is shown in his habitat. The shell covered animals are giant glyptodonts. CALIFORNIA MARRIAGES SHOW GAIN

Prejudice Against "Gin" Law Has Diminished, Says State Bureau Report

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—The institution of marriage which has slipped considerably in California since the passage of the so-called "gin marriage" law in 1927, made a decided comeback during the first six months of 1929.

According to figures of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, made public today, 24,076 couples went to the altar, a gain of 2277 over the same period of 1928.

The crop of June brides, amounting to 6235, was the largest for any one month since June, 1927, when there were 7008 marriages recorded.

"This marriage increase in California," said L. E. Ross, chief of the bureau, "will continue. There have been just as many Californians getting married as ever, but an average of thirty-three couples a day has been going to neighboring States to exchange their vows. The novelty of a marriage journey has worn off and the people will now stay at home to become united. Furthermore the early prejudice against the three-day marriage law has greatly diminished."

LAMAR BANK RAID KILLER MUST HANG

Colorado Gang Member Found Guilty of Murder and Death Recommended

LAMAR (Colo.) Oct. 11. (AP)—George J. Abshier, confessed member of the Lamar bandit gang, was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in District Court here tonight. The jury recommended a death penalty.

The verdict was returned at 7:21 p.m., just four minutes less than three hours after the jury received the case.

Abshier was a member of a bandit gang of four which robbed the First National Bank of Lamar, kidnaped two tellers and sped away to a lonely ranch in Western Kansas. One of the greatest man hunts in this section of the West followed. The State had demanded Abshier's life in payment for that of A. N. Parrish, the bank's president.

Better Export Outlook Brings Wheat Upturn

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (AP)—For the first time in three weeks, direct export bidding on hard winter wheat came into the market today and helped carry prices upgrade. Despite a double holiday ahead, Europe appeared to be showing greater interest in United States wheat, which was reported as now actively competing with Argentine wheat for October and November shipment. Meanwhile, unfavorable crop advices from Argentina continued, with wheat in the extreme north part of Argentina reported today as a failure outright.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ¼@⅝c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, oats also unchanged to ⅛c off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15c.

Evening-up of accounts so as to prepare for a forty-eight-hour interruption occupied a large share of wheat traders' attention today, but except at the outset the general trend of prices was upward. Initial downturns were ascribed to the fact that the Liverpool market was lower than had been looked for, and that Argentine shipments continued of surprising volume as compared with a year ago. However, Buenos Aires quotations developed pronounced strength, and this circumstance was taken as largely confirming advices of widespread serious crop losses in that country.

Word that export bids for hard winter wheat at St. Louis were about on a working basis attracted special notice, and did much to make the market here rather taut as the day drew to an end. Seaboard dispatches estimated the amount of North American wheat taken today for shipment to Europe as totaling 600,000 bushels, including hard winter wheat and durums.

Sympathizing with wheat action, corn and oats recovered from an early decline, but otherwise failed to show much snap.

Provisions were under selling pressure from commission houses, although hog values were steady.

Hornsby had fanned twice previously, taking the third strike each time with the bat on his shoulder. When he came to bat in the pinch he had been razzed unmercifully by the A's rooters. But Behind a vastly improved line, Glenn Roselle, Bud Collier and Art Elliott tore off large gobs of yardage. Rozelle, in particular, came into his own last night to play a beautiful game.

It was Rozelle who scored the first Oxy touchdown. He virtually paved the way for the tally by outpunting Jim Willson, Lobo fullback, the Bengals taking the ball on the Lobo 19-yard line, when Willson was forced to punt from behind his own goal line. This after one of Rozelle's long punts had been downed on New Mexico's 7-yard line.

Dick Glover packed the ball to the Lobo 4-yard mark, where Ro-

Bruins Face Cards at Coliseum Today

THE STEAL THAT FAILED

Here's Dykes of the Athletics beating the ball to the plate in the second inning of the world series game at Philadelphia yesterday. The steal of home was successful—but the ball was a called third strike on Earnshaw, who is seen in the background with bat upraised.

STANFORD IN LOCAL DEBUT

Powerful Palo Alto Eleven Here Only Once

All-Southern California Team to Start

Pop Warner Scouts Trojans at Washington

BY PAUL LOWRY

Minus their guiding genius—old Pop Warner himself—the Stanford football boys will make their only local appearances of the year when they face the U. C. L. A. Bruins at the Coliseum this afternoon.

The absence of Pop, who is in the North scouting two future rivals at one and the same time—Southern California and Washington—may or may not make a difference in the score.

It won't make any difference in the Bruins' fight. They will give everything they have to keep the score down, but Bill Spaulding's kids are up against one of the most powerful teams in the country, and you can't expect the impossible.

And another factor in the ... of the score is the three-man ... Stanford team by the Means, Chuck Winterburn and Tiny Thornhill.

Washington Out to Make Up for Montana Tie

BY BRAVEN DYER

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 11.—Useless half of Howard Jones's men fall dead during the night, the Trojans of Southern California will go into tomorrow's game with Washington, 3-to-1 favorites over the Huskies. Washington supporters are willing to back their team all right, but only at these odds. They will also bet that the Huskies will score if you give them proper odds, but the Washington fans do not think very high of their squad after its failure to get better than a tie with Montana last week.

The weather today was all that could be asked in this man's country. There was an occasional drizzle of rain, but the stadium field was fast and dry and the players found the footing very secure. Official Weather Bureau reports for tomorrow indicate rain but you know how these weather prophets are.

Jones sent his charges through a workout of an hour's duration on the field this afternoon and then whisked them back to Tacoma to spend the evening. The practice session served to put the boys in fine

SHEIKS EVEN UP SERIES

Shellenback and Carlyle Heroes as Stars Upset Reds in Ten Innings, 4-3; Bill Rumler Beaned

BY BOB RAY

Back on the familiar scenes of Wrigley Field, Hollywood's scrapping Stars battled their way out from under a two-run handicap and nosed out the Mission Reds, 4 to 3, after ten bristling innings yesterday before a rather slim crowd of 2500 fans. The Hollywood triumph evened up the "little world's series" for the Coast League championship at two games apiece.

Mush Muller

Skipper of the 1929 Stanford eleven, which meets U.C.L.A. at the Coliseum today in the first and only appearance of the Cards here this year.

Frank Shellenback, pinch-hitting for Mike Maloney in the ninth inning, clouted out a home run that tied up the score and gave Cleo Carlyle a chance to become a hero in the tenth when his double brought Elmer Funk in from second with the winning tally.

Although the Stars won, they lost the services of Bill Rumler, veteran slugger, who was beaned by one of Herb McQuaid's fast ones and knocked unconscious in the eighth inning. Rumler dropped like a rock and never recovered consciousness until he had been carried into the dressing rooms. Rumler was later moved to the Methodist Hospital, where it was announced that he was resting easy last night, but he will be unable to play ball any more this year.

The beaning of Rumler filled the bases and McQuaid was so upset by the incident that he walked Carlyle to force in a run. Manager Kilefer, seeing that McQuaid was worried over Rumler's condition, sent "Dead Pan" Nelson to the mound. Nelson retired the side without further scoring, but fell afoul of the Hollywood bludgeons in the ninth and tenth.

Buzz Wetsel pitched good ball for eight innings and then retired for a pinch hitter. Hank Hulvey finished for the Stars and was credited with the victory.

Hollywood scored in the first inning when Lee singled infield to Finn. Burkett sacrificed and Funk's hit drove the Sheik shortstop home.

Singles by Sherlock and Mulligan, Slade's bunt and Hofmann's sacrificed fly tied it up for the Reds in the second.

A walk to Hofmann, McQuaid's sacrifice and Finn's single to center put the Missions in front in the fifth. The Reds added their final tally in the sixth when Burkett un-

NORTH CAROLINA UPSETS GEORGIA TECH, 18 TO 7

ATLANTA, Oct. 11. (AP)—A smart and well-coached football team from the University of North Carolina tossed a bomb into the southern football world here today by defeating the once invincible Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech, 18 to 7.

Coach Chuck Collins and the best Tar Heel team in years not only evened the score for last year's defeat, but all but wrecked the Tech hopes for either a conference or national championship this season.

Except in the first period when the mighty "Stumpy" Thomason broke through for a 25-yard run and the only Tech score, the team that last year beat Notre Dame and California, was outplayed and outsmarted at every turn.

Time and time again the fine work of the Tar Heel secondary defense stopped Mizell and Thomason, the big Tech threats, dead in their tracks. Thomason's 25-yard dash for touchdown was the only time either of these luminaries got away.

GABRIELS STAR OF TOILER WIN

Demon Fullback Tallies Two Times for Purple

Gomez Gallops 71 Yards for Mechanic Touchdown

Panthers Look Good in Win Over Railsplitters

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Coach Jim Blewett's power-plus Manual Arts football team uncorked a sweeping running attack to run up a 26-6 score on the Poly Mechanics yesterday afternoon at the Coliseum before a howling crowd of about 7000 rabid rooters.

Chuck Gabriels, demon Manual fullback, was the big noise, chalking up two touchdowns besides working hard on the defense. Gabriels first score came after a few minutes of play in the first period. Manual kicked off to Poly. The Mechanics failed to gain and Gomez kicked to Howard. On two plays Gabriels made 7 yards. And on the next play Gabriels galloped 45 yards for the score. Cashill failed to convert.

Blewett pulled a freak play to score the second Toiler touchdown. Cashill got back as if to try for a place kick, with Gabriels down to hold the ball for him. Instead of holding it Gabriels tossed it to Cashill, who in turn passed 15 yards to Howard, who was behind the goal line. Cashill converted.

Opening the third quarter, Cashill kicked off for Manual and after Gomez had made four yards on two trys at right tackle, the shifty Mexican quarter got away through left tackle for the longest run of the day, a 71-yard scamper, for Poly's lone touchdown. Gomez's try for the extra point was blocked by Cashill.

Howard started Manual on the way to their third score when he intercepted one of Chili Gomez's passes in the third period and took the ball to the Poly 23-yard strip. Gabriels on three plays carried the pigskin to the 8-yard mark. Gabriels on the next play went to the 1-yard line. Gabriels hit the center of the line for the touchdown. Cashill converted.

Howard again intercepted one of Gomez's passes in the fourth quarter, galloping ten yards to the Poly 42-yard mark. On the next play Hammy Rhein eluded the entire Poly team to give the fans a thrill with a forty-two-yard run for the final Manual score.

LINCOLN ELEVEN BOWS TO FRANKLIN, 12-6

Coach Frank Hess's Franklin Panthers yesterday gave the dope bucket a rude upset, and as result handed Coach Pop Bates's Lincoln High wonder eleven a 12-to-6 defeat in a game held on the Panthers' gridiron.

Not only did the Panthers display a better offense, but also produced a forward wall that held the Tigers to a standstill. Franklin had the better team, man for man, including the Tiger star ball carrier and captain, Leo Swedo. At no time throughout the encounter did the Tigers get within scoring distance; the closest they got to the Panther goal was on the Panther 30-yard marker.

The first quarter ended with the ball in midfield, neither team scoring, but in the second stanza the Panther gridders started the fireworks. A fumble by Garbo, Lincoln fullback, gave the Panthers the ball on the Tigers' 35-yard line. A pass from Held to Tommison put the ball on the Tiger 5-yard line from where Livesay carried the oval over the goal for the initial tally. The Panthers scored again in the third quarter; an intercepted pass by La Due planted the oval within scoring distance. Tommison again snatched a pass from Livesay and planted the ball on Lincoln's 2-yard marker from where Livesay again took the ball over for the second tally.

HOLLYWOOD SMASHES JEFFERSON, 20-6

Flashing a brilliant offensive and showing plenty of power, Coach Vic Kelly's Hollywood eleven smashed its way to a 20-to-6 victory over Jefferson High yesterday afternoon on the Democrats' gridiron in the opening game of the City League. The Poothillers gave evidence of their superiority from the start, although they did not score until the second period.

In the second quarter, Phillips, left half for Hollywood, got loose in a broken field and galloped sixty-two yards to Jefferson's goal line for the first tally of the game. Gannon, fullback, converted the extra point, closing the scoring for the first half.

In the third period, Hollywood annexed another marker. A forward pass, Hillman to Ream, was good for twenty yards and a touchdown. The Sheiks failed to convert.

The final Hollywood score of the game came in the fourth period, when Hollywood started a long offensive that ended up at the Jefferson goal line. Gannon carried the ball over, and then proceeded to convert the touchdown, making the count 20-to-0.

The Democrats, although beaten, kept right on fighting and had the pleasure of earning a touchdown before the game ended. A long pass, Oliver to Peltier, put the ball on the 19-yard line and then a series of bucks smashed it over. Oliver scored on a slash through right guard.

CUBS HAPPY BUNCH AGAIN

Reporter Finds Chicago Athletes Can be Pleasant in Clubhouse; A's Prove Raw Meat

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have suddenly discovered that Connie Mack's Athletics can be beaten, and the results of that discovery are indeed wonderful to behold.

Two days ago if a newspaper man was lucky enough to cajole his way into the sacred precincts of the National League champions' dressing-room, the stillness that met him there could almost be broken up into chunks and saved for silent tributes. But that was before the militant Cubs found out today that those slugging A's could be beaten by 9 to 1, or any other score. Two straight world series defeats do things like that to a ball club.

One swift, decisive victory turned the Bruins' dressing-room from a cave of angry silence into a playground where the burly Hack Wilson, a hero even in the early defeats, and the two reprieved scapegoats, Rogers Hornsby and Kiki Cuyler, crowded around their young pitching star, laughing, full of ginger and new-found hope.

"That one win makes all the difference in the world," Joe McCarthy, the happy manager, shouted. "We'll get them now. It's our turn to talk about four straight."

"When do we get our meal money?" the athletes shouted back.

Giving every bit of credit possible to young Bush's courage in the pinches, his control and all-around spectacular pitching performance despite the nine hits of the Athletics, McCarthy decided still that the difference between his team today and the club that lost the first pair of games in Chicago was a matter of Hornsby and Cuyler. Today they hit in the pinches, drove in runs, where before they struck out.

The Athletics, likewise hoisting the bars to all newspaper men, were a vicious, angry team as they crowded down the runway to their dressing-room after the final put-out.

"How do I feel about it?" snapped George Earnshaw, the husky hurler, "how would anyone feel about it?"

Whereupon his language passed on into the unreportable.

Connie Mack, tall, gracious, the perfect sportsman, lingered but a few moments after the struggle was over. He did not visit his warriors in the dressing-room.

"The Cubs," Connie said, "well deserved to win the ball game. They played well. Both teams played splendidly and the pitching was excellent on both sides. We had many opportunities, but we failed to make the most of them. Tomorrow is another day."

Around the Cub dressing-room floated an entertaining story that had to do with the victory, the first a National League club has scored in a world series game in three years and one day. It had to do with the havoc Jimmy Foxx raised in the opening games.

It seems that Joe McCarthy, when the National League pennant was mathematically won, asked Joe Tinker, old Cub hero, to scout the Athletic hitters for him in a final series with the Yankees. The big trouble came when Connie Mack got news of it.

The result, the Cubs assert, was that Connie made Foxx hit low balls against the Yanks and miss high, wide ones, whereas the Maryland plowboy really loves to smack the high hard ones far and wide. Connie did the same with other hitters and Tinker reported to McCarthy full of misinformation. Foxx got two homers in the first two games.

Coming back from Chicago, McCarthy met an American League hurler on the train and moaned of the murder being committed every time his pitchers flung them to the A's supposed weaknesses. Then the proper light was shone upon the situation.

As a result, Foxx got low balls today and could do nothing and his mates were little better in the pinches. The Cubs now chant that this situation won't change, either, before the end of the series.

SHERMAN INDIANS WALLOP ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Oct. 11. (Exclusive)—Sensational open-field running by Thacker, Indian quarterback, coupled with a brilliant aerial attack, enabled the Sherman Institute eleven to overcome a green Anaheim team, 20 to 6, here today.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

THE CASE OF MOSES

ALTHOUGH there probably is some consternation in Trojan circles over the latest injury to Don Moses it is by no means certain that the big fellow would have figured much in the Howard Jones scheme of things at Seattle today under any conditions.

A great many of the boys remember Mr. Moses as a very puissant young man who punched a Washington line full of holes at the Los Angeles Coliseum two years ago this fall.

This is quite true, but before young Mr. Moses ever got a chance to strut his stuff the Washington line lost its morale through the simply miraculous deeds of Mr. Morley Drury, the greatest All-American football player ever developed in these parts.

Mr. Drury had scored two touchdowns in the first quarter—one on a 77-yard run and another on a 25-yard run. The long gallop which saw Mr. Drury smashing between tackle and end, cutting back and evading one tackler after another while the Messrs. Boren and Heiser cut down pursuers like the Grim Reaper himself was the event that started Washington on the road to ruin.

Mr. Drury's second touchdown completed the rout. Mr. Moses or the old Black Crow himself could have punched the Washington line with success after that.

There is no intention or desire on the part of the conductor of this column to impugn the football ability of Mr. Moses, but rather to point out that as yet Mr. Moses is not an indispensable unit in the Jones-coached eleven that represents the University of Southern California.

Mr. Moses must prove himself. He was not in school last year, and giving a man a job on the strength of what he did to Washington after Washington was shot two years ago is a reflection on the ability of the Messrs. Musick and Hill, who have done some rather nifty work already this fall. And there is another very earnest young man who may wind up as a fullback this season—Mr. Harry Edelson. Mr. Edelson has seen service at the post in previous years and somehow I imagine that he and the Messrs. Musick and Hill will contrive to take care of that fullback berth very nicely if worst comes to worst.

HARD TO BEAT AT HOME

LATE word from Seattle says a rainstorm is headed that way from Alaska and is due to break sometime today. Such an incident is bound to annoy the Trojans and prove rather disconcerting to the Southern California boys, who are accustomed to dry turf and sunshine.

Pop Warner had this in mind when he told me at Palo Alto last week-end that Baggy Bagshaw coaches powerful, conservative football—football designed to meet the conditions under which the Huskies play most of their games.

And Pop's story is corroborated by the history of past games on the Washington gridiron—games in which Stanford and California have been the principal contenders against the Huskies.

Take last year, for example—a year in which Bagshaw's team was a set-up for all its usually weaker northwestern rivals.

California, which tied Southern California and Stanford, played the Huskies at Seattle and barely eked out a 6-to-0 victory.

On the basis of pregame showing the Bears should have won by five or six touchdowns at least.

Of course, the defeat administered the famous Ernie Nevers and his Stanford cohorts in 1924 by Washington is history, as is also the downfall of the Trojans by a 22-to-0 score in 1923.

That was the year the Washington bombs were supposed to have annoyed the Trojans, but Mr. Gordon Campbell, who played on that Trojan team, says it was Husky sock and poor Trojan generalship that cost the game.

Mr. Campbell speaks first hand of the Husky sock. He says he was on the receiving end of one from Mr. Elmer Tesreau, one of the Tesreau brothers who played fullback for Mr. Bagshaw's team.

The funny part of the matter was that the sock annoyed Mr. Campbell, and he endeavored to reciprocate in kind. Mr. George Varnell, the referee, lifted Mr. Campbell from the game for his part in the episode, which was most embarrassing to Mr. Campbell, the latter being about half as large as the Tesreau giant, who had delivered the first sock but was permitted to remain in the game.

However, in this day of high-pressure football, the boys have no time for such by-play, and the game today undoubtedly will be fought out along orthodox lines.

MR. KEARNS SAYS GOOD-BY

WITH less than three weeks remaining before the Walker-Hudkins championship battle Mr. Jack Kearns has definitely retreated to the hills of Ojai.

Ostensibly Mr. Kearns departed for his fighter's camp the better to supervise his conditioning campaign.

Naturally, this is one of the big points of the forthcoming battle, Walker, in perfect shape, is one of the greatest fighters that ever entered the ring.

I recall some years ago of asking Baron Jimmy Dougherty who were the hardest hitters in the game. He named three—Jack Dempsey, Bobby Barrett and Mickey Walker.

Barrett was owned by Dougherty. He had no heart, but had a sock like a mule.

Mr. Walker is training in such a way at Ojai as to indicate that he hopes Mr. Hudkins, who stopped Mr. Anderson, will open high, wide and handsome with the socks at Wrigley Field, the 29th inst.

Mr. Kearns confirms the Walker plan of battle, and announces that from now on he will take personal supervision of the toy bulldog's training.

This is quite a sacrifice on the part of Mr. Kearns because it means foregoing B.B.B.'s famous chili and beans and saying good-by to the Hollywood night trail.

Chicago Fans Change Tune as Cubs Win

CHICAGO, Oct. 11. (AP)—"Licked are they? They've started at last. Watch 'em go!"

That was the clarion cry of the faithful in this Windy City tonight as the glad tidings were flashed that their Cubs had at last conquered Connie Mack's Athletics and were back into the world series fight.

Even those whose faith was shattered in Joe McCarthy's boys because of their first two defeats, changed their mournful, razzing melodies tonight.

Betting odds suffered a quick change in the Loop, too. Whereas, they stood 8 to 1, against the Cubs for a world series championship, they went to 8 to 5. Before the game time today, the odds were 8 to 5 against the Cubs, winning today. For tomorrow, they are expected to be even.

while he is away, and in this state of mind are apt to keep the most potent of the Stanford athletes in the thick of the fray longer than necessary for the health of the Bruins.

Winterburn and Thornhill led forty-nine of the Stanford boys into the city yesterday, and will have them all on deck at the Coliseum this afternoon. The boys were parked at the Hotel Huntington in Pasadena, and had a peek at Warner Brothers studio before taking a light workout in the afternoon.

ALL-SOUTHERN TEAM

The Stanford coaching assistants confirmed reports that an all-Southern California team will start the game against the Bruins. Albertson of Manual Arts and Neill of Santa Monica will be on the flanks; Artman and Tandy of Long Beach at the tackle berths; Hulen of Long Beach and Heiser of Los Angeles Poly at guards; Heinecke of Santa Ana at Center; Moffatt of Los Angeles and Winnek of San Diego at halfbacks; Hillman of Hollywood at quarter and Rothert of Los Angeles at fullback.

At least seven of these men are regulars or will be starters against the Trojans at Palo Alto the 26th inst.

Rothert, made overnight from a halfback into a fullback during the Oregon game up north last week, will be watched closely today.

He was one of the big heroes in the rout of the Oregonians. His forward passing was as superb as his shot-putting, and he made the old-timers think of the famous Brick Muller at his best.

He is bound to be a big cog in the major games Stanford has to play this year against Southern California, California and Army.

Another new star on the Card eleven is this kid Moffatt from Los Angeles High. He is a tricky runner in an open field, and against Oregon lived up to all the nice things the campus gossips had to say about him before the game.

MULLER WON'T START

Capt. Mush Muller won't start the game under the present arrangement, but the Stanford skipper is a cinch to see service before the day is over. He is the best pass receiver on the team, and he will be sent in to catch some of Rothert's long 40 and 50-yard heaves.

Artman and Tandy, the tackles were standbys last year, but the guards are new. Driscoll and Heiser are the regulars, but Hulen will start in place of Driscoll. Heinecke is the same old bulwark in the center of the line.

In the backfield Rothert and Moffatt have been discussed. Winnek was a sub half last year, and saw some service against Oregon last Saturday. Hillman, who starts at quarter, is one of the new line-plunging finds of the campus this year.

Against this powerful band of football warriors Bill Spaulding said last night he will start practically the same team that opened against the Trojans.

There are just two exceptions. Jacobson, the tackle who broke his foot in the Trojan game, has been replaced by Swede Nelson. Jacobson, one of the best players Spaulding had, probably will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. Lloyd has taken Gibson's place at right guard.

HOFFMAN ON BENCH

The Bruins have had two games this year, losing to the Trojans, 76 to 0, and beating Fresno State College, 56 to 6.

Stanford has defeated the West Coast Army team, 45 to 0, the Olympic Club, 6 to 0, and Oregon 33 to 7.

The latter was Stanford's first conference game of the year, and today's will be the second for both teams.

Mr. Biff Hoffman, who used to do considerable fullbacking for Stanford but has metamaphorsed himself into a pewspaper man, came down from the North last night to report the struggle for his paper.

Biff will set in the press box and pass judgment on the deeds and feats of his alma mater.

corked a disastrous wild throw. With one away, Sherlock singled. Mulligan hit to Burkett, who fooled a possible double play by heaving the ball to right field. Sherlock came on to third. After Mulligan had pilfered second, Slade's sacrifice fly to Funk brought Sherlock home. Mulligan was out trying to take third after the catch when Lee cut off Funk's throw and tossed the ball to Burkett.

Albert, batting for Wetzel, walked to open the Hollywood eighth and Lee also drew a pass. McQuaid pounced on Burkett's intended sacrifice and threw to Mulligan in time to force Albert. Funk popped to Slade and then Rumler was hit. Green ran for Rumler. Carlyle's walk brought Lee over the plate.

Albert remained in the game to take Rumler's place and he and Hulvey got their batting spots mixed in the ninth. Hank batted out of turn and fortunately went out. He was told of his mistake and then batted in his regular place in the tenth.

SHELLY TIES IT UP

With one away in the ninth, Vitt called on Shellenback to hit for Maloney and the slugging pitcher clouted a homer that tied the score.

Burkett went out in the tenth but Funk singled infield to Slade. Hulvey fanned but Funk stole second on the third strike. That brought Carlyle to the plate and the Alabama Shelk brought the game to a close by dropping a double on the left-field line to score Funk.

Ruether and Johns are slated to make today's game a southpaw duel. Ruether beat the Shelk left-hander in the series opener last Tuesday. Score:

BILL RODGERS QUITS PORTLAND CLUB JOB

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 11. (AP)—Bill Rodgers, manager of the Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, resigned today. From Los Angeles he telegraphed President Turner that he had a "great opportunity to better himself" and was therefore handing in his resignation. Rodgers has managed the club since the middle of last year.

CUBS FINALLY DEFEAT MACKS

Three-Run Rally in Sixth Brings Victory

this time he got the last laugh by slamming a single through short.

Bush galloped in under wraps. Hack Wilson, the only Cub to hit safely in the first four innings, came to bat with five successive safe blows behind him but the best he could do was ground out to Bishop as the base runners advanced. English to third and Hornsby to second. Cuyler had a prolonged session with Earnshaw, fouling off several balls as the count went the limit, but he finally caught a curve and bounced it over second base to center, scoring what proved to be the deciding runs.

Otherwise the Cubs were about as important at the plate as they had been in the first two games. They got only four hits, spread in as many innings outside the sixth. The only other threat was in the second, when Hack Wilson opened with a tremendous drive to the extreme center-field corner, a three-base blow for the roly-poly Hack but a home run for a faster man. Wilson was caught easily at the plate when he tried to score on Stephenson's grounder to Bishop.

Ten Cub strikeouts, giving Earnshow a total of seventeen victims in the one and a half games he has worked. His fast ball looked as good as it ever has and he had better control than usual when he fanned every man in the Cub lineup except Wilson and Stephenson. The total was three less than the record the Cubs made against Ehmke the first day and equaled in the second game but their aggregate of thirty-six for three contests is now only eight short of the record of forty-four by the Giants of 1911 in six games against the Athletics.

The A's lost chiefly because they could not hit Guy Bush in the pinches. Ten runners, eight in the first four innings, were left on bases, as the American League champions failed to show any of their assurance of the previous two days at the plate. Jimmy Foxx and Al Simmons, the two big guns, went hitless and when these two are not doing their usual stuff, there is not much to the attack of the A's.

The last and best chance the A's had to break through was in the seventh when Bishop singled, went to second on a wild pitch and Cochrane walked, after a fly out by Haas. Simmons tried hard, but the best he could do was a long drive to deep center, a sacrifice fly that advanced the runners to second and third. Almost any kind of a hit by Foxx, the next man, would have tied the score, but the kid first baseman and home-run hero of the first two games had nothing in his bat but a weak grounder in front of the plate that Taylor gobbled up for the third putout.

TOUGH BREAK

The A's, threatening throughout the first four innings, got a bad break in the second when Jimmy Dykes stole home, only to find out that the third strike had just been put over on George Earnshaw for the final out. Umpire Charles Moran had called Dykes safe as he took advantage of Bush's long windup, raced home and beat the throw with a great slide, but the arbiter immediately reversed himself by calling the third strike as the Cubs rushed out en masse to protest. This was the first time the great strategy of the house of Mack had gone awry. Somewhere the signals must have been mixed, for the count was two and two when Dykes started home and the fact that Bush's toss was a strike defeated the spectacular maneuver.

Bush, especially, seemed to regain confidence after this break in his favor. He found himself in the third with the bases full, due partly to English's fourth error of the series, but he got out of this hole when Miller flied out to Stephenson. There were two Macks on base in the fourth and in the fifth they finally scored on Cochrane's single, Foxx's infield out and Miller's single to center, but after that Bush was in complete command. All the tall right-hander needed was a lead and when he got it, he bore down, holding the Athletics to one hit in the last four innings, a single by Bishop in the seventh.

Cuyler earned what few fielding honors there were for the day by a great running stop and quick throw to second base that held Mule Haas to a single on his sharp drive in the third inning. As the bases subsequently were filled, this play was important in keeping the Macks from scoring.

The gate receipts for the third game were as disappointing as the attendance. The paid admissions of slightly less than 30,000 were about 20,000 below the count for either game at Wrigley Field and receipts of $140,915 fell more than $75,000 short of either day's figure at Chicago.

TROJANS FACE HUSKY ELEVEN

fetile after the confining day on the train.

Don Moses put on his uniform, his charley horse being much improved. Jess Mortensen was unable to appear in his monkey suit and the odds are very much against his being able to play tomorrow. Doc Ramsey of the Trojan medical staff declares he will have Mortensen in shape to play, which will lift quite a load from the shoulders of Howard Jones. It's quite a drop from either Mortensen or Ernie Pinckert to Harold Hammack, their understudy.

The Trojan mentor indicated there would be no change in his starting line-up. That puts Tappaan and Steponovich at the ends, Anthony and Hoff at tackles, Galloway and Barragar at guards, Dye at center, Saunders at quarter, Edelson and Pinckert at halfback and Musick at full.

Enoch Bagshaw, the little Napoleon of the great Northwest, has been monkeying with his line-up all week and nobody seems to know just what to expect in the way of a starting line-up. It seems that several of Baggy's so-called regulars proved very, very ineffective against Montana. Johnny Geehan, quarterback, was so bad, so they say, that the team lost all confidence in him and Baggy therefore has decided to start Bill Mittlestaedt, the former Long Beach boy, in the signal-calling berth. Mittelstaedt has not yet appeared in a game for Washington and most of the serious thinkers in this neck of the woods regard this as a very radical move. The probability is, that Bagshaw has merely been disciplining Geehan, the two-year veteran, and that Johnny will get into the game after sitting on the bench alongside of his coach and getting the lay of the field.

Marsh, another sophomore, is going to start at fullback. He weighs 204 pounds, but lacks experience. The other starting backs will be Johnny Steinbaugh and Thurlow Thornton, both veterans. Bagshaw is saving his ace-in-the-hole, Merle Hufford, for an opportune entrance in the game. Just when that will be remains to be seen, but it will probably occur when the Huskies get the ball in Trojan territory. According to all reliable dope this Hufford is the cat's whiskers. Washington supporters are banking on him to score against the Trojans and that's why they are willing to bet that way.

The Huskies are relying on a passing attack to surprise the Trojans and local papers state that Baggy has really worked up something pretty nifty.

On the line Kratz, who weighs 218 pounds, will play center, although he may alternate with Capt. Paul Jessup on defense.

The guards are Shelton and Seaman, each of whom weighs 200 pounds. The former is a sophomore and replaces Gregor who was found wanting in the Montana debacle.

Jessup and Schwegler are the tackles. The former stands six feet seven inches tall and weighs 230 pounds. Schwegler is a mere midget of 6ft. 4in. and weighs but 215. All the boys say Schwegler is one of the best linemen ever to appear on the Pacific Coast. He is only a sophomore.

The ends are Sahli and Squires, either of whom weighs over 175 pounds, according to the estimable Mr. Martin Burke, former Los Angeles scribe. It is my guess that Bagshaw's ends are in for a tough day of it. Snyder was to have started but he is laid up with injuries.

Folks hereabouts don't think much of Washington's chances and it is history that such teams often rise up and outdo themselves.

Had Washington not floundered around against Montana the Huskies would have rated almost an even-money bet against Southern California because it was felt that Baggy was purposely holding back to shoot the works against the Trojans. But the Husky followers will not be convinced that Baggy went so far as to allow himself to get tied, and they, therefore, think very little of their team's chances.

The Trojans are apt to be a bit cocky and if things don't go all right immediately there is apt to be a much closer game than lots of folks realise.

Washington has no outstanding kicker and this is apt to hurt the Huskies, particularly when Duffield gets into the game for this boy can boot with the best of them. Marshall was getting off his usual high kicks today and it is my guess that once he gets in there he will give Bagshaw and company plenty of trouble.

Now that the game is on us it won't do any harm to mention that Harry Edelson is apt to play quite a prominent role in the Trojan attack. Keep that in mind.

Jones has been in no pleasant frame of mind today. He thinks his boys are a bit overconfident and he doesn't like this 3-to-1 favoritism of the Trojans. The Trojan mentor would a lot rather that Montana incident had never happened.

The game starts at 2 p.m., and both Bagshaw and Jones, not to mention the spectators, are pulling for a dry field.

ONEONTA DISPLAYS CLASS IN WORKOUT

Oneonta Military Academy and the U.S.S. New Mexico tangled in a practice scrimmage on Trona Field yesterday afternoon, with the cadets scoring five touchdowns against one for the sailors. No attempts at conversions were made. LaMont dashed 70 yards for one touchdown, and scored another, while Robb recovered one of his team-mate's fumbles and galloped for a tally, and plunged over for a second. Post scored the other one for Oneonta.

DETAILS OF THIRD GAME

FIRST INNING

The crowd arose and stood in silence for one minute as a tribute to the late Miller Huggins, who this time last year led the Yankees to A world's championship.

Cubs—McMillan fanned, swinging. Bagshaw rolled to Boley. Hornsby fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Macks—Haas popped to Grimm. Haas singled to center. Cochrane flew to Stephenson in short left. Simmons forced Haas at second, English to Hornsby. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING

Cubs—Wilson tripled into deep center. Cuyler went out Boley to Foxx. Wilson holding third. Stephenson rolled to Bishop, and Wilson was thrown out at the plate, Bishop to Cochrane. Grimm fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Macks—Foxx fanned, swinging. Miller flew to Cuyler. Dykes singled to left. Simmons singled to right, and Dykes went to third, Boley taking second on the throw-in. Cuyler made a great throw to third but Mc-Millan dropped the ball. Dykes probably would have been safe anyway. Earnshaw worked the count to three and two before he struck out. The next pitch Dykes stole home. Umpires Moran ruled that the pitch had been the third strike and Earnshaw, and the run did not count. No runs, two hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING

Cubs—Taylor popped to Dykes. Bush fanned. McMillan popped to Bishop. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Macks—Bishop popped to Grimm. Haas singled to right. Cochrane singled through the box, Haas stopping at second. Simmons popped to McMillan. Foxx was safe on both runners advancing, Haas to third, Cochrane to second. Miller flew out to Stephenson. No runs, two hits, one error.

FOURTH INNING

SIMMONS SAYS HE'S AWFUL

Athletics Looked Bad Against Chicago, Admits Philadelphia Outfielder; He Takes Blame

BY AL SIMMONS
Athletics Outfielder
[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—I am going to start right off by saying that the Athletics looked bad today when the Cubs beat us by 3 to 1 in the third game of the world series. And nobody on my club loked worse than I did.

Guy Bush pitched a great game. We outhit the enemy, but the clever Chicago right-hander threw up stuff that had us missing out in the clinches. That is the secret of real pitching.

The A's should have put the game in the won column in the early innings, when once we had two on bases and again three on bases. But the hit that might have taken the heart out of Bush was not forthcoming.

I feel I must write that my own failure to hit with men on bases was one of the reasons for our defeat. It so happened there were men on the sacks each of the four times I had a chance at the plate.

The flop that burned me up was when I came up in the third inning with

HUDKINS TAKES BOXING LAY-OFF

Wildcat Drops Hard Work for Two Days at Camp

Nebraskan Will Turn Loose Again Tomorrow

Walker Goes Through Eight Round Session

Ace Hudkins laid off yesterday and he will do no boxing today at his camp on Bastanchury's ranch on the outskirts of Brea. The reason is that he is too light.

The Wildcat scaled 160 pounds before he shadowboxed and skipped rope for six rounds yesterday. He tipped but 158 1-4 after his workout.

Hudkins engages in a daily ball game each morning that probably takes off a pound. Next week the ball games will probably be taboo.

Sunday will be a big day at Bastanchury's. The Cat will be turned loose in all his glory. Preparations are being made by the American Legion of Brea to handle a crowd of 5000 people.

Ace yesterday saw a preview of his early workouts. Motion pictures are being made every day of the challenger and the previews are being run off in the big east bedroom suite where the King Regent of Spain once slept and where Paolino Uzcudun snoozed the nights away before he fought George Godfrey.

For the Walker battle the challenger will be drilled to keep his guard up due to the hard zipp Walker is reputed to have in his right hand.

Walker boxed eight rounds yesterday with Jack Kearns holding a critical eye on him. The doctor likes the enthusiasm with which Walker is attacking his sparring partners, but he especially criticised the champion's footwork.

"Hey, there, Mick—you move on them legs like an old lady," said Kearns after the workout.

The champion is still well above 1.. pounds. Kearns has ordered a closed camp from now on except at visiting hours each day during the workout.

DENVER FANS EAGER TO SEE MACK PERFORM

Eddie Mack, who boxes Ignacio Fernandez at the Olympic next Tuesday night, has become an agency for Denver fight fans coming to see the Mickey Walker-Are Hudkins bout.

The Denver folks have ordered twenty ringside seats so far through Mack. The Coloradoans are coming by auto.

Possibilities that Mack would be seen in a rematch with Goldie Hess here the first week in November loomed today. Hess notified his manager, Harvey Petitt, he would be ready to box by that time.

The Ocean Park boy, who became so popular here in a short time, thinks he was badly handicapped by swollen tonsils when he faced Mack before. Since the operation he has taken on some weight.

Mack and Fernandes have boxed Tony Canzoneri. Fernandez went the distance and lost only after a terrific battle. Mack looked like a sure winner over the Brooklyn Italian until his ankle was injured.

Two star six-round bouts will back up the Mack-Fernandez card. They are Sid Torres vs. Harvey Holiday, and Leo Hernandez vs. Phil Harris.

FAIRFAX TROUNCES VAN NUYS TEAM, 19-0

Had Van Nuys been able to withstand the terrific line plunging of Zubrisky's, the stellar Fairfax quarterback, they might have hung up a victory yesterday at Fairfax; but they didn't, and were forced to take a 19-to0 walloping. It was Zubrisky's pass that netted the first touchdown and his line plunging that accounted for the other two.

The game was played on even terms until the third quarter, when Fairfax scored all their points. Van Nuys had several golden opportunities to score, but were unable to rise to the occasion.

DADO WINS BATTLE AT HOLLYWOOD

Charley Kaiser Loses Nod to Filipino Boxer in Star Bout at Legion

Speedy Dado, flashy Filipino, met a tartar in Charley Kaiser, local bantamweight, in the main event at the Hollywood Legion last night. Although Dado won the decision the affair was pretty close, much closer than local fans expected it to be. Dado was credited with eight rounds but only in two of them did he have a decided edge. Kaiser doing most of the leading all the way.

Kaiser went to the floor in the third round, and wisely took a nine count on one knee. Lieut. Kenworthy refereed the main attraction.

Tom Patrick beat Ray Pelky in the six-round semi-wind-up, Patrick hit Pelky with everything he had but failed to put him down.

Rita Punay, flashy Filipino, won an easy six-round decision over Frankie Boidt in the semi-wind-up. Frankie Abendino, a wild Mexican, took a four-round nod over Georgie Ryan in one of the four-round preliminaries, while Ollie Nashiem won a rough slugging match with Curtis Poet in the curtain-raiser.

NATIONALISTA LOSES RING TILT TO EVANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11. (AP)—Huerta Evans, 122, of Los Angeles gave Young Nationalista an all-around beating tonight to win an easy ten-round decision over the Filipino featherweight. Nationalista weighed one-half pound more than Evans.

Nationalista, a clever boxer, was outmaneuvered and outfought from start to finish. He won only one round, the eighth, when a wild right-hand swing caught Evans on the jaw and had him dazed momentarily. The ninth round was fairly even, but Evans, former far-western amateur featherweight champion, took all the rest of the sessions by a wide margin. He jabbed the Filipino with a left hand steadily, and landed right hands to the body that had his opponent bewildered in the middle rounds.

Bobby Nelson, Los Angeles featherweight, decisioned Ray Ravani, San Francisco, in the six-round semi-wind-up.

OXY WALLOPS NEW MEXICO

zelle smashed off tackle for the touchdown. Rozelle place kicked the extra digit.

Little Art Elliott turned in the prize run of the evening, a 51-yard dash to New Mexico's 23-yard stripe, which made possible's Oxy's second touchdown late in the second period. Elliott went over right tackle and eluded tackler after tackler until Fred Brown, Lobo quarter, caught him from behind.

Collier then proceeded to pack the ball to the 1-yard line, knocking off several yards at a crack. He went off left guard for the score. Rozelle's attempted placekick barely got off the ground.

The Lobos staged a temporary rally in the third period with Brown packing the ball for short gains, but failed to keep up the pace, and the entire quarter was taken up with a punting duel between Willson and Rozelle.

Oxy took the oval on New Mexico's 40-yard line at the start of the fourth period and marched down the field to another score. A pass from Rozelle to Glover put the ball on the Lobo 28-yard line. Rozelle went off left tackle for a first down on the 19-yard stripe. Glover made a first down on the 4-yard line, and Rozelle went around right end to place the ball on the 1-foot mark. The Lobos held for two downs, but Collier finally drove through guard to score. The extra point was made on a pretty pass from Elliott to Wendall Smith, Bengal end.

The final touchdown came late in the fourth quarter with Oxy's second and third-string men in the game. Ted Charnock made the touchdown from the 2-yard line after a drive down the field from the Lobo 44-yard line.

Every Bengal played heads-up football last night, and Coach Kienholz deserves considerable credit for his team's showing.

The Lobos, to do them full credit, displayed flashes of brilliant football, but couldn't seem to keep up a concentrated drive. Willson at fullback and Brown at quarter were outstanding, and Bob Crist, the big Lobo end, played brilliantly. The line-ups:

FOREIGN LINE TO AUGMENT FLEET

Navigazione Libera Triestina in Expansion Step

Two Combination Liners to be Built for Run

Addition Will Give Monthly Service on Coast

BY WALDO DRAKE

Two 18,000-ton express motor liners, carrying 200 cabin passengers each and with full refrigeration facilities, will be placed in service between Mediterranean port and the Pacific Coast in the fall of 1930 by Navigazione Libera Triestina, it was learned from authoritative sources at the port yesterday. The new ships, to have a sea speed of sixteen knots and with passenger accommodations of a luxury surpassing any vessels now in European-Pacific trade, will be followed early in 1931 by two sister ships, thus giving the Libera Line a monthly express schedule from the Coast.

The announcement climaxes the brilliant rise of the Libera Line's cargo and passenger service from Pacific ports to the Mediterranean. In exactly four years, since the freighter Piave first called here as the pathfinder in October, 1925, the service has steadily increased until today a fleet of five motor ships and two steamers is now operated regularly on the run. Passenger and cargo facilities of these vessels are being taxed to capacity by both outward and homeward offerings, according to officials of the General Steamship Corporation, general agents on the Pacific Coast for N.L.T.

The new liners, to be built in the Libera yards at Trieste, will run the run between Los Angeles Harbor and Barcelona, via Panama and the Canary Islands, in thirty-three days, it was announced, as compared to the thirty-five-day service now maintained via Central American ports by the Libera Line.

MEXICO VISITS ON ADMIRAL LINE SLATE

A series of rail-and-water excursions to Mexico City is being planned by the Admiral Line to run from January, next, until early summer, it was announced yesterday by R. B. Schuiten, assistant general passenger agent.

While one party proceeds by rail to El Paso, Mexico City and to Mazatlan, another will travel on the Dorothy Alexander from here to Mazatlan. The rail travelers thence will return by water, and the sea travelers will proceed to Mexico City and back by rail.

Each round trip will take sixteen days, the steamer taking eleven days for each round voyage. Visits to Guadalajara and other large cities are on the itinerary. The line has promoted sixteen successful excursions to Ensenada this summer, and next week will carry 350 Shriners to the Mexican resort. On November 3, next, the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion will make the cruise.

One hundred and seventy passengers returned from Hawaii yesterday on the Lasco liner City of Honolulu. Among them were Judge Francis E. Baldwin, Chicago counsel for Libby, McNeill & Libby, now second producer of pineapples in Hawaii; William Lloyd, dean of the agricultural college of Hawaiian University, en route to Washington to accept a Federal post; Miss June Purcell, radio entertainer; Lee Wallace, General Motors manager in Australia, and Bruce Seymour, geologist for Continental Oil Company, and bride, who is a licensed air pilot.

H. F. Alexander, president of the Pacific Steamship Company, operators of the Admiral Line, arrived from Seattle on his flagship H. F. Alexander yesterday, on personal business. He was accompanied by his secretary, J. S. Wallace, and Hugh B. Brittan, general passenger agent at San Francisco.

Port facilities and cargo-handling methods of Los Angeles Harbor will be inspected next month by the three members of the Hamburg Port Authority, Herren Wundram, Sieveking and Boettcher, who are due here November 13 for a three-day stay, it was announced yesterday by William P. Montague, district manager of the Hamburg-American Line, on whose motor liner Milwaukee they will arrive in New York on the 19th inst.

During their visit in the United States, the German authorities will also survey the ports of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco. Following a series of receptions in their honor to be tendered by the Chamber of Commerce, the German consulate and various German-American societies, they will sail for Hamburg direct, from this port November 16 aboard the Hamburg-American liner Los Angeles.

The new Westfal-Larsen motor liner Villanger, sailing south on the 17th inst., in the General Steamship Corporation's South American east coast service, will embark here a notable list of passengers, according to Arthur Priberger, general passenger agent.

The travelers include Capt. Flavio Machado, of the Brazilian navy and former Brazilian naval attachs at London, who, with his wife and child, is returning home to Rio de Janeiro after a six months' sojourn in Santa Barbara. Others include Mrs. C. F. Kennedy, socially prominent in Honolulu, en route to Buenos Aires with her son, Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. Adolfo Breyer, to Buenos Aires; Mrs. R. Menendez, mother of the Bolivian Consul here, and Mrs. T. Tabob, wife of a local coffee importer, and her son. The Westfal-Larsen motorship Bollaren, sailing for Australia on the 15th inst., will carry a full passenger list out of this port, in addition to 4000 tons of case oil, automobiles, machinery and canned goods.

Admiral Line's coastwise liner Ruth Alexander was in dry dock yesterday at the Los Angeles yards, having installed new bow plates in place of those damaged more than a year ago when she collided here with the U.S.S. Colorado.

Investment Bankers to Open Quebec Convention

Topics of Unusual Interest Due for Discussion

Los Angeles on Program to Make Reports

Hailed as one of the most important meetings in the history of the organization, the eighteenth annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America will get under way at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, with more than 800 members of the largest buying group in the world convening in the Canadian city.

The new revolutionary transition in the use of investment funds; the conference methods to characterize the new era of investment trusts in operation, and the problems attending the flotation of investment trusts in this country will attract a wealth of reports and findings of interest devoted to these subjects, according to the convention program.

Reports on foreign securities, their distribution, sales and trends of investment is also expected to provoke comment.

Los Angeles men, as chairmen of committees, are scheduled to make reports. Orin G. Wood, Los Angeles, Pacific Coast manager for Harris, Forbes & Co., as head of the municipal bond committee, will report on that phase of the convention, and Thomas W. Banks of Bixby & Co. will report on the activities directed to that work. Delegates of international prominence, including Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of the Province of Quebec, and Hon. Henry George Carroll, Lieut.-Gov. of the Province, and J. W. Beatty, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will address the delegates at each of the sessions.

Before the convention will be the president's reception to all delegates and guests. Shortly after one of the business session will be followed by luncheons where there will be addresses, being planned simply to get them in attendance to hear John A. Wilmer, president of the association, and other officers.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Further evidence of coastal oil production at Elwood is indicated by the completion yesterday of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination's Tideland Permit No. 88-1—first of its State-permit wells in that area—for 5100 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 3477 feet.

Coming in from a slightly shallower depth than the Pacific Western Oil Company's Tideland Permit No. 92, a short distance away, Barnsdall-Rio Grande's well started flowing after it was drilled into the oil formation.

Along the Elwood coast, Barnsdall-Rio Grande Tideland Permit No. 94-1 is drilling ahead below 2930 feet and its No. 96-1 is standing cemented at 830 feet. Its No. 96-1 recently spudded in and is drilling below 100 feet.

The Pacific Western's Tideland Permit No. 92, which came in three weeks ago for 4500 barrels per day, has settled down and now is yielding approximately 4100 barrels daily from a depth of 3583 feet.

Gas Showings

Gas is showing in the Pennsylvania-Western Oil Company's No. 1 on Sec. 24, 21-28 at Kettleman Hills and the well is drilling ahead below 1300 feet. Fourteen and one-half-inch casing was recently set and the drill is now in a light brown shale streaked with sand.

Tops Oil Sand

The Continental Oil Company's Lyons No. 1 at Richfield is running nine-inch casing to 4000 feet at the top of the oil sand, with bottom at 4400 feet, and will drill an additional 100 feet before making a production test.

Slight Decrease

Daily average production last week at Signal Hill was off 3000 barrels. Total for the entire field was 173,000 barrels, 120,100 barrels coming from deep-sand projects. There were seventy idle and 120 active wells, twenty rigs and locations. The week's completion included the Hancock Oil Company's No. 25, for 350 barrels and the James Oil Company's No. 4 for 320 barrels.

Sets Casing

The Union Oil Company has set thirteen and three-eighths-inch casing in its Page No. 1 wildcat on Sec. 8, 22-28 in Monterey county. Bottom of the hole is at 2070 feet. This test is a short distance from the Shell Oil Company's Dudley No. 1 wildcat, which recently found gas showings below 5765 feet.

In that same general area H. B. Chesher, independent operator, recently made location for a wildcat on Sec. 8, 22-9, about a mile northeast of the Dudley No. 1.

Kills to Deepen

The Standard Oil Company has killed its No. 81 on Sec. 11, 23-17 on the north dome at Kettleman Hills and will resume drilling to go deeper into the formation. This well was the first in that area to come in as an offset to the Millham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well and was putting out 1000 barrels of 58.9-deg. gravity oil per day when killed, along with 22,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Standard's No. 81 came in as a completion more than two months ago from a depth of 6873 feet and it will be deepened to at least 7100 feet and into the same formation from which Millham's project is producing.

Fishing for Core Barrel

The Texas Company continues to fish for a core barrel in its Patterson No. 10-A near the intersection of Little Lake and Forest roads at Santa Fe Springs. Drilled to 8535 feet, several fishing jobs developed just when the well was near completion. If brought in successfully it will be the deepest producer in the world.

Texaco's Newman No. 1 wildcat in the Edison district near Bakersfield is drilling below 2000 feet.

Searching For Extension

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's Hobson No. A-2 wildcat between Carpinteria and the Ventura-avenue field, is drilling below 2970 feet in search of an extension. It is situated northwest of the Ventura-avenue field on Sec. 23, 5-12.

Lower Clarke Completions

The Shell Oil Company may lead all other major companies at Santa Fe Springs for the next three weeks with completions coming in from the lower Clarke sand.

Yesterday Shell's G.H.N. No. 23 came in for 3200 barrels of 34-deg. gravity oil per day. Its G.H.N. No. 21 has eight and five-eighths-inch casing cemented at 7730 feet, bottom of the hole, and may be completed in a few days.

On Shell's Slusher lease there are five drilling projects all in the lower Clarke formation and should be completed within the next ten days.

The General Petroleum Corporation's Santa Fe No. 185-D has been completed for 700 barrels of 33.5 deg. gravity oil per day with bottom at 6940 feet in the lower O'Connell sand. Its Santa Fe No. 145 is swabbing with bottom at 6950 feet.

Suspends Drilling

Failing to find any favorable showings, the Low No. 1 of D. A. Hargrave in the Palisades field three miles west of Santa Barbara is standing suspended at 2600 feet.

The Caldwell No. 1 of the Altadena Oil Company in the Palisades field, one of several deep tests there, is drilling below 4000 feet in brown shale. Higher up a few stringers of sand with oil showings were encountered.

Production Ceases

The Parker No. 1 of George F. Getty, Inc., at Potrero, is to be placed on the pump as the result of its having ceased to produce two days ago. After flowing intermittently for three weeks, it stopped entirely and will be equipped with a walking beam.

The Parker No. 1 was completed for 1700 barrels daily initial output. It offsets Max Pray's Gasho No. 1, another rather uncertain producer at Potrero. Getty has completed derrick for Potrero No. 2 near Parker No. 1. Just across the street, York & Lockhart's No. 1 is being equiped with a compressor to improve its output.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. (AP)—Strength of the railroad issues and the activity of a few convertibles featured the bond market today.

With time money easier at 5 to 5½ per cent for all maturities, a good demand appeared for numerous low coupon carriers, which have made the best showing in this week of rising bond prices. Industrials and utilities were firm, holding their recent improvement but attracting less attention than the rails.

The leader of the convertible groups was the new Texas Corporation 5s, offered a few days ago at 98½. Trading in the interim receipts, when issued, was started today and progressed at such a rapid pace that the purchasers to the list, quotations in volume the American Telephone 4½s, which heretofore had undisputed market leadership. The old debenture touched a high of 101 and closed at 100½ on a turnover of nearly $3,000,000. Principal amongst the bonds ran a close race with the telephones during most of the session, but substantial transactions in the last half hour sent the new issue ahead.

Gains in the first-grade rails covered virtually the entire group, and ran to more than a point. Secondary carriers were also sought by investors and speculators alike on the favorable sentiment engendered by monetary developments. Turnovers in several rails exceeded $1,000,000 each. The best buying was in Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½s, up ½; Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul general 4½s, up 1; Erie refunding 5s, up ½; Missouri Pacific 5s, up ½; Kansas City Southern 5s, up ½; New Haven convertible 6s, up 1½ as the stock made a new high; New York Central debenture 6s, up ½; and Texas and Pacific 5s, up 1½. Missouri-Kansas-Texas adjustment 5s showed the greatest strength, soaring 3 points on the session.

Activity in the remainder of the list embraced Nationaly Dairy 5½s, up 1½; North American Edison 5½s, up 1; Remington Rand 5½s, with warrants, up 1½; on the strength of the stock; United Drug of Delaware, up 1.

Foreign bonds and treasury listings were mostly steady on restricted dealings. There was a show of strength in sections of the foreign list, notably in German Agricultural Bank issues, which averaged about a point higher.

Converting closed irregular. American Telephone 4½s, after selling points higher, suffered a set loss of 1¾, and Consolidated Gas Telephone 4½s finished ½ lower and 100 after opening 200. Interborough 7s, I. G. Chemical 6½s and American International 5½s gained 1½ and 1¾, respectively.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite publication, dashes are omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

State Managers of Games to Organize for Coming Task at Meet Today

The huge task of preparing for the 1932 Olympic Games to be held in Los Angeles will get under way here today when the five members of the recently created State Olympiad Commission hold an organization meeting in the offices of Gov. Young in the Associated Realty Building. The Governor will preside, it was announced.

It is expected that a permanent chairman will be named and a secretary appointed and preparations will be made for handling the proceeds of the Olympic Games bond issue authorized some time ago by the voters of the State.

The commission consists of William May Garland, Louis B. Mayer, Dr. Warren Bovard and Mayor Porter of Los Angeles, and William Humphries of San Francisco.

It was announced at the Governor's offices yesterday that Gov. Young will spend the entire day in Los Angeles, coming here from San Diego, where he attended the State realty convention. He will leave for Sacramento late this afternoon and will return to this city again on the 31st inst.

Police Recover Purloined Autos at Rapid Rate

Establishing a new record for recoveries of stolen automobiles during a twenty-four-hour period, police officers working in all parts of the city gathered in twenty-four machines between noon Thursday and the same hour yesterday, according to a report submitted to Chief Davis by Captain of Detectives Barr, head of the auto theft detail.

During the period seventeen automobiles were reported stolen. Little space was left at the Lincoln Heights stockade for more cars as other officers impounded twenty-seven additional machines taken from motorists arrested for serious traffic-law violations.

BODY TAKEN TO TEXAS

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jones of the Glendale Hotel, Glendale, left Los Angeles yesterday for Waco, Tex., taking with them the body of their son, James R. CHARGES MADE AGAINST DAVIS

Developers' Association Asks Ousting of Chief

Action Taken After Parley With Mayor Porter

Following two executive sessions, one attended by Mayor Porter and the other by City Attorney Werner, to consider charges against Chief of Police Davis, made by the Developers' Association of Los Angeles, the Police Commission announced that the charges must be presented officially and substantiated before any action can be taken.

The announcement of the commission, comprised of President Thorpe, Commissioners Pierce, Coe and Drake follows:

"In the event a communication containing charges against the Chief of Police is presented to the Board of Police Commissioners at a meeting of that body, the legal procedure is for the commission to notify those bringing such charges to appear before a meeting of the commission and present evidence tending to substantiate such charges.

"It thereupon becomes the duty of the board, upon representation of what is claimed to be such evidence, thoroughly to consider the same and to determine if such be sufficient to warrant a hearing thereon.

"Should the board determine that the evidence presented be sufficient, the Chief shall be furnished with a copy of the charges and notified as to the specified date and time of such hearing."

CHARGES LISTED

The charges of the Developers' Association, a political organization which supported the new city administration in the last election, follow:

"To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Los Angeles.

"Gentlemen: To substantiate our verbal request for the removal and discharge of Chief of Police James E. Davis we hereby submit and file with your honorable body the following charges, to wit:

"We hereby allege that the said James E. Davis, Chief of Police of the city of Los Angeles, is guilty of neglect of his duties as such Chief of Police and that by reason thereof this city is overrun with crime and vice.

"That the said James E. Davis is wholly incompetent to handle and manage the men belonging to the police department and obtain from them effective service in the suppression of crime and vice, and a continuance of his services as the head of the police department of the city of Los Angeles is injurious to the city's welfare, and its inhabitants are and will be without the proper protection as long as he remains.

"That the said Chief of Police James E. Davis is guilty of malfeasance in office and should be removed and discharged from that office.

"Wherefore we pray that your honorable body at once remove the said James E. Davis from office and fix a day for a hearing on these charges so that the truth thereof can be substantiated and proven by competent evidence.

"DEVELOPERS ASSOCIATION OF LOS ANGELES.
"By John A. Quinn,
"Organizing chairman."

OFFICIALS CONFER

Following the filing of this document the Police commission held an executive conference and later conferred with the Mayor. In the afternoon the commission sent for Clifford N. Amaden, general manager of the city civil service department, and questioned him on civil service procedure.

City Attorney Werner and Deputy Attorney Kitzmiller then were closeted with the commission for about an hour. Shortly thereafter the commissioners, who seemed to be in high good humor, opened the doors and issued their statement.

Chief of Police Davis declined to comment on the charges filed.

PICO WIDENING ADVANCES

Council yesterday referred to the Finance Committee a report of the Opening and Widening Committee recommending that an allocation of $750,000 be made toward the widening of Pico street between Alvarado street and Crenshaw Boulevard. In the report the committee approves the lines as drawn by the City Engineer.

ALLEN QUITS PORTER FLAG

City Investigator Resigns But Mayor Says He Knows Nothing of Any Friction

Mearl Allen, regarded as one of Mayor Porter's most trusted advisers in municipal affairs, yesterday severed his connection with the city service, effective the 15th inst.

The Mayor yesterday afternoon said he had not yet received the Allen resignation, but that it could not be effective, inasmuch as Allen is an investigator on the City Prosecutor's pay roll and should do his resigning to City Prosecutor Nix. He said he did not know of any friction between Allen and W. J. Mosher, the Mayor's secretary, who heads the investigating staff, or any other members of it.

"I'd like to see Allen and find out what this is about," said Mayor Porter, after reading what purported to be a copy of the Allen resignation. "The only reason I can assign for his resignation is that he has been in here to see me, asking me to dictate to the Board of Public Works on a policy matter. I declined to intervene and told Allen to go to the board direct."

Mayor Porter explained that Allen had made representations to him on behalf of a patented concrete curing system for street paving. Both the Council and the Mayor have approved a license agreement with the owners of the patent. This is now being attacked by representatives of another process who desire to enter the field under open specifications. According to Mayor Porter, Allen asked him to intervene, requesting the Board of Public Works to establish 14 cents per yard as the cost of the approved process, while the Board of Public Works contends that 10 cents per yard is sufficient. Mayor Porter said he told Allen to go to board members about it and that Allen spoke to Commissioners Hyde and McGuire.

The purported copy of Allen's

BACKING FOR NEW AIR ACT REQUESTED

Senator Pedrotti Tells of California Campaign to Enforce Restrictions

Strict enforcement of California's new air navigation act will be sought by the special State Aviation Legislative Committee through the co-operation of all sheriffs and district attorneys in the State, Senator J. L. Pedrotti, a member of the committee, said yesterday in announcing that the committee has held its first open meeting. The committee, appointed by Gov. Young at the last session of the Legislature, met in Los Angeles on the 3rd inst.

Considerable discussion with the various aircraft operations companies marked the session, Senator Pedrotti declared, after which it was decided that for the immediate present all that is needed is a rigid State-wide enforcement of the measure. The act requires every airplane and pilot in the State to be licensed in accordance with Federal provisions. It is so drawn as to prohibit unnecessary stunt flying. In this way, it is believed, the traveling public will be protected to the greatest possible extent; analyses of accidents having proven that a majority of the mishaps are due to inexperienced aviators.

Senator Pedrotti's associates on the committee are Senators Victor J. Canepa and Bert A. Cassidy and Assemblymen Roy Bishop, M. I. Cronan and Robert B. Fry. They will hold their next open conference during the latter part of October in the State Building at San Francisco.

KEYES GOES TO OFFICE OF DENTIST

Former District Attorney Leaves Jail Under Guard to Have Teeth Treated

Suffering from two ulcerated teeth, former District Attorney Keyes was taken from the County Jail yesterday under a court order signed by Superior Judge Aggeler and permitted to obtain treatment.

Guarded by Deputy Sheriff Ray Bogle, Keyes left the jail and was taken to a dentist's office in the Hollingsworth Building where he remained for more than an hour. The former District Attorney showed the effect of nearly eight months confinement in prison since his conviction on a charge of accepting a bribe.

According to Dr. Benjamin Blank, County Jail physician, Keyes probably will require dental treatment at intervals for some time.

Health Board Elects Harvey Its President

On motion of President Pontius, seconded by Commissioner Wilke, Dr. W. C. Harvey, recently appointed by Mayor Porter, was elected president of the Board of Health Commissioners yesterday. Vice-President Kleinberger took the chair, while Commissioner Pontius made the motion and voted in favor. Dr. Harvey voted in the negative.

Commissioner Kleinberger, on motion of Mr. Pontius, was re-elected vice-president.

The reorganizations, which ordinarily would have occurred in July, had been held up pending the appointment of a full board by Mayor Porter. Delay in the appointment of a successor to former Commissioner Good, however, and information from the City Attorney that election by three members was valid, caused the board to decide on the action.

DAN B. MINER RETURNS

Dan B. Miner, president of the advertising agency bearing his name, and Mrs. Miner and son, Jack, returned yesterday morning from a European trip. Mr. Miner went to the international advertising convention in Berlin, and then made an extended tour through Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France and England. The Miners returned on the steamship "Empress of Canada," stopping at New York a few days, continuing on through the Panama Canal, and thence to Los Angeles.

JUDGE HARDY REQUESTS AID

Three Judges to Hear Mrs. Pantages Probation Plea as Legal Battle Looms

Three judges sitting en banc will decide the application for probation of Mrs. Lois Pantages, convicted of manslaughter and facing a one-to-ten-year sentence in the penitentiary, it was announced yesterday.

Superior Judge Hardy, before whom the wealthy theater man's wife was tried for the death of Joe Rokumoto, yesterday requested Presiding Judge Craig to appoint two judges to sit with him when the probation matter is heard the 25th inst.

Selection of the two judges will not be made until next week, Judge Craig announced, at the same time granting the request of Judge Hardy, but asking a few days to consider the appointments.

The formal request of Judge Hardy called attention to the unusual amount of public interest in the case and the sharp legal battle expected when Attorneys Gilbert and Ford for the defense meet with an expected opposition to the probation from the office of the District Attorney.

HARDY TELLS REASON

"The decision of three judges, instead of one, on the questions involved and the legal points raised, will serve to prevent the liability of grounds for reversal," Judge Hardy explained as the prime motive in his request for aid from additional jurists.

The application for probation for Mrs. Pantages was filed last Saturday, when a motion for a new trial in the automobile-accident death case was denied by Judge Hardy.

When the trial judge granted the request and ordered the application filed to be heard the 25th inst., he declared that because the hearing is to be held it is not to be taken that the action portends the granting of probation.

FITTS FIGHT SIGHTED

Dist.-Atty. Fitts was called into court for an opinion on the matter of probation, and practically announced an opposition by saying to the court: "At this time I wish to say that my office has no objection to the filing of the application but we do wish it understood that we do not mean to say what our opinion or action will be when the matter comes up for a hearing."

Mrs. Pantages is at liberty at present under a $50,000 bond, and has been seriously ill at her home since the night of the verdict when she collapsed. She was taken to the subsequent hearings in a wheel chair, attended by nurses, and constantly is under the care of physicians. Her condition was considered somewhat worse yesterday, according to statements from her bedside.

ROY KNOX WILL SPEAK

STEPHENS'S AID SURE IN DEPOT FIGHT

Ex-City Attorney Granted Council Authorization to Assist Werner in Case

Council yesterday adopted a report authorizing former City Attorney Stephens to go to Washington to join with City Attorney Werner in representing the city before the United States Supreme Court in the union passenger terminal case against the railroads.

Mr. Stephens, who retired from office to engage in the private practice of law, will be paid no fee, as he is contributing his services. The report permits him to draw for his expenses, not to exceed $500.

Mr. Stephens, during his term of office, has contended valiantly for the erection of the station and the elimination of the numerous grade crossings in the eastern part of the downtown area. The case is set for hearing the 28th inst.

New Income-Tax Drive Launched

Machinery for the beginning of a new income-tax drive was started yesterday upon instructions of Collector of Internal Revenue Welch. The drive took on the nature of a check-up of many income-tax returns that have been made during the past few months.

The government will continue its investigation into the incomes of numerous motion-picture folks for the past several years.

Although the new drive was just started, it was stated that income tax returns during the last few years have been more accurate than previously.

PANTAGES AIDE FAINTS IN COURT

Usherette Collapses After Charging "Coaching"

Story Assertedly Concocted for Her to Recount

Keene Says He Was Told to Shift Furniture

A pretty little theater usherette late yesterday afternoon tossed startling charges into the face of Alexander Pantages, millionaire theater man and her former employer, stuck to her story through the beginning of her cross-examination and then fainted as she left the stand.

"This is to be your statement to the District Attorney," Tillie Russo, the usherette called as a witness against Pantages, now on trial before Superior Judge Fricke charged with having attacked in his private office Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancing girl, testified that her employer told her. "The girl (Miss Pringle) came into the balcony of the theater alone and left the balcony alone."

And the following day at a second conference, Miss Russo yesterday testified under oath, the millionaire theater man said: "Stick to the three minutes."

SCREAMS HEARD LATER

Then she explained that she had been told by Roy Keene, assistant manager of the theater, to say that it was only three minutes after Miss Pringle left her seat in the balcony of the theater that she heard screams coming from Pantages's private conference room, where the attack is asserted to have taken place.

But it was just before this testimony that Miss Russo had informed the six men and six women of the jury that, in fact, Miss Pringle had been brought to the balcony of the theater by Pantages and then taken away from her seat some half an hour later by the theater owner.

"And," she continued, "it was later, about twenty minutes or half an hour later, that I heard the screams."

Twenty minutes of cross-examination by Defense Counsel Joseph Ford ended Miss Russo's testimony for the day with prospects of several hours of bitter examination when court reconvenes Monday morning.

GIRL COLLAPSES

Faltering as she walked from the witness stand Miss Russo reached the doorway of the crowded courtroom, swayed on her feet and collapsed into the arms of Keene, who had left the stand after an examination of more than an hour, just before she was called.

Doctors and nurses called from the County Jail hospital took charge of the unconscious witness and removed her to her home. They declared that she had fainted but was not seriously ill.

Roy Keene, formerly assistant manager of the Pantages Theater, detailed to the judge and jury his version of what Pantages did after the asserted attack on Miss Pringle and developed the 54-year-old millionaire's asserted frantic efforts to change the appearance of the little mystery room.

"I had a talk with Pantages at about 6 o'clock on the evening of August 9," declared Keene.

"At that time," the witness continued, "he told me to take a table out of his main office and place it in the little conference room. I also was instructed by him to remove everything else from the room."

ACTIONS RECOUNTED

Then under direct examination by Dist.-Atty. Fitts the witness went on with his account of just what he did at his employer's suggestion and orders.

"With C. C. Harden, I carried a heavy table from the main office down into the little private room on the mezzanine floor. We placed the table and then I picked up some broken bits of red ear-rings and collected some towels that were there.

"While I was working around in the room a policeman arrived and I got scared and dropped the towels in the corner. Just before the police officer arrived I had fixed up a curtain over the window and was getting ready to clean the place out.

"Some time later I went downstairs and threw the broken ear-rings down a toilet, but I didn't do anything more in the little room."

SEIZURE AT TEMPLE LOOMS

Books May be Taken on Court Order as Result of Charges in Goben-Mrs. McPherson Row

Possible seizure of the books of Angelus Temple by the District Attorney's office loomed last night as the result of charges made by Rev. John Goben, dismissed assistant pastor of the Los Angeles church, who asserts that irregularities exist in the transfer of funds of the religious institution.

Dr. Goben appeared at the District Attorney's office yesterday with two of the temple ledgers and surrendered them to Daniel J. Beecher, chief trial deputy. The latter immediately ordered an investigation, involving Aimee Semple McPherson.

As a result of Dr. Goben's visit to Beecher's office with information he says was gathered by private detectives, Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Beecher began another investigation of an asserted mysterious trip of the well-known evangelist to the home of Mrs. Alexander Pantages on the night the latter was convicted of manslaughter.

Goben and his private detectives declared to Beecher that Mrs. McPherson was observed to leave Angelus Temple, hasten to the car of Lloyd Pantages, in which she was driven hurriedly to the Pantages Vermont-avenue estate.

W. I. Gilbert, chief counsel for the Pantages's, last night denied any connection of the Pantages family with the so-called mystery trip of Mrs. McPherson.

Mrs. McPherson last night denied unhesitatingly all of Dr. Goben's charges and those set up by his corps of detectives.

"The charges are false and without any foundation in fact," the evangelist said. "The books of the temple organization are in excellent shape and anybody's audit of them will put these charges down as pure fabrications. I do not care to discuss them in detail because there are more important things to do."

TO ARMS, YE CITY RAKES! 'TIS TIN CAN DOOMSDAY

There is nothing that detracts more from the beauty and charm of a neighborhood than an ugly and unsightly lot covered with weeds, tin cans and refuse. Owners of vacant lots are asked to make a survey of their property today in the interests of Vacant Lot and Alley Day, which is being observed in connection with the third annual clean-up and paint-up week, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and indorsed by leading civic organizations.

Vacant Lot and Alley Day is sponsored by the Los Angeles Realty Board, any member of which will bear out the statement that, taking a commercial view of the situation, a clean, well-kept vacant lot will attract a buyer a thousand times more easily than one where weeds are allowed to grow rampant.

A clean, beautiful city redounds to the benefit of the individual lot owner just as strongly and forcefully as to the community. The more attractive the city the greater the desire of the visitor to reside therein with the idea of getting the most out of life, and real estate is bound to enhance in value.

Vacant Lot and Alley Day, therefore, affords the civic-minded lot owner an opportunity to do something constructive for Los Angeles, in the advancement of civic beauty and which, incidentally, will redound to his benefit. Lot owners therefore are asked to see that weeds, rubbish, tin cans and the like are removed from their vacant lots and that old, dilapidated "For Sale" signs are replaced by fresh and attractive ones. Keep all alleys free of trash and rubbish so that they may neither be a fire hazard nor a menace to public health.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IN THEIR attempts to cheer for Col. Lindbergh's flight over the Mayan ruins some of the newspaper correspondents were funnier than they intended to be.

As, for instance, one who in a dispatch from Mexico City announces with triumph that "Lindy" has discovered a "link" between the Mayans and the Pueblanes—said "link" being that the Mayans were further along in culture than the savages who lived in arrow weed huts.

THE MOTHER RACE

There really are facts for which scientists are looking with Lindbergh's assistance.

Among the Mayan ruins they hope to find something akin to the Rosetta Stone, which will enable them to decipher the ancient inscriptions.

In the ruins of Arizona and New Mexico they hope to find some relic of the "mother race," the people who came across Siberia to establish mankind on the American continent.

NEWSPAPER DRAMATISTS

If some of them are a little shy on science, newspaper men are knocking home runs in other ways.

When the talkies came in, professional dramatists arrived in herds from New York but the best dialogue and the best stories are being written by newspaper men—reporters like Jack Lloyd and Wallace Smith who learned what people say by listening to real tragedy.

A CANDID CELEBRITY

I once had a curious experience with Mrs. Philip Snowden, the wife of the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who now is the center of the public eye of the world.

It was at the time that Henry Ford was sending his peace ship to Europe to "get the soldiers out of the trenches by Christmas." Mrs. Snowden was in Washington and was one of the consultants of Ford.

One day I asked her abruptly for her real opinion as to Mr. Ford's pipe dream.

She colored, then faced the enthusiasts who were waiting to hear her annihilate me.

"You have asked me frankly," she said, "I will give you a frank reply. I think it is all nonsense." Tableau!

WAR CLOUDS

If Mexico has another revolution it will be a fatal setback. But the assassination of one of the campaign managers for Vasconcelos at Tampico does not seem to promise much toward peace.

STUNT MAN NEEDED

One of the crying needs is for some experienced "stunt man" to double for witnesses in courts. The same day that an attorney in the Pantages case was acting the part of an attacked and terrified young lady, in another court some one was doubling for an aggrieved wife who pulled his hair out by the roots. Bull Montana would be an ideal selection—except that he hasn't much hair.

PROTESTS WILL BE HEARD

Council yesterday sent back to the City Engineer the file on the improvement of Franklin avenue from Highland to La Brea avenue for checking. Protests will be heard the 28th inst. Other protests likewise were continued, they being the lighting of Gower street between Franklin and Melrose avenues, to the 24th inst., and the improvement of Banning Boulevard from J street to Anaheim street, to the 28th inst.

Cult's "Poison Rites" Investigated as "Rainbow" Tells of Leader's Quest for Potio

NEW TIP GIVEN BY PHARMACIST

Insidious Drug Sought But Water Sent, She Says

Chemists to Examine Body of Willa Rhoads

Weird Barefooted Practices on Sands Described

Asserted efforts of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, "heavenly highness" of her religious cult, to purchase poison that would leave no trace in a body caused police and District Attorney investigators last night to continue their investigations, pending results of chemical tests now being made on the body of 16-year-old Willa Rhoads, preserved on ice for nearly three years.

This startling statement was made by Eleanor Sandrosky, a cult member pharmacist, with the cult title of "Rainbow," and was made to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney and Detective Lieutenants Edwards, Condaffer, Hickey and Reed.

SENT COLORED WATER

"I knew Mrs. Blackburn in Portland, Or.," Mrs. Sandrosky stated, "and I visited the cult after I met Mrs. Blackburn here. One day in August, 1924, she asked me if I could give her some poison that would not leave a trace, such as in th ebody of a drowned man, and I told her I could.

"When she sent one of the members to our store, however, I sent back a brown-colored bottle of water and I didn't hear anything more about it. I quit the cult shortly afterward."

POISON RITES USED

The "poison," it was learned by investigators from Mrs. Blackburn's daughter, Ruth Wieland Rizzio, whose husband, Sammie Rizzio, has been missing for nearly four years, was used in a weird rite on the sands at the mouth of Topanga Canyon, near Santa Monica.

Rizzio, according to his wife, was of a different religious faith and Mrs. Blackburn said an angel had directed her to sprinkle poison on the sands and make Rizzio walk through it barefooted ten times, repeating, "I am a dead man," each time. This was to break Rizzio loose from his former religious vows, his wife declared.

SEEK NEW ANGELS

The "poison" request was made following the date set as the death of the Rhoads girl, but investigators are considering the case from a new angle since the poison request statement. Mrs. Sandrosky also told police she gave Mrs. Blackburn four lounces of chloroform a month following the poison episode.

Orange county officials conferred with local officers yesterday in an attempt to connect the finding of the body of an unidentified man with its heart cut out near Huntington Beach last week. Local investigators gave little credence to the theory that the Huntington Beach death is connected with the Los Angeles cult, but stated that they will co-operate with Orange county officers in an investigation.

MAY FREE PARENTS

Although Capt. Cato of the police homicide detail stated that Mr. and Mrs. William Rhoads, foster-parents of Willa, probably will be released shortly, as no proof of a felony in connection with their daughter's death has been obtained, the District Attorney's office indicated they will be held until the Coroner's report is completed.

Mrs. Blackburn, held in jail with her daughter on fifteen counts of grand theft, on complaint of Clifford Dabney, a cult member, made another statement to police yesterday in which she said her mother, "Grandma" Jennie Blackburn, "queen of the scale," had been chained to a bed for nearly three months because an angel told her the grandmother would die unless bound to the earth.

CREED TASK LENGTHY

She also revealed that it took forty-two months to write the first part of the "Sixth Seal," the secret manuscript which is asserted by her to explain her religion and enlighten the world. This book is purported to be the creed of the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven, the cult she has headed for many years with headquarters reaching from Portland to the Santa Susana hills.

Nearly a dozen other men and women members of the strange sect made statements yesterday, but they did little in clearing up the disappearance of Rizzio and the assertedly mysterious circumstances surrounding the deaths at the Santa Susana camp of Mrs. Frances Turner and Harlene Satoris.

They merely added further tales of strange practices to the investigators' records and promises of resurrection assertedly made by Mrs. Blackburn.

Girl Scout Week Opens Tomorrow

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, honorary president of Girl Scouts of America, has proclaimed next week as National Girl Scout Week, officially inaugurating a national campaign to raise $3,000,000 for a five-year development program.

Mrs. Edith W. Swarts, director of the Los Angeles district of Girl Scouts, has made extensive plans for the week's activity.

For the first time in the history of such an organization, a sound motion picture, "The Girl Scout Trail," is being used to tell the story of scouting. Girl Scout programs have been arranged in schools and churches and exhibits are on display throughout the city.

EMERY OLSON TO SPEAK

Emery E. Olson, director of the school of citizenship and public administration of the University of Southern California, with headquarters in the Wilson Building, First and Spring streets, will address the annual convention of the International City Managers' Association at Fort Worth, Tex., November 20. "Training In Government after Entry into Public Service Work" will be the topic of Mr. Olson's speech.

HANDS-OFF POLICY DECLARED IN FIGHT

TEMPLE BOOKS MAY BE SEIZED

Stilton of El Monte, R. L. Larson, 1914½ Rosalia Road, Hollywood; Willard H. Pope, 741 West Tenth street, Pomona; H. E. Alford, 2232 Berkeley street, Los Angeles; R. G. Akers of California State Bank of Long Beach, an attorney; Cecil F. Brown, 1030 South Main street, Santa Ana; James Lynn, 319 West Penn street, Whittier, and T. F. Alexander, general manager of the Nick Harris Detective Agency, appeared before Asst. Dist.-Atty. Beecher yesterday morning with the ledgers which Dr. Goben asserts show irregularities in temple funds in amounts unknown, to the first casual examination.

The break between the former assistant pastor of Angelus Temple and Mrs. McPherson reached a climax Monday when Mrs. McPherson discharged Dr. Goben and relieved him from all duties at the edifice and with the organization. Trouble had been brewing, according to Dr. Goben, for more than two months, when he asserts he was called back from the Denver campaign of Mrs. McPherson by a threatened revolt of the ministers who objected to the introduction of "a worldly element" into the affairs of the church. He also asserts that Mrs. McPherson had established a dictatorship in church affairs.

Following an examination of the Temple ledgers which cover a period of some two years prior to April 28, 1929, Beecher announced that the other books of the temple would be asked for on a court order immediately, and that the examination will be thorough.

ADDITIONAL WITNESSES

It was announced that two women, formerly connected with the temple and now living in the East, have been sent for, and the District Attorney's office would question them on their arrival in Los Angeles.

Immediately following the presentation of the ledgers at the office of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Beecher, a conference was held at the Harris agency in the Chamber of Commerce Building, which was attended by newspaper men.

At this time Dr. Goben reviewed his connection with Angelus Temple and the Four Square Gospel Lighthouse movement. He stated that he had given up a pastorate at Des Moines to come here.

He also made further charges at this time and told of the hiring of detectives to make investigations, under his orders, into temple affairs.

MRS. KENNEDY WILL TAKE NO PART IN FIGHT

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, will take no part in the controversy between the evangelist of Angelus Temple and Rev. John Goben over church funds, she announced yesterday following her arrival here from Seattle, where she had been the defendant in a breach-of-promise suit. "Mother" Kennedy said that her trip here is for the transaction of personal business and that while she is willing to help her daughter and the church, "in what little ways she can," she said she is more occupied with the conduct of her own church affairs in the Northwest.

"Once I have made a decision I will stand by it," Mrs. Kennedy said, referring to the severance of her connection with Angelus Temple, and continued, "It is just a coincidence that I arrived here at the time Mr. Goben brought the charges against the church, but I will take no part in the controversy, and as soon as I have finished my business here I will return to the North and continue my own church work."

Mrs. Kennedy scored the suit of Rev. H. H. Clark for breach of promise brought against her in Seattle as an attempt at extortion and said that her victory is a victory for all women.

"It was something like the time when I was in the temple," she said, "and we paid petty tribute many times, but this time I decided that the right thing to do was to face the suit and show how ridiculous the charge was."

Miss Kharvina Burbek, Mrs. Kennedy's companion and secretary, accompanied her on the visit to Los Angeles and said that as soon as the business matters are completed here, she will return to the north.

Pantages and Keene also went into the record from the former assistant manager's lips.

"The next day or some time later," declared Keene, "I told Pantages about finding the earrings and what I did with the broken bits."

"That's good," is what Pantages replied to this information, according to Keene.

"You're to say that the desk was in the room all the time and that the room was used for conferences by executives of the theater," Keene was told, according to his testimony.

"Was the desk in the room before you put it there?" Fitts asked.

"I was not," Keene replied.

"Who had a key to this room?"

"Mr. Pantages.

"Mr. Pantages told me to tell Miss Russo, the usherette on the balcony, that she was sure to remember that it was only three minutes between the time that Miss Pringle left the balcony of the theater and the time of the first screams," came next from the witness.

"Did you so tell her?"

"Yes, I told her."

William H. Jobelman, press agent for the Pantages Theater, was on the stand when court opened, to complete his cross-examination. The really important portion of the man's testimony, however, according to the prosecution, went into the record on redirect. It all began this way.

"At the beginning of your cross-examination," said Mr. Fitts, "you said that you were afraid of me because you had told me an untruth."

"Yes," was Jobelman's answer.

"Who told you to tell me this untruth?"

"Mr. Pantages," came the reply.

Jobelman in his examination of Thursday had stated that Pantages had informed him of what had taken place in the little room and had "suggested" to him that he should repeat the story to the District Attorney.

OFFICER TESTIFIES

From Albert L. Courtney, traffic officer at Seventh and Hill streets, the only other important witness to testify during the day, came the story of how Miss Pringle rushed screaming from the Pantages Building some time shortly before 6 o'clock on the evening of August 9.

"I heard the girl screaming and saw her about ten feet from the office entrance of the Pantages Building," declared the police officer.

"The little girl had her hands over her face and her dress was torn down one side. One of her stockings was hanging down and I went over to her and after talking to her went back to Pantages's office on the second floor of the building.

PANTAGES "EXCITED"

"We found Pantages washing his hands and face in his private office," the officer continued.

"She is trying to blackmail me. It is all a frame-up," said the theater owner to the police officer, according to the latter's testimony.

"Eunice Pringle pointed her finger at Pantages and said, 'Don't let him talk about me like that,'" the officer said.

And then Pantages declared to Courtney that there must be no publicity, the newspapers were not to find out about the matter, that it all must be kept quiet.

"I looked Pantages over," Courtney testified, "and he was sweating and some of the buttons on his clothing were undone. He was excited and kept saying that he had been 'framed,' then the other officers came."

DUNAEV APPEARS

With the appearance of Mrs. Rosamond Bell, the hostess of the Women's Hall at the University of Southern California, Nicholas Dunaev, Russian playwright, friend of Miss Pringle and the man who whote the act which the dancing girl was attempting to book at the time of the asserted attack, came into the courtroom for the first time.

Mrs. Bell testified that Miss Pringle had called on her on the morning of August 9, and during her cross-examination Dunaev was called in by Attorney Gilbert and the witness asked to identify him as the man who was with Miss Pringle at the time of the visit.

Mrs. Bell, however, failed to identify the Russian as anyone she knew and stated that Miss Pringle was alone when she saw her.

Yesterday's session ended with the testimony of Dr. Edwin Schultz and his testimony was brief. The doctor simply told of having been visited in his office by Miss Pringle early on the afternoon of the day of the asserted attack. He declared that he was treating the girl's eyes. The cross-examination was brief.

DEFENDANT ALERT

All day yesterday while Pantages listened to his former employees testify against him, he appeared to take more interest in the trial than at any other stage. Several times he arose from his seat and got a drink of water and all during the day he kept a running fire of questions going to the various witnesses by whispering them to his various lawyers.

Most of the cross-examination during the day was conducted by Defense Counsel Ford and, while several of the witnesses did become somewhat confused in minor details, none of the stories which went into the record were badly shaken.

Miss Russo, before she left the stand, became badly mixed as to the time elements in her account of what happened on the late afternoon of August 9, but in the end firmly held to her final estimates.

Some of the other witnesses also altered their versions of what took place in the theater building slightly and the defense hailed as a victory the information coming from Keene that he had been kept under guard by the District Attorney and his expenses paid.

Also Keene admitted that he had seen Miss Pringle ten or twelve times and had been present at several parties which she attended. Efforts by the defense to show that Miss Pringle had taken liquor at these affairs was met by prosecution objections and not allowed by the court.

While the day's proceedings were sensational in character the uproar between Defense Attorneys Gilbert, Ford and Geisler and Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Chief Deputy Stewart was not so continuous as the day before when the lawyers were exchanging bitter remarks throughout the day.

Yesterday, however, Ford for the defense seemed determined to object to almost everything done or said by the prosecution lawyers and four times during the afternoon he cited Fitts's conduct as error and misconduct with one charge, in between times hurled at Stewart.

BICKERING BANNED

Over and over again Judge Fricke, first at the request of the defense, and then for the prosecution, told the patient jury of six men and six women to pay no attention to the argument of the counsel. Toward the end of the day Judge Fricke spoke sternly to Ford and then including all of the attorneys on both sides in his remarks, instructed them that the bickering must end.

At one time before the official rebuke directed at all the attorneys Ford had complained to the court regarding the tone of voice employed by the District Attorney.

First Ford complained because "Fitts roars like a lion," and then a short time later again complained because "the District Attorney is whining." Fitts defended himself by charging that he was unable to please the defense with the testimony being offered, his language, or his tone of voice.

Then way along at the end of the day's session Court Bailiff George Purdue added his bit with a classical remark to the spectators already on edge by the sensational nature of the testimony.

Defense Counsel Ford had obtained from Dist.-Atty. Fitts a long statement taken from Miss Russo in the District Attorney's office some time before the trial and started to read her a passage pointed out by Fitts.

About halfway through Ford discovered that the District Attorney had pointed out the wrong part of the statement.

"You have slipped me the wrong part of this thing," Ford growled at Fitts.

One glance at the grieved expression of Ford's face and everybody in the courtroom burst into titters.

That is every one but Bailiff Purdue, who, tired from a long day of attempting to enforce order in the crowded courtroom, spread his arms along the railing through the center of the room and glaring at the assembled crowd demanded:

"Now tell me what is funny about that?"

No one did.

County Sending to New York for Mrs. Williams

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello and Mrs. Nettie Yaw, deputy sheriff, leave for New York today to return Mrs. Florine Walz Williams, widow of Earle Williams, motion-picture actor, to Los Angeles for trial on a charge of grand theft.

Mrs. Williams was charged with grand theft in a complaint issued two weeks ago by the District Attorney and was indicted by the grand jury yesterday to facilitate extradition matters.

The complaint charges that since the death of her husband Mrs. Williams has obtained approximately $25,000 from Los Angeles banks through asserted misrepresentations of title to the family home at 620 South Irving Boulevard.

The complaining witnesses are A. K. Lucas, an attorney, C. H. O'Connor, an auctioneer, and Arkell Dunlap, a financier.

"Los Angeles may expect to be the center of the nation's aviation industry, as it is of the motion-picture industry," Johnson said, explaining that climate and topographical conditions here make that development probable. He is at the Ambassador.

Jealous Husband Declared to Have Carried Them off to Keep Her Home

Raymond K. Hanley was so jealous of his wife Marguerite, that he packed up her clothes in a suit case and kept them with him for several days so she couldn't go out, the wife testified yesterday before Superior Judge Yankwich when asking for a divorce.

"He packed up all my clothes and took them with him," said the wife. "Finally, I broke open the car and took them out."

A decree was granted.

Concluding the eighteenth annual communication of the Grand Lodge F. and A. M. of California, which has been in session at the Biltmore the entire week, the election and installation of officers took place yesterday at 10 a.m. The session lasted until 4 p.m.

Charles Maurice Wollenberg of San Francisco was elected and installed Most Worshipful Grand Master; the new Deputy Grand Master is John Stewart Rose of this city; Robert B. Gaylord of San Francisco was elevated to the post of Senior Grand Warden; and Assemblyman Frank W. Mixter of Exeter was made Junior Grand Warden.

The new Grand Master was born in Castroville, Cal., March 13, 1873, graduating from the University of California in 1894.

He was engaged in the drug business until the fire at San Francisco in 1906. Immediately following this disaster he was with the army in relief work and transferred from the Army to the Red Cross as director of food, clothing and camp relief.

Charge Against Board Employee Waits Check-up

Charges filed by Dr. George Parrish, City Health Officer, against Robert B. Forsyth, chief accountant for the City Health Department, of use of intoxicants and inefficiency, were taken under advisement by the Health Commission yesterday after a hearing.

Forsyth denied the charges. Witnesses testified that they had observed he appeared to have been drinking, but that they had not seen him drink. Testimony indicated that his changes in the office system were not received favorably by older employees, who testified that "red tape" caused confusion and the work to pile up.

The commission decided to ask the City Controller to make a check of the books of the accounting department as a precaution because of the asserted turmoil in the office.

Porter Granted Right of Battle in Delorey Case

In accordance with charter provisions on the point, Mayor Porter yesterday requested permission of Council to hire special attorneys to defend the mandamus action brought by former Public Works Commissioner Delorey in opposition to his recent ouster. The Mayor filed with his request the written assent of City Attorney Werner.

Mayor Porter declared that the special counsel, former Judge Hewlitt, Frank Stafford and Frank Smith, will be no expense to the city, as he is paying them from his own funds. Council unanimously granted the permission. The matter is scheduled to go before Superior Judge Gates Monday morning.

ACTRESS DEFENDS PRESS GENTLEMEN

Kay Francis

However depicted in "Gentlemen of the Press," that's exactly what they are—gentlemen.

So humble scribes may lift their heads again, having been exonerated thus by no less than Kay Francis, the vamping stengrapher in the motion picture by that name.

"Those I've known have been the most charming fellows, really," confided the discreet actress, who straightway was made to sign a statement to that effect and have her picture taken.

That was aboard the Lasco liner City of Honolulu, on which Miss Francis returned yesterday after three weeks of loafing in Hawaii. Paramount notified her to come back to work but she doesn't know what she is to be cast in.

Police School Project Favored by Hotel Group

Efforts to bring about the establishment of a school for the education of police officers is "heartily indorsed," it was learned yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Co-operative Apartment and Hotel Association of Southern California at a meeting in Roosevelt Hall, 730 South Grand avenue. The association urges Council to appropriate funds for maintenance of the school.

The resolution recites that police through ignorance of State laws and the Federal constitution, often permit and sometimes assist in the commission of misdemeanors. The charge applies especially to asserted ignorance of the baggage lien law and the inn-keepers' law and the laws regarding unlawful search and seizure.

The association offers to assist the police commission, Council, police officers and the Bar Association in furthering the school project.

Teuton Woman Judge at Studio

The Hollywood motion-picture industry was convicted on three counts yesterday by Dr. Frieda Bahl, first woman juvenile judge in Germany. The feminine jurist, after a tour of the Paramount studios found the film organization guilty of unbelievable technical advancement, unexcelled efficiency and incomparably beautiful women.

DR. FRIEDA BAHL

Charles Mack, comedian, was studio host to Dr. Bahl. She came to this country to make a study of criminal procedure, but deserted the courtrooms yesterday to visit the studio and meet the Paramount stars.

PARKING BAN PROTEST TO RESULT IN STUDY

The petition of David Krasnow and others that the ordinance prohibiting parking in Temple street between Figueroa and Beaudry streets be repealed was referred for a traffic check to the Building and Safety Commission yesterday by Council. Temple street, which is a traffic bottleneck, was cleared of parking from Main street to Beaudry by ordinance adopted several weeks ago, but this did not fit in with the notions of a group of merchants in the Figueroa-Beaudry region, who have appealed from the decision.

Oil leases valued at several million dollars and covering ... lands adjoining the prolific Elwood Terrace field in Santa Barbara ... are the objects of two suits filed in Superior Court here yesterday by Charles L. Hill and Harry F. Emme against S. M. Spalding and ... Spalding, owners of the Salding ranch at Elwood, and the ... Western Oil Company.

According to the complaints, which were prepared by Attorney Peirson M. Hall, the Pacific Western Oil Company last month brought in a well on the lands involved for a daily production of 4000 barrels.

TIDELANDS PERMITS

The lands in question are said to be included in State tidelands permits Nos. 92 and 93, adjoining the Spalding ranch, and now considered to be among the most valuable oil-producing areas in the State.

The suits are based on the theory that the plaintiffs filed claims for prospecting permits on eighty acres of the lands in May, 1923, and therefore are entitled to a preferential right for leases for oil and gas development.

PLAINTIFFS' CHARGE

The plaintiffs charge that the Spaldings deeded to each other separate parts of the Spalding ranch, thus paving the way for them to file application for two prospecting permits on the tidelands adjoining their ranch.

In spite of the asserted fact that the Spaldings did not file their applications until November, 1928, Hill and Emme assert the State Surveyor-General issued to the Spaldings ... the prospecting permits known as Nos. 92 and 93.

Sees Pope High Tribute at Chamber Luncheon

Harbor Accomplishments Impress Visitor

Hope for Lasting Good Will Between Powers Told

[illegible] city, while said that one of the outstanding impressions Los Angeles made upon Mayor Gustav Boess of Berlin yesterday as he and his party began a one-day visit of the municipality of sunshine and industry.

During a brief talk at a luncheon tendered him by the Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Boess also paid tribute to the hospitality and progressiveness of the city in developing one of the leading world harbors in the short time that she had been handicapped by the [illegible] to overcome.

He was exceedingly pleased to see the remarkable development of the harbor because it draws Germany and Los Angeles closer together, he said, upon being taken for a tour of the harbor. He pointed out that two of the leading German steamship lines, the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American, have recognized this harbor as such by extending its lines to connect with the harbor. Germany is taking many products from the harbor, particularly oil and petroleum products as dried and canned fruits and petroleum.

"I know Los Angeles is becoming a large buyer of German-made goods, he said.

"Los Angeles is a beautiful city, well built, and I hope this, and we now enjoy will endure as a bond of friendship between our two countries," said Mayor Porter.

Boess' chief burgomaster was present at the luncheon, by invitation of Manson Grandall of the Chamber of Commerce. The official welcome to Dr. Boess and his party was extended by Mayor Porter. The mayor remarked that the friendship of Dr. Boess' relations had existed between the United States and Germany before Dr. Boess himself came, and he hoped Dr. Boess himself would follow them to take up permanent residence here.

Following the luncheon at noon he was given a tour of the city by automobile, a visit through Chinatown and the Beverly Hills and beach district. Before going to the luncheon at noon he called on Mayor Porter at the City Hall and presented him with a miniature statue of a bear, which is the trade-mark of Berlin. Exchanges of goodwill were exchanged by the two executives. Mayor Boess stated that in Berlin the term of a mayor is twelve years. Mayor Porter replied that in Los Angeles it was four, and added with a laugh that it used to be two. "So, a Mayor has a chance to get on a program with twelve years to do it in," Mayor Boess observed.

"How do you like our new City Hall, Mayor Porter asked with a wave of pride.

"It is a fine building," Mayor Boess replied, and then added with a laugh, "I understand a former City Hall is. It should be."

Chief of Police Davis, Fire Chief [illegible] and members of the City Council came in and were presented to the visitors.

A spotlight was thrown on the [illegible] charges that broke in Berlin and which for a time seemed to bring a request from the City Council of Berlin that Mayor Porter return immediately, when [illegible] representative of Ullstein-[illegible] a German news agency, replied [illegible] yesterday. It developed that the effort to recall Mayor Boess to Berlin failed to carry in the Council.

In forwarding the cable he received, the Ullsteindienst representative said: "The proposed recall of Mayor Boess was not on account of his being in any way involved in the alleged $1,000,000 graft, but for the reason that the Berlin Council wished the head of the Berlin government to be present during this important international visit. The Democrats voted against recalling him since such action would mean a difference of opinion in his arrival here. He is not involved personally, as there are charges of regrettable [illegible] strong monopolies and [illegible] of corruption against members of city administration, the justification of which is investigated by the courts."

[illegible] AT DINNER DANCE

Mayor Boess and his party were guests of honor at a dinner and dance given by the German Club at the Biltmore last night. Tonight, [illegible] for the visitors calls for a dinner at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, a visit through the [illegible] and luncheon and visit to the Memorial stadium, Sunday they will be guests at Casa de Rey with Charles Cooke of the Chamber of Commerce. Monday, following a visit at the Gustafson [illegible] they will leave for Grand Canyon. Those in the party besides Mayor Boess and his wife yesterday were Consul Hagen, German consul at Los Angeles; Dr. W. Van [illegible] Rydahl and Mayor Porter, W. Benecke and [illegible] and Dr. Willy Muslein.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce included: [illegible] Mayor Porter, Dr. [illegible] Sol Schiff, H. W. [illegible] G. G. Young, [illegible] & Boyle, J. A. He declared further that during the day he had received cabled advices from friends in Berlin, branding as false any report that the City Council there had adopted a resolution in which his immediate return was requested.

The Mayor again insisted the reported scandal will be in no way interfere with or terminate his itinerary. He said it is his intention to continue his American trip as planned originally and to postpone further inquiry into the rumors until he returns to Berlin, and resumes his office.

ALLEN RESIGNS FROM CITY JOB

resignation, which is said to have been received by Lee Porter, the Mayor's secretary, but which the latter said he had been unable to locate, makes implications of certain irregularities in the manner in which the pavement - curing process was to have been approved, asserting that a local politician has interested himself in it to the extent of undertaking to see the price raised from fourteen cents to twenty-four cents a yard. The letter continues that Allen is resigning so as to use his own time, rather than the city's, to get proofs of this.

It was stated that a man named Beatty, who has been making investigations in company with Allen, also has quit the city service. Mayor Porter said he knew of Beatty, who worked in his campaign forces, but declared Beatty had not been on any city pay roll and knew nothing of any purported resignation.

Allen said he handed in his resignation yesterday morning. He is leaving to engage in the manufacture of ice cream.

Shuler Hunts for Thief Who Took Walnuts

Walnut thieves are active in the grove of Rev. R. E. Shuler, the Trinity Methodist minister reported to the Sheriff's office yesterday.

A request for an investigation of the stealing was made by the preacher, who said that five sacks were missing when he made the check early in the morning. The walnuts disappeared during the night, Shuler said.

The hunt for the culprits and the walnuts was placed in the hands of Deputies Jones and Higgins. Jones recently sued Shuler for slander, but the action was dropped after the preacher apologized for the remarks which offended the officer.

"That's all over now," Jones explained, "and I'm going out now to find the walnut thieves for the minister."

SMALL THEATER GIVEN HOPE

Independent Exhibitors Gathered at Ambassador Luncheon Hear Abram F. Myer

The day of the large moving-picture theater is about over and the smaller theaters will soon have a revival, Abram F. Myer of Washington, D. C., told members of the Allied States Association of Independent Theater Owners at a luncheon at the Ambassador yesterday. Myer is president of the organization.

The reason for this, he said, is that the intimacy of sound is greater and in smaller theaters the natural tone of voice can be reproduced better.

"Small theaters throughout the country which have been dark on account of the added expense of talking-picture exhibition again will throw open their doors in the near future, I predict," Myer stated.

The other speaker, H. A. Cole of Dallas, Tex., stressed the necessity of independent theater owners organizing an association inasmuch as they were found unprepared when sound became vogue and they will be found unprepared when the wide screen and other developments are introduced unless they organize for the future.

Two hundred exhibitors from California and several adjoining States came here for a two-day conclave at the Ambassador where they were offered five-year franchises by Tiffany-Stahl Productions and by R.-K.-O. Pictures. William Al Steffes of Minneapolis, Minn., said yesterday the California theater owners are responding in majority to the association movement which brought about the franchise proposal from the two companies.

The visitors will tour the studios today. A meeting of the delegates from all of the western States is scheduled for this afternoon.

NIGHT CLUB HEAD LIKES AIR TRAVEL

"Tex Guinan of Panama" Will Take Local Troupe to Open New Cafe

A new culture for the sparsely settled districts of the United States will come with airplane transportation of the theatrical profession, it was predicted here last night by Miss Mary Lee Kelley, night-club hostess of Panama City and New Orleans.

"One of the stanchest supporters of airplane travel is the theatrical profession," said Miss Kelley. "It realizes that time means everything."

Miss Kelley will take a troupe of Los Angeles entertainers to Panama City Monday to open her new Kelley Ritz, $300,000 cafe. Later, she will take the same company to open the old Absinthe House in New Orleans, which she has had remodeled. The Absinthe House was built in 1792, and was the gathering place for followers of Jean Lafitte, brigand saint of the Spanish Main.

Miss Kelley has earned the sobriquet of the "Texas" Guinan of Panama. She first went there twelve years ago as an entertainer. Now she owns a score of clubs in Panama and the United States.

She came here by plane from Kansas City on board the air-rail transcontinental ship of Western Air Express. She said she slept through the only unusual incident of the trip, a squall near Kingman, Ariz.

Two Men Hurt When Street Car Hits Ambulance

In a crash between a street car and a police ambulance answering a call last night, the ambulance surgeon and the driver were injured and had to be carried back to the Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital. The Lincoln Heights police ambulance was speeding north on Avenue 26 responding to a call from 2700 Coolidge avenue, when it was struck by a "W" car of the Los Angeles Railway crossing east on Dayton street. The ambulance was wrecked completely and the street car put out of commission.

Dr. Hurley Thomas of 1115 Brittania street received a possible fracture of the skull and severe cuts on the head. Harry Vaughn, ambulance driver, received concussion of the brain and scalp lacerations. They were treated by Dr. Schmidt at the hospital. Detective Lieutenants Eaton and Kuykendell reported the accident.

Y.W.C.A. HAS NEW TERM

A new term in gymnasium instruction and sports will be launched Monday at the Young Women's Christian Association, 941 South Figueroa street, Ella K. Stevers, head of the health education department, announced yesterday. The gymnasium course includes special exercises, clog and social dancing and games, followed by a free lesson in swimming once a week. The sports course embraces tennis, swimming, golf and social dancing. Classes meet mornings, afternoons and evenings.

Attorney to be Tried for Theft

Accused of attempting to collect an advance fee from a client with the aid of a revolver, Fred W. Meyer, attorney, was bound over for trial by Superior Court on robbery charges by Municipal Judge Baird yesterday. Judge Baird also ordered Meyer confined in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital for observation as to his mental condition.

R. E. Showalter testified that he and Adolf Linne, 812 1-2 South Spring street, went to Meyer's residence at 123 West Fourteenth Place for consultation on a liquor case pending against him. They had several drinks of whisky, he declared, and the attorney produced a revolver, demanding $30 fee in advance. He reduced the demand by degrees to $10, Showalter testified, finally taking 63 cents, which he later returned. Linne testified that Meyer took $8 from him.

Harbor Officer Dismissed for Neglected Duty

Charges of neglect of duty and general inefficiency growing out of the accidental death by drowning of one of his fellow-officers yesterday resulted in itihe dismissal from the police force of Patrolman Martin D. Stiles, attached to the San Pedro division. Stiles was discharged by Chief Davis on recommendation of a police trial board, following a hearing presided over by Capt. C. W. Hodson of the Van Nuys division.

The drowning occurred September 26, last, when Patrolman E. H. Hannan, also of San Pedro, fell into the bay while docking his motorboat. Stiles, it was brought out at the hearing, had accompanied Hannan on a boating cruise instead of patrolling his beat. He had been a member of the department four years and five months.

BRIBERY TRIAL MAY COLLAPSE

Court Investigates Rumor of Juror Misconduct

Panel Member Said to Have Discussed Case

Policemen Have Possibility of Escaping Verdict

Rumors of misconduct by one or more jurors in the case of Oscar L. Peterson, Harry M. Hill and Leonard F. Sale, police officers on trial for asserted bribery, yesterday caused Superior Judge Wood to call a temporary halt to the trial and led to reports in the courtroom that the jury may be discharged and the case called a mistrial.

Judge Wood and court attaches declined to discuss what had taken place in the jury room but immediately after the reports reached the bench, Judge Wood halted the trial and adjourned to chambers, where court and attorneys conferred on the problems presented by the issues involving the jury.

CASE DISCUSSED

While Judge Wood stated he could not discuss what matters were under consideration, at the session, it was reported from other sources that one of the jurors had discussed the case with other jurors, contrary to a court instruction. It also was reported no doubt had been cast on the integrity of the jury as a whole, as it has been locked up except during court sessions since the trial started.

The principal issue before Judge Wood, it was said, is whether the reported talking of one juror to other jurors would interfere with both the State and defense obtaining a fair and impartial trial.

It was definitely learned that Judge Wood will not take any steps in the matter before Monday, at which time it is expected some points of law raised by the question will be disposed of. Judge Wood denied there had been any "jury scandal" or "tampering."

ISSUE INVOLVED

Legally, the outstanding point to be decided, it was said, is whether a dismissal of the jury will place the defendants in the position of having been "once in jeopardy." If a dismissal of the jury should result in such a ruling, it was pointed out, the State would find it difficult, if not impossible, to bring the defendants to trial again on the present charge.

Following the session in chambers, Judge Wood adjourned to Monday, when it is expected another hearing will be conducted to determine if the trial shall proceed or be declared a mistrial.

Peterson, Hill and Sale are three of eight police officers indicted by the county grand jury during that body's recent investigation of asserted police graft. They are charged with receiving a bribe of $600 as "protection money" from Harry D. McDonald, reputed bootlegger.

McDonald already has testified that the officers raided his "aging plant" on East Seventeenth street and he paid the $600 to be permitted to "go about my business."

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and McKay are prosecuting the case, while the defendants are represented by Attorneys Stanley Visel, S. W. Thompson and M. C. Davis.

WASHBURN FILES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Sentencing of Thomas B. Washburn, police officer convicted of bribery, was put over yesterday by Superior Judge Wilson to next Thursday when Joseph L. Painer, attorney for Washburn, filed a motion for a new trial.

Washburn was convicted of accepting a bribe of $600 to refrain from arresting Harry D. McDonald, asserted bootlegger, on a Wright Act charge.

Attorney Painer filed a number of affidavits purporting to bring new defense evidence into the case. According to the affidavits, the new defense witnesses will corroborate Washburn's claim that he was not in the vicinity of McDonald's establishment on the night of the asserted bribery.

Funeral Services for Wolverton Will Be Monday

Funeral services and interment under auspices of the Elks will be conducted in Bandon, Or., Monday for Eugene T. Wolverton, pioneer of the West, who died last Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Miss Sarah Wolverton, vice-principal of Los Angeles High School. The body was sent north Thursday.

Mr. Wolverton was 77 years of age. Born in Buffalo, he lived most of his life in Colorado where he went as a young man. As deputy clerk and recorder he witnessed the mining boom in Leadville, where he wrote the first land deed ever made out there. After many years in the insurance and banking business in Glenwood Springs and Cripple Creek, he moved to Bandon, Or., which he left on the death of his wife three years ago to come here.

Besides Miss Wolverton, he leaves two sons, Eugene T. Wolverton, Jr., of Vancouver, and George W. Wolverton of Glenwood Springs, Colo.

VACCINATION FIGHT PLANS ANNOUNCED

Vaccination and other compulsory medical treatment are to be opposed at the forthcoming convention of the American Medical Liberty League, it was announced yesterday by Dr. George Starr White, 327 South Alvarado street, vice-president for California. The convention is to be held November 10 to 12, next, in Omaha. A movement is to be fostered to have sanitary engineers instead of doctors as public health officers, and to limit government care of public health to sanitation, including reasonable quarantine.

LIGHTS WILL BE PUT IN

Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinances for the installation of an ornamental lighting system in Merton avenue from Eagle Rock Boulevard to Ellenwood Drive.

You will find that many Los Angeles women are making money with candies! The Liberty Candy & Supply Co. are forming day and evening classes now for chocolate-dipping, candy making, cake decorating, et ceters, so let me urge you to go in and see them soon, or write for an explanatory booklet. The address is 400 Grant Bldg., 355 S. Broadway. TUcker 4136.

Do you know that olive oil is one of the human family's most precious food products? When you realize that you will order Castruccio Bros. Virgin Olive Oil—imported from Italy—to use at all times for cooking and in salad dressings. When ordering insist upon this brand, which is the finest I have ever used.

Moth Preventives—Fill several wide-mouthed bottles or jars with sea salt and saturate it with oil of cedar; place them where clothing is stored. Pack small articles, such as gloves, plumes, etc., in a box and add sachet bag of orris and sandalwood powder. These odors are pleasant and a great improvement over moth balls or camphor.

This is just the time of the year to have your down quilt renovated and recovered, and I know of no more reliable concern to send it to than the Western Feather and Down Works of 1205 West Washington street. They have been in business for years and years and they do the most beautiful work! Phone them right now, why don't you? WEstmore 9684 is the number.

Soot for Plants—Soot enriches the soil, keeps plants healthy and destroys many insects. Sprinkle it on the surface or use soot-water made as follows: Put the soot in a bag and immerse it in a pail of water.

Here is interesting news! Alice Walton Tabb is forming classes now at Mathews Paint Company's store, 1248 S. Hill, at which you may learn to decorate and make, the most worth-while wall-hangings of velvet, velour and tapestry — using powdered silk—(something very new and most ultra)—as well as oils and water colors.

Have you been wondering to whom to send your furniture to be reupholstered. Well then be concerned no longer but get in touch immediately with the West Coast Slip Cover Co. of 1425 W. 8th street, who really do extraordinarily fine work at prices which are truly reasonable. They are certain to give satisfaction, of that you may be certain. Phone them at DRexel 6738 for an estimate.

There will be a special rate made for those enrolling during the first fifteen days, beginning this coming Monday. The class is a branch of the Alvarado School of Applied Arts, which makes it all the more worth while. All my readers who are interested in making a better grade of wall hangings will, I am sure, be more than interested in joining right away. Remember, there will be afternoon and evening classes, too, so all will be able to find time to take up this interesting study.

Ask the children what kind of potato chips they want and see if they do not ask for the package with the ship on it—meaning the Mayflower brand—because children know good things when they taste them, you know that, and they, like yourself, are quick to notice the continual freshness and crispness of the Mayflower brand. All better grocers sell them. If you have any difficulty in buying this kind phone the Scudder Products, Inc. (ANgeles 6512) and you will get the desired amount right away.

Have you broken the comb—or brush—of your silver toilet set? If so the Peerless Platers can replace both at a nominal cost, so you may once more have a complete toilet set. Their address, remember, is 239½ S. Spring St. (upstairs) and the phone number is VAndike 8417

For Picuring Steaks, roasts, fish, or the rolling pin or board, use an aluminum sugar shaker filled with flour; it distributes the flour evenly without waste.

Any jewelry you have that needs repairing may be taken to Mr. Kent, up at the Peerless Platers, 239 1-2 S. Spring (upstairs.) Mr. Kent does special designing work, also being able to copy anything in the jewelry line you wish to have duplicated. His prices are astonishingly small and his workmanship is excellent!

Do you mothers of growing children fully appreciate how much benefit is to be derived by your daughter or son when they drink grape juice made from Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice? It makes you see real red blood which wee lassies and lads needs so greatly while the sugar it contains is the kind that nature provides and therefore is wholesome as can be . . . building up their physical strength as nothing else will.

You know how you make grape juice with Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice, don't you? You merely add three parts water. Isn't this simple and aren't you eager to begin to use it right away . . . well then phone your near-by grocer and tell him to send you a quart or, better still, a gallon, for once your small bairns start drinking this grape juice there will have to be a continuous supply on hand.

If your grocer for any reason cannot send you the Guasti brand, don't take a substitute but call up the Italian Vineyard Company, 1346 Palmetto street, MUtual 2124, and they will see that your order is promptly filled, and, what is more, they will inclose with your request a free booklet called "Grape Drinks and Desserts," which you will absolutely find priceless!

You really should have Fluff rugs made right away out of your old carpets! The Hoffman Rug Works, 2814 W. Jefferson (EMpire 2048) do such work unusually well. They also make Colonial rugs that are lovely, from rags.

To remove smoke stains from bricks in front of the fireplace, mix two ounces of soda, one ounce pumice stone, one ounce of salt with water sufficient to make a cream. Rub the bricks well with this composition and let stand for a few minutes. Then brush off with a stiff brush.

It is true, "nothing is too old or too new, too large or too small" to send to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department, whose address is 712 Maple avenue—the phone number TUcker 1203. Do you realize that by sending a bundle of useless articles to them you contribute to one of the worthiest charities we have? Get up a package today for them, if possible.

The inside of the oven is so often neglected. It should be scrubbed out occasionally and all burnt matter scraped out with an old knife.

Water in which beef has been washed before cooking is excellent for plants, roses and geraniums. Geraniums blossom better if hot coffee is poured into saucers of flower pots daily.

ATTORNEY SLATED TO FACE TRIAL

Cossack's Bail Fixed at $2000 After Hearing on Girl's Charges

Loeb L. Cossack, San Bernardino attorney, was ordered held for trial by Superior Court on charges of attempting to attack Mrs. Robert Kruckenmeister, (Mabis Soller) Chicago beauty-contest winner, in a Hollywood apartment on September 20, last. Municipal Judge Lahey, who presided at the preliminary hearing, ordered bail set at $2000. Hearing of similar charges filed by Mrs. Kruckenmeister against J. H. Grigsby, Hollywood contractor, was continued by Judge Lahey until the 14th inst.

Called to the stand by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burgess, Mrs. Kruckenmeister declared that she accompanied Cossack and Grigsby to the latter's apartment at 5634 Santa Monica Boulevard following a quarrel with her mother in front of a theater on Hollywood Boulevard. There, she declared, Grigsby left her alone with Cossack, who turned off the lights and made improper advances.

Harry Baer, automobile mechanic, testified that he was working a few feet from Grigsby's window at 8:30 p.m. and heard a woman scream. His wife declared the scream came from Grigsby's apartment.

Sophomores, first mention, L. Pursel, R. Boyle, J. Ashbaugh, K. Cornfelt, D. Douglas; second mention, H. Larredu, G. Leung, F. Baxter.

A competition for a prize of $150 worth of books on architecture, sponsored by Henry Davis, now is being held between fifth-year Trojan students in design.

Stahl Leaves Film Concern of His Name

John M. Stahl, for two years executive head of Tiffany-Stahl Productions, yesterday announced his retirement from the picture corporation to become effective November 16. His interest in the company has been purchased by controlling stockholders, he said.

Grant L. Cook, executive vice-president of the company, declined to say who will fill the production post left vacant by Stahl's retirement. L. A. Young, automobile man of Detroit, is president of Tiffany-Stahl.

Stahl left an executive position at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to affiliate with Tiffany-Stahl. Yesterday he said he had no statement to make regarding his future plans. It is rumored he may return to M.-G.-M., although he would not affirm this.

Fine Imposed on Optometrist

Found guilty of false advertising, Marcel Bushan, optometrist of 408 South Broadway, was fined $100 yesterday by Municipal Judge MacCoy, who suspended $50 of the fine on condition that Bushan live up to his advertising hereafter.

Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday called as his chief witness Mrs. George Crosier, 2538 Corralitas Drive, who testified that she answered an advertisement offering a certain kind of glass for $5. Bushan told her, she said, that the $5 variety was not suitable, and sold her a pair for $18. When told by another optometrist that the glasses sold her for $18 are identical with the variety Bushan advertised for $5, Mrs. Crosier turned the case over to the Better Business Bureau, whose investigators acted as additional witnesses yesterday.

FIRE CHIEF TO SPEAK AT ALABAMA SESSION

Fire prevention in its many phases will be discussed before the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs at Birmingham, Ala., by Chief Ralph Scott of Los Angeles. He will leave Tuesday for the convention which will be held the 22nd to 25th inst., where he automatically will be elected president after serving as vice-president during the past year. Southern California also will be represented by the championship first-aid team of six members from the Pasadena Fire Department.

STATES PICNIC TODAY

Former residents of New York, Oregon and Washington will hold picnics all day today in Sycamore Grove Park.

ARGUMENTS IN WIRT CASE UNDER WAY

Prosecutor Asks Noose for Man in Shooting of Wife During Quarrel

Arguments to the jury got under way yesterday in Superior Judge Hardy's court in the case of Lee A. Wirt, charged with murder in connection with the shooting June 15, last, of his wife, Frances.

Wirt is asserted to have killed his wife in the Wirt home at 2730 Marengo street, following a quarrel over a diamond ring. Wirt, who testified in his own defense, denied deliberately shooting his wife, but stated a shotgun he was carrying was accidentally discharged when he stumbled against a door. Wirt said he had the shotgun to defend himself against Augustine Ramos, reputed friend of his wife, who was declared by Wirt to have threatened his life.

The opening argument was delivered by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp, who asked the jury to return a verdict carrying the death penalty. R. E. O'Neill, defense attorney, will make his plea Monday, to be followed by Kemp in the closing argument. The case probably will go to the jury late Monday.

Freight Train Kills Woman

Isabel Miguel, 30 years of age, who resided at Walnut Station, east of Puente, was killed yesterday morning when she was run down by a westbound freight train on the Southern Pacific line near her home.

According to deputy sheriffs who investigated the accident, the woman was deaf and dumb and apparently failed to hear the approaching train.

WIFE TELLS OF BEING CALLED "POOR SPORT"

When Mrs. Rena Peck Culler objected to her husband's undue familiarity with other women he called her a "poor sport," she told Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday when asking for a divorce from Herbert E. Culler. The wife further related that Culler was so addicted to intoxicating liquor and was so abusive when under its influence that her friends all dropped her. She was given a decree and a property settlement dividing $90,000 worth of community property was approved by the court. The couple married in 1907 and separated in 1927.

Today's Bible Text

"Stolen waters are sweet, and bread eaten in secret is pleasant. But he knoweth not that the dead are there; and that her guests are in the depths of hell." Proverbs ix:17-18.

GREEN GOODS

Horse named Spinach won a big race the other day. Maybe it does put iron in the blood.

THE DIFFERENCE

Some folks make more fuss over taking a little wholesome advice than they do in taking a dose of castor oil.

OUR HOURS

A poet asks where the hours go. We don't always know where ours go, but it takes only a few minutes to find out.

BIG BUSINESS

In the press for high finance five Detroit banks have made an $800,000,000 merger. There is a suspicion that some of Henry's private account has found its way into these figures.

BY A WAITRESS

It is explained that the book, "The Woman Who Waits," does not deal with a querulous wife, or even with the lady in waiting, but concerns itself with the girl behind the chili and beans.

BUILDING JOBS

They are making over a garage into a hotel. Thus proving the resourcefulness of our architects. Give a modern construction engineer enough money and he can transform Bruno's kennel into the Taj Mahal.

TOO MUCH RACKET

Speaking of the sounds of the cities an eastern psychologist says that the shell-shocking of peace is worse than that of war. The way he figures it out it looks bad for America. Maybe it is the racketeers.

WONDERS OF SCIENCE

A scientist has been able to make a dog's mouth water by merely ringing a dinner bell. Ain't science grand? We have heard that the ringing of a telephone bell has brought a lump in a guy's throat.

STILL RUNNING

At that the Los Angeles railways are carrying nearly 225,000,000 passengers a year. The folks who thought they could put the street cars out of business with a flock of Fords and a wheelbarrow are crazy.

LOST CIVILIZATION

If those Mayans hadn't been dead so long they would have climbed out of their graves and floated a battery of cheers when Lindy and his bride swooped overhead. No civilization can stay lost when the flyers are spotting things from the skies.

UPDERWISE

A live cow has been added to the collection of animals in the Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago. Although Illinois is considered as a prairie and dairy State there are a lot of children in the tenement district of the big city who have never seen where milk comes from. Some of them may have heard the legend that Chicago was once nearly wiped out by a fire that was started when a cow kicked over a lamp. Now they can see what the monster looked like. It is figured that the next addition to the zoo will be a genuine horse—thus making it one of the most complete collections in the country.

THE FORBIDDEN KISS

The soviet government is doing its best to shatter love's young dream. The Russian leaders are now seeking to make kissing impossible. By regulation and by education they would end this endearing contact. For one thing they are making the campaign on the grounds of health and sanitation. A kiss is said to be a germ-spreader and the soviet scientists circulate the sad story that death may lurk in its trail. They have the slogan, "Think Before You Kiss," spread over the land in big type. Somehow or other Russia is bound to be an unhappy place in which to live. There is no red-blooded man but would rather go to an early grave under a shower of kisses than to defy time and the ages by living as the great unkissed.

VIOLENCE MEETS DEFEAT

Another defeat for unionist dynamiting, rioting and other forms of violence marks the end of the New Orleans street-car strike, which has been in progress since July 2. As a result, the street-car lines of that city will hereafter be operated open shop, ending a closed-shop regime of years' standing. The strikers had a chance to compromise a month ago and retain their organization, but rejected it. Before they struck, they were offered renewal of a contract giving recognition to the union.

This contract, negotiated in 1926, bound the company to employ only union members, but provided there should be no strike for any cause, and also provided that the company need not dismiss men from its service on their suspension or expulsion from the union, if they continued to pay their union dues.

The union demanded a new contract, providing for a 30 per cent increase in pay, suspension of any employee without pay at the mere request of the union, dismissal of any employee not in good union standing, the right to strike, promotion by seniority only (promotion in the old contract was on a basis of seniority and efficiency combined) and arbitration of individual discharges.

It was for these radical demands, which obviously would put the union in complete control of the company's business, that the men struck. But the strike had been preceded by many rumblings, mainly centering about the Progressive Benevolent and Social Club, which the radical unionists condemned because it was fostered by the company. In 1927 six members of this club were expelled from the union, which demanded their discharge by the company. The company declined and courts compelled the reinstatement, by the union, of the six men. In August, 1928, club members and radical unionists came to blows at a union meeting. This riot was followed by vain attempts by the radicals to get the company to mix into union politics for their benefit.

On March 3, despite the "no-strike" clause of the contract, a strike vote was taken which union officials declared was 803 to 103 in favor of a strike. But 400 of the union members promptly challenged the vote in court, declaring they had not been notified of the meeting, and obtained an injunction to prevent the strike order being issued. The union officials ignored the injunction, issued the order and left the city, but the company patched matters up by agreeing to arbitrate the question of the P. B. A., as the conservative club was called. The arbitrators reported on June 26, holding that neither the company nor the union could interfere with the P. B. A., but that the company must not discriminate in favor of P. B. A. members.

The union rejected the arbitration award and insisted on the new contract which had been demanded of the company on June 13. The company continued to negotiate with the union, even after the strike, but dropped these parleys when violence began and when the strikers by force attempted to keep the street cars from running. Then developed the bitterest labor struggle in the history of the city.

In the disturbances which marked the course of the strike, two men were killed, many injured several cars dynamited or burned on the open street, others assailed with sticks and stones and other company property sabotaged or destroyed. Police, even on twelve-hour shifts with no vacations granted, were unable to keep order, and the company was compelled to appeal to the United States courts, which assigned United States deputy marshals to protect the cars. More than 100 rioters have been arrested, several with dynamite in their possession.

High officials of the Federation of Labor and the International Street Railway Union intervened late in the summer and in September negotiated a compromise which the company accepted. This agreement provided for negotiations between the company and the local union, but on an open-shop basis, re-employment of strikers as rapidly as jobs were open for them, and arbitration or negotiation of wages and hours. The local union rejected this, demanding that all the strikers be taken back at once, but there were 1100 strikers and only 400 jobs open so this condition could not be complied with. It was this compromise which the local union tried to accept on Thursday, but found itself too late.

The strikers, or some of them, may learn from this experience a lesson—the lesson that the strike, accompanied by violence, is a weapon which recoils upon its user, doing far more damage to those who wield it than to those against whom it is directed. The strikers have lost $500,000 in pay and the majority have lost their jobs. As nearly every major strike since 1920 has ended in the same way, it is time the American Federation of Labor began to realize that industry cannot be coerced or intimidated and that violence merely stiffens the employer's backbone. Dynamite as an industrial arbiter is out of date.

GOOD TEAM-MATES

President Hoover designated this as "Fire Prevention Week," and the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles sponsored it as "Clean-Up, Paint-Up Week." They run well together. Raking out the corners and disposing of trash destroy the nests of many conflagrations.

While the fire hazard has gone down with the advent of rains in the mountains; yet conservative estimate places the property licked up by flames at $150,000,000 annually. Three thousand, five hundred lives are destroyed on the altar of the god of fire each year.

Most fires are preventable. Sabotage takes a fearful toll of both farm and forest. Carelessness in the use of smokes is responsible for too much damage.

In cities faulty wiring, defective flues, sparks on combustible roofs, matches thrown away, and careless storage of gasoline are contributory to vast losses.

Fire Prevention Week is good for both city and ranch. While the campaign is called by the Agricultural Department through Secretary Hyde at the instance of the President, it is equally pertinent to congested centers.

The destruction of natural resources by the present generation is appalling. If fires continue to ravage vast areas in the future as in the past, there will be no watersheds for either town or country. Clean Up and Put Out are good traveling companions.

A WOMAN SENATOR?

Although we now have seven women in the House of Representatives at Washington there is none in the Senate. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Chicago proposes to supply this deficiency, if it is one. Her friends say that she will oppose Senator Charles S. Deneen in the Illionis Republican primary next April. If she defeats him she will be our first woman Senator at the national capital.

Mrs. McCormick may be said to have been interested in politics from childhood. She inherited much of her political shrewdness from her father, and to this she has added plenty of experience of her own before and since becoming a member of Congress from Illinois.

Those who say of women that they have not yet found themselves in the field of politics cannot apply this dictum to Mrs. McCormick with any warrant of facts. She is said to have been "orientated in politics from the time she was able to walk." She knows all the ins and outs of the game and all the twists and turns. In each campaign in which she has taken an active part she has shown herself a most efficient vote getter.

On the other hand Deneen is a strong man politically and will be difficult to defeat. There are many who say that he has a better chance than his feminine opponent of securing the Republican nomination. Ordinarily people of States other than a particular one in which a primary for the selection of a Senatorial candidate is being held take but a feeble and passing interest in the affair, but in this case the eyes of the whole country will be upon this Illinois campaign, as it may result in giving us our first woman Senator.

THE INSANITY PLEA

The constitutionality of the California act which permits a murderer to plead not guilty by reason of insanity is to be questioned. To an outsider a plea in court is assumed to be a personal affair. The judge asks the defendant if he is guilty or not guilty and the prisoner makes direct answer in accordance with his plan of defense. For him to tell the judge that if he did it he was crazy sounds rather foolish of itself. If a man is crazy he is the last one to admit it and yet here the law sets up machinery to encourage the dementia business. A man is invited to plead insanity as a defense for everything from shooting his wife down to bidding a minor suit in bridge. There is a feeling that justice would be well served if insanity pleas were barred.

THE UNDERWORLD

New York now has over 260 miles of subways and more coming. Lots of underground work has been going on in the metropolis. Maybe Tammany ought to be searched.

UNIVERSAL NATURE

By James J. Montague

If we ever commune with the neighboring stars,
If we ever should happen to get
A message from Venus, Uranus or Mars
On our little old radio set
And learn to translate the sidereal tongue
Which from different points in the sky
From one of the questioning planets was flung
Just what should we say in reply?

Perhaps curiosity might for a space
Impel us to bid them explain
The customs, appearance and thoughts of their race;
Perhaps for a while we should deign
To listen to all that they told us about
The annals of various nations
We should manifest some little interest, no doubt,
In their curious civilisations.

But soon we should boast of the merit and worth
Of the people residing down here.
We would say we could prove that our own little earth
Was creation's most glorious sphere.
We should sneer at their culture, and laugh at their styles
Any possible "side" to deflate,
And view with toplofty contemptuous smiles
Whatever they've done up to date.

And probably they should regard us in turn
As gauche and unlettered and crude,
And matter for scorn and derision discern
In our laws and our clothes and our food.
So that hatred and rancor would flourish apace
And belligerence wax more and more,
Till only the barriers furnished by space
Could keep all the worlds out of war.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

IT IS strange that in Los Angeles, where we have the biggest and finest stores in all the West and some of the greatest in the world—stores which never engage in high-pressure salesmanship — so many of us still fall victims to house-to-house solicitors for installment propositions.

There is, for example, our friend, Mrs. Knowtall, the earnest advocate of women's rights plus women's privileges.

Mrs. Knowtall can see no reason why any avenue of business, political or civic management should be closed to her, because she has compared herself to lots of men and been forced to confess that she is their superior. She gives her husband a good deal of advice about his business, often suggesting things he never would have thought of himself, nor yet would any other mere business man. But she never has to ask him for any advice at all—except, of course, when she gets into difficulties.

When Women Fail

Mrs. Knowtall has very little use for a sewing machine. She has discovered that, the way things are sold in the stores nowadays it often is actually cheaper to watch the ads and pick up things at the right time than it is to make them, besides which it saves a lot of wear and tear. When she lectures before women's clubs on home economics she stresses the folly of any superior woman's wasting her valuable time in sewing when mass production has so amazingly cheapened the cost of manufactured goods.

Yet when a sewing-machine agent called on her she was so delighted with the charming toy that she couldn't refuse it, especially when he offered to take in the old machine she had inherited from her mother for $40. She knew the old machine wasn't worth nearly that much, and couldn't resist the temptation to sell it at such a handsome figure.

Men Spoil Everything

When her husband came home she showed him the new machine in triumph. "The very latest electric," she said, "guaranteed to last a lifetime. And it cost me only $95."

"May I see the contract?" inquired the mere husband, anxiously. She handed it to him. "But, my dear," he said, "this machine costs you $135."

"Oh, no. Only $95. And I get $40 off the for mama's old machine."

"No, my dear, you get this genuine $75 machine for $135, with a credit of $40 for your old machine, leaving a balance due of $95."

She snatched the contract indignantly and reread it. Finally she had to admit (to herself only) that he was right. "Oh, well," she said, "men don't understand these things."

"All right. Only I don't see any place in that contract where it guarantees the machine for a lifetime."

"But the salesman said—"

"Oh, all right."

Getting Her Money Out of It

Mrs. Knowtall was so intent on proving the wisdom of her purchase that she bought a lot of goods to make herself an evening gown—and ruined it. And something went wrong with the machine, too. When the collector came for the next installment he met a furious woman. He assured her he'd make everything right, and received the installment. Next day another man came who got the machine to running, but not satisfactorily.

That kept going on for several months. Then another representative of the company called.

"I'm an adjuster," he said. "The company wants you to be perfectly satisfied. We want to take back this unsatisfactory machine and put one in its place which will satisfy you. Where shall I put it?"

New Machines for Old

The new machine was brought in and the old one taken out. The new one looked much better. And while Mrs. Knowtall was admiring it the "adjuster" presented a slip of paper. "Will you please sign here?" he said. She thought it was a receipt, and signed. Then her eyes caught the figures, "$250."

"Good heavens!" she exclaimed, "is this a $250 machine you're giving me? And all for no extra cost?"

"Oh, of course, you have to pay the difference."

"But I really couldn't think of buying such a machine without my husband's consent."

"Madam, you have signed a contract which binds you legally. If you refuse to pay we can attach your husband's salary."

The Woman Pays????

Mrs. Knowtall read and reread her contract and couldn't understand it. Where was the $40 she had been credited with paying when her mother's old machine was taken in? It seemed that that had been cut to $5 on the new machine. She put on a hat and dashed downtown to see Mr. Crombie, the lawyer.

"H'm!" said Crombie. "They hooked my wife the same way. Her husband being an attorney, she never thought of consulting him. But she won't let me fight 'em in court. She prefers to half-starve me and pay 'em out of the housekeeping allowance."

"Oh, thanks!" cried Mrs. Knowtall, brightly. "I knew if I came to you I'd get some good suggestion. But please don't ever let Mr. Knowtall know."

Canada's Drink Bill

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I inclose two editorials on the subject of Canadian Liquor Control, one from The Times, October 8, and the other from the Border Cities Star, Windsor, Ontario, of October 2.

The Border Cities Star, unquestionably one of the first papers in Ontario and avowedly "100 per cent prohibition" and which fought strongly against the change in Ontario from prohibition to government control, now, after two years' trial, reluctantly but frankly admits that government control is much the better method in every respect.

As to the great increase in the consumption of liquor, when official figures show that at the Port of Windsor alone over 200,000 American automobiles entered during the present touring season; and that, a million and a half is now being spent enlarging Windsor's hotels, with new ones projected, and that the Canadian Pacific has just opened the largest and finest hotel in the British Empire in the city of Toronto, and that the Canadian National is now erecting another "largest and finest" in Vancouver and that in practically every Canadian city from coast to coast hotels are being built or enlarged to meet the ever-increasing American traffic—perhaps the increased consumption of liquor can be largely explained.

Can Raise the Illiterate

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Dr. Knight Dunlap's statement, "without crime there is no human progress," is positive evidence that he is dealing with psychosis and is entirely ignorant of true psychology. The most illiterate person can be raised above crime, above civil laws by true psychology.

That is the real duty of the church, but the ministry is so shamefully deficient of courage to understand psychology and believe they accomplish wonders with sensational psychism.

The open shop and closed shop pursue the same tactics. That is why they cause so much suffering and financial loss.

The Mexican government would not be so stupid as to arouse hatred by self-aggrandizement and expect to create peace, harmony and success in legislation!

I am satisfied you are too cowardly to publish this article.

Lee Side, Sunny Side

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Speaking of "sides," Mrs. LeMoine is troubled because of the "Leeside of Los Angeles" served daily in The Times. If she knows her nautical lines his name suggests ships, the leeside of which is protected from the wind, but as Lee's four by ten is on the editorial page in the middle of Section Two, it is little disturbed by wind from the outside.

Newspaper history shows that no paper could thrive on history alone; it shows, too, that 70 per cent of reading matter is "educational," as each department is edited by one familiar with its past "history" and current workings, so whether it be law, farming, gospel or sports, what he writes is "educational;" his very life is devoted to learning and telling what is doing in his branch of the work and if he lived two lives wouldn't get it all. Lee Shippey tells a good story, tells it well, with a style of humor not too common, so don't shoot the preacher, he's doin' the best he can." Read Marshall P. Wilder's "Sunny Side of the Street" and come on over.

ONE WAY OUT

He was in a terrible muddle. Here he was in love with Gracine Greenmeadows and engaged to Berthette Brownfields. What could he do?

Suddenly he made up his mind.

"No," he said, with a wave of his hand a little later, in the parlor of Berthette Brownfields's home, "No greetings until I have unloaded my conscience, Berthette."

She drew back.

"You know, dear, that I told you some time ago that I was but 35 years of age?"

"Yes, Durnitt," she answered, a trifle apprehensively.

"Well, I erred. I am 48."

"That's all right," said Berthette, in a relieved tone.

"But that isn't all, Berthette," he hastened to say. "I must make a clean breast of everything. You remember I told you that mother had a necklace worth $50,000 that she would give you as a wedding present?"

"I do, Durnitt," she admitted, looking apprehensive again.

"Well, I lied to you. It isn't worth a nickel, only two nickels from the 5 and 10-cent store," confessed Durnitt Hyde, watching her face narrowly.

"I wouldn't want it anyway," declared Berthette, loyally. Durnitt frowned.

"But the worst is yet to come," he groaned. "I told you that Uncle Pop was dying and I would inherit $2,000,000 from him. Well, he died yesterday and didn't leave me a cent. I have a wife and nine children, am a thief and a robber, and I once murdered a man for giving me a dollar. I—"

"I don't care, I don't care!" cried Berthette, gravely. "I'll stick to you to the end. I'll marry you anyhow. I'll—"

"Confound it!" raved Durnitt Hyde on his way home. "I'll fix her." And he hied to a steamship office, bought a one-way ticket to Central Asia and sailed away the next morning.—[Detroit Free Press.

Observation

It takes fifteen years to learn to be a Chief and twenty years to earn a police pension.

The police risk their lives for us; why not protect them by showing a proper contempt for the character assassins that destroy their reputations. Put all corrupt policemen in the penitentiary by due process of law, but not on the lying testimony of the underworld to whom perjury is one of the most popular of indoor sports.

What chance has an honest policeman unless backed to the limit by the grand jury and the District Attorney and public officials who are not after publicity and political preferment for themselves? There are plenty of ways to catch dishonest policemen without giving immunity to every crook that helps frame a con. It is the honest ones that the crooks usually testify against. They protect the dishonest ones.

It is time that the respectable citizens of Los Angeles wake up. It is even more important to protect honest and faithful police officers than to punish the crooked ones.—[Mercury, Los Angeles Athletic Club.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Decorative Oils?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A new course is being offered in landscape and decorative oils at the Hollywood Evening High School, corner of Sunset Boulevard and Highland avenue. The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 and is taught by Adrian J. Kurvers, who received his training at the Academy of The Hague, Holland.

There is no charge for tuition in this class, but each student furnishes his own paints and other materials. Painting is done on canvas, burlap, velour and silk and besides paintings for framing, there are decorative motifs applied to hangings, sofa pillows and costumes. This type of work is in constant demand both for interior sets and for theatrical costumes.

Beginners are admitted to the class and those of long experience may get both inspiration and information along original creative lines from the talented instructor.

Radio officials of eastern broadcasting studios now type speeches to be made and hang them over the microphone, since this not only reassures the nervous performer, but causes him to hold his head erect and thus aid in delivery. W. B. J.

TREVOR SENT TO NORWALK

Norman Trevor, 45 years of age, leading man in the films, who last spring suffered a mental and physical breakdown, has been ordered sent to the Hospital for the Insane at Norwalk by Superior Judge Gould, presiding in the Psychopathic Court at the General Hospital. His nearest relative, according to the papers in the case, is a daughter, Miss Doris Trevor of New York City.

Trevor was taken before the Psychopathic Court in April on an affidavit signed by H. B. Warner. Subsequently he was paroled to Harry J. Brown, parole officer of the court, and placed in the St. Ern Sanatorium. Following his release he went back to work. Recently, however, his condition began to fall again.

Baby Missing With Mother Feared in Peril

Following reports to Clarence Walker by telephone that his wife, Mrs. Ethel Walker, intends to harm their 16-month-old daughter, with whom she disappeared from the home of her mother-in-law on Tuesday, Walker yesterday reported his wife's disappearance to the police. The phone message, he said, came from persons who asserted they are acquainted with his wife and heard her utter the threats.

An intensive three-day search had failed to reveal any trace of Mrs. Walker, but yesterday apparently after being informed that the police are looking for her, she twice called her mother-in-law on the telephone at the latter's home at 227 South New Hampshire avenue and asked about the whereabouts of her husband. She refused to tell where she was or where the baby was.

Her husband's anxiety over their daughter is increased, he told the police, by the fact that Mrs. Walker has been subject to frequent fits of despondency during the past few months.

Mayor to Lead City Division in Chest Campaign

Mayor Porter yesterday accepted the colonelship of the City Employees' Division of the 1929 Community Chest campaign.

"I believe," Mayor Porter said, "that this year will find a far greater degree of co-operation between the general public and the Community Chest. Last year only thirty-six city departments took part in the campaign.

"Few persons know that during the past five years of the Chest the sums obtained have shown only a 3 1-2 per cent gain, while the number of persons needing aid has increased 50 per cent. I believe that the city employees should take an especially active part this year since they know the city, its needs and its possibilities."

Hugh J. McGuire, president of the Board of Public Works, will assist Mayor Porter in the activities of city employees.

Travel Records for Bryce and Zion Parks Fall

All tourist records for Zion and Bryce Canyon National Parks in Southern Utah were broken during the season just closing, with a total of 55,380 visitors, according to information received yesterday by R. B. Robertson, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific System, from B. T. Scoyen, superintendent of the National Park Service.

Registrations came from every State, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Alaska, Canal Zone, Philippine Islands and twenty-two foreign countries.

Zion National Park led with 33,383 registrations, while 21,997 visited Bryce Canyon Park. This is an increase of 11 per cent for Zion Park over last year.

M'GEE MURDER WARRANT FILED

Glen Page, Bay City Suspect, Charged With Crime

Detectives Leaving to Bring Accused Man Here

Move First to be Recorded in Slaying of 1923

Glen Page, arrested in San Francisco Tuesday, was charged with the murder of Sam McGee, colored chauffeur, shot to death during a $600,000 robbery February 13, 1923, in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Coleman. Upon filing of the complaint Detective Lieutenants Brown and James obtained a warrant and prepared to leave today to bring Page here for trial.

Page, according to the detectives, is suspected of being one of the four bandits who participated in the sensational robbery resulting in the murder of McGee and wounding of a bystander. None of the quartet was apprehended. Information, which came into the hands of the local police early this year, pointed to Page as one of the men wanted and his description was broadcast throughout the country. It was upon this information that he was taken into custody by San Francisco authorities.

McGee was driving an automobile in which L. O. Callon and W. Blizzard, messengers for the First National Bank, were transporting $600,000 worth of bonds and securities from the Central-avenue postoffice to the bank headquarters. As the machine passed in front of 305 East Fourth street the bandit car drove up alongside. Without warning McGee was killed with a shotgun charge. Half a dozen shots from revolvers were fired. One of these struck a bystander in the leg.

During the sudden confusion as the driveless bank car crashed into the curb the bandits seized a bag containing the bonds, threw it in their own car and fled. No trace of them was ever found until the first of this year, when a picture of Page was partially identified by witnesses of the slaying and robbery, according to police. Partial identification was also made of a photograph of James Hawthorne, asserted partner of Page, the detectives assert. Hawthorne is now serving a sentence in San Quentin for a jewelry robbery in San Francisco, it was stated.

While this is the first time that a murder complaint has been issued in the investigation of the slaying and robbery previous efforts on the part of local police resulted in the recovery of all the bonds except about $17,000 worth, according to police records. The majority of these bonds were found by members of an Italian family in a slough between here and Venice several months after the crime was perpetrated.

Wife Lives Up to Monicker of Armstrong

The eternal triangle was flattened out in Superior Judge Gates's court yesterday when Policeman Frank M. Duede testified in the divorce trial of Mahlon T. Armstrong against Elizabeth Armstrong.

Duede deposed that instead of Mrs. Armstrong making love to George W. Nichols, she, in a manner of speaking, knocked Mr. Nichols cold.

And so Judge Gates, on motion of Attorney S. S. Hahn, continued the case for three weeks.

"I was called to the Armstrong home one evening," Duede testified. "Armstrong was trying to get in a room where he said his wife had concealed herself. He wanted me to break down the door. I wouldn't because I didn't have a warrant.

"Just as I was leaving the house I heard a further noise. When I went back I found that there had been a battle royal, and Mrs. Armstrong had lived up to her name by knocking both of her opponents cold. Her opponents were her husband and Mr. Nichols."

Armstrong had testified that his wife had made love to Nichols. Mrs. Armstrong summoned Policeman Duede to disprove this statement.

Pair Seized on Charge of Giving Wrong Address

Charged with violation of Section 61, California Vehicle Act, making it a misdemeanor to give a fictitious address in applying for a driver's license or certificate of registration, Mr. and Mrs. Cecile H. Crocker of 1322 1-2 Bond street, were taken into custody yesterday by Warrant Officer H. J. Delmer. They are said to be the first persons arrested on that charge.

In taking out their licenses, it is asserted, the Crockers listed their home address as 1341 Albany street. Crocker said he had given the false address temporarily to evade creditors who were dunning him, Delmer reported.

Violation of Section 61 is punishable by fine and jail term.

De Soto, trustee; Fred Kerlin and Art Justad, executive members. Election was held Thursday night in Patriotic Hall, at which time it was decided to send the chapter's drum and bugle corps to the Paris convention of the organization in 1930.

PREMIER'S VISIT PLEASES BISHOP

MacDonald-Hoover Meeting Blow to War, He Says

British Visitor Says Nations Must End Fear Complex

Democracy on Trial, Woods Tells University Club

"Balance of power among nations, considered by ninsteenth century statesmen to be the means of preventing international conflict, failed to avert the most terrible war of all history and our hope today for permanent peace is, through the right of education, to abolish the fear complex that characterized the governments and peoples of former days," declared Rt. Rev. Frank Theodore Woods, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Winchester., Eng., in an address yesterday before the University Club.

Voicing his satisfaction at the result of the meeting of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald Bishop Wood said such conferences between leaders of nations, together with the many movements on the part of the people for development of international goodwill, are doing more to banish war than all the activities and influences, including secret diplomatic conclaves, that marked the dark days of the last century.

WARNING ISSUED

Speaking a good word for the spirit of nationalism, as that spirit tends to draw a people closer together for mutual helpfulness, Bishop Woods declared that such a spirit, it can easily be diverted into selfish and dangerous channels, making for international strife instead of that international co-operation which should be the aspiration of every nation.

Discussing democracy, Bishop Woods called attention that since the World War, "fought to make the world safe for democracy," a widespread revolt against such a form of government has been manifest in the Old World. Mentioning the experience of Italy, and admitting that in many ways the Fascist government has been good for that country, the speaker said that Spain, also, has turned her back on democracy and "even in England, Parliamentary discussion does not hold the place in the minds of the people that once it did."

"It is interesting to note that, as Europe turns democracy down, the loud clamors for it," said Bishop Woods. "India wants, or says she wants a parliamentary constitution, while Japan and China are feeling their way to more popular forms of government. Democracy is on trial and if it is to be acquitted at the bar of international public opinion, we who defend it must make it attractive, present it at its best and hold it up before the world as a system of principles that makes for enlightened citizenship, sane public opinion and lofty ideals."

LIBRARY VISITED

Following his lecture, Bishop Woods was the guest of Bishop William B. Stevens and other prominent citizens on a visit to the Huntington Library.

Loyalty to a United States of the World would take nothing from our loyalty to our city, State and nation, but would make the foundation upon which a lasting peace could be built, Bishop Woods told the members of the English-Speaking Union last night at the Jonathan Club, South Figueroa and Sixth streets.

The distinguished churchman, honor guest at the banquet held in the main lounge, dwelt upon the importance of law and liberty, emphasizing the fact that liberty cannot exist without the law. He also pointed out that the science of destruction had advanced by leaps and bounds within the past ten years and that the next war will be a destruction of civilization rather than of soldiers. In conclusion he urged that every man and woman in every country should embark upon a campaign of education that will make for a better understanding of the problems of each and in the end create that loyalty that makes for lasting peace.

Philip B. Kennedy, president of the union, presided, and Bishop Stevens of the Los Angeles diocese, introduced Bishop Woods.

RECEPTION TODAY

At 3 p.m. today a reception to Bishop Woods, to which Episcopalian clergymen and their wives are invited, will be given at the home of Bishop Stevens, 2277 South Hobart street. Tomorrow morning Bishop Woods will preach at St. Paul's Cathedral; at 4 p.m. he will preside at the corner-stone-laying ceremonies for St. Matthias Church at Whittier and tomorrow evening he will speak at All Saints' Church, Pasadena.

BANDIT PAIR ROB STORE, TIE VICTIMS

Ralphs Grocery Company Loses $2000 Receipts in Closing-Time Raid

Two bandits last night held up the Ralphs Grocery Company branch at 5470 Angeles Mesa Drive, robbing employees of $2000 after tying them up. Just before closing time the robbers entered and leveled revolvers at W. B. Martin, manager, and Robert Ross, assistant. The bandits showed familiarity with the store's income, announcing that they expected to take $2000, which was approximately the amount of cash on hand. They tied Martin and Ross in a rear room, put the money in a lunch box and carried it out to a waiting car.

In leaving they nearly bumped two passing pedestrians, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Summers of 3510 Hyde Park avenue. The latter were attracted by the peculiar conduct and entered the store to investigate. Groans from the rear led them to free Martin and Ross. The four gave Detective Lieutenants Wingfield and Jones of the Seventy-seventh-street division good descriptions of the bandits, both of whom wore overcoats.

Wornout Pump Cost a Million

Fifty years ago the city of Cleveland installed a new pump in its waterworks at a cost of $400,000. The city borrowed the money on bonds. To date it has paid $1,000,000 in interest on the original debt. It must go on for ten years longer, paying interest. And the original cost of the pump, $400,000, is still unpaid. But the pump—it was worn out long ago.

Most of our cities have reached their debt limit by voting bonds.

THOUSANDS GET CARE AT CLINIC

Santa Rita Institution's Aid Given 10,162

Support Comes Mainly from Community Chest

Forty Doctors Give Service to Benefit Poor

A total of 10,162 persons received medical or surgical care during the past year at Santa Rita Clinic, 1441 North Main street, according to a report issued yesterday by Miss Clara K. Becker, superintendent. Three thousand nine hundred and sixty-four of the number were women, 2140 were men, 2034 boys, and 2024 girls. The clinic is maintained under auspices of the Catholic Welfare Bureau and is supported mainly by funds from the Los Angeles Community Chest.

Advice on health, hygiene, dietetics and the care of children were given to 3877 persons during the year. One thousand thirty-four home visits were made with general bedside care given to 223 persons; other visits in the interest of cases made by the clinic workers totaled 960, and office interviews to the number of 1496 were held.

The cases came from a variety of sources. Five hundred and sixty-three were sent in directly from the Catholic Welfare Bureau; 313 came from Los Angeles General Hospital, five from St. Vincent's Hospital, four from the Receiving Hospital and five from other hospitals.

Besides Miss Becker, the nursing staff of the clinic includes Mrs. Thelma Papst and Miss Katherine Moffet, assistant nurses and field workers, and Miss Regine Farmer, secretary. Fifty per cent of the work done is free; a small fee is charged, however, in cases where the patient is able to pay.

LOVE DAMAGES DENIED BY JURY

Verdict for the defendant in the $250,000 love suit of Mrs. Minnie Moore against Mrs. Ruth Moon Bradner was returned by a jury in Superior Judge Schauer's court at a late hour last night.

Mrs. Moore sued Mrs. Bradner for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Marshall L. Moore, Santa Monica detective, asserting that Mrs. Bradner, a millionairess, had enticed Moore away from home.

Mrs. Moore testified that her husband often kissed Mrs. Bradner and had on several occasions taken her to a Santa Monica apartment. Mrs. Bradner introduced testimony contradicting the evidence of the plaintiff and the issue of the case depended on the credibility of witnesses.

Moore, summoned by Mrs. Bradner, testified that on one occasion his wife produced a revolver and threatened to kill him. Testimony that Mrs. Moore had been confined in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital on complaint of her husband was offered by the plaintiff.

SHOE STORE HOLD-UPS LEAVE CLERK BOUND

Two hold-up men last night stole $71.50 from Carl's Shoe Store, 271 South Main street, after driving James Lynch, the salesman, into a washroom at the point of a revolver. He described the men as being 24 years of age each, one an American and the other an Italian.

CANAL DIMS EUROPE'S WONDERS

Girls Appreciate Own Country Now

Miss Katherine Grassie and Miss Elizabeth Nash

EUROPE'S natural beauties and ancient wonders are all dimmed by America's mechanical colossus, the Panama Canal, in the opinion of the Misses Catherine Grassie and Elizabeth Nash, Pasadena girls, who yesterday returned home from a six months' tour of Europe aboard the Italian liner Leme of Navigazione Libera Triestina.

Their European acquaintances invariably advised them to come home via the Canal, said Miss Grassie, their Continental friends being so much better informed about the scenic spots of the United States that they both soon realized the truth of the slogan, "See America First."

The Leme is in command of Capt. Roberto De Reya, Italian naval hero of the World War and pathfinder of N.L.T.'s Pacific-Mediterranean service in 1925. Other cabin passengers disembarking included Mrs. Mary Cook of Redlands, and her son, John, completing a round-trip voyage to the Mediterranean aboard the Leme; Enrique Cuellar, Salvadoran coffee king, with his daughter Blanca, and Alfred Imobersteg of Salvador.

NEW SENSATIONS HINTED IN POLICE GRAFT INQUIRY

After hearing several witnesses in its investigation of asserted police bootleg graft, the county grand jury yesterday deferred further action in the matter until Monday.

This decision was reached, according to Percy Hammon, deputy District Attorney in charge of grand jury matters, following the discovery of new and sensational evidence, which will be heard at the Monday session.

Information already in the hands of the grand jury is sufficient to warrant the indictment of four police officers for accepting bribes, Hammon asserted, but it is believed that the inquiry will be broadened considerably, when the new evidence is introduced.

One of the witnesses who testified yesterday was a Hollywood police officer. He is reported to have told the grand jury that he accompanied Tex Smith, Hollywood man, under indictment on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, to a vantage point on the night of September 26, last, and watched police officers raid his place at 1547 Holly Vista Drive.

The testimony is said to indicate that Smith was operating with the protection of certain police officers until his place was raided by officers from Central Station.

A GO-GETTER

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, the economist and financier, said in a success talk in Cleveland:

"You can't keep a good man down. Look at Jonah. Look at Sir Augustus Harris.

"Harris wound up as the millionaire proprietor of Drury Lane Theater. And how did he make his first entry into Drury Lane? Why, on his uppers. He was no Sir Augustus then. He was plain Gus Harris, hungry and shabby and looking for a job.

"'Bruce,' the boss of Drury Lane, glared at Harris from the heap of papers on his desk.

"'Well?' he said.

"'Do you want a stage manager?' said Harris.

"'No; I'm my own stage manager,' said Bruce.

"'Do you want an acting manager?'

"'No, I'm my own acting manager.'

"'Do you want a press agent?'

"'I'm my own press agent.'

"'Do you want an actor?'

"'No!' Bruce growled. 'No, I don't want nothing. For heaven's sake, man, clear out. Vamoose. Can't you see I'm so busy I don't know which way to turn?'

"Then you want help,' said Harris, peeling off his coat. 'I'll stay and help you.'

"And stay he did and he soon owned the theater."

'ERE IT IS!

An English guard took the place of a Welsh guard on a train. The names of the towns in Wales are mostly consonants, and unbelievably long. The English guard's business was to announce the names of the towns as the train stopped at the stations.

At the first stop he managed to make a stagger at the name of a town, printed on the front of the station. The next town was considerably longer, and the guard hesitated before he finally managed to say something. But the name of the third town went clear across the front of the station, and had in it nearly every consonant in the alphabet.

The guard looked at it in despair, opened the door of the first compartment, and sung out: "If there's anyone in there for 'ere, 'ere it is."—[Christian Herald.

SHULER VERDICT TIME SET

Decision in Contempt Cases Against Trinity Pastor and Briegleb Due at 2 p.m. Monday

Findings of the three judges on the contempt of court charges against Rev. R. P. Shuler and Rev. G. A. Briegleb will be read from the bench Monday at 2 p.m., it was announced yesterday.

The opinion of Superior Judges Tappaan, Hardy and Gould, who sat en banc at the hearing of the complaint against the two ministers, will be given in the presence of the defendants.

Shuler faces a verdict on two counts of contempt and Briegleb on one count. The accusation against the Trinity Methodist preacher is based on his utterances during two radio addresses when he discussed the procedure in the trial of Mrs. Lois Pantages.

The charge against the St. Paul Presbyterian pastor grew out of a sermon delivered to his congregation in which he talked about the same trial.

The actions against the ministers were started in the court of Judge Hardy when he issued citations to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt. Judges Tappaan and Gould were named at the request of Judge Hardy to sit with him during the hearing on the complaint. A committee from the bar association, Attorneys Jennings, Shinn and Vickers, acted as friends of the court in presenting the prosecution. Attorney Hunter represented Briegleb, but Shuler acted as his own counsel.

Shuler is subject to ten days in jail and a fine of $1000, if found guilty on two counts, and Briegleb to five days in a cell and a fine of $500 as the maximum penalty. A fine or jail sentence may be directed in the opinion of the court.

CLARA BOW IN RADIO STORY

Warner Radio Singer Will Star in Sound Pictures; Janet Gaynor Back Ahead of Time from Honeymoon; Belle Bennett to Play Business Woman

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Radio stations really haven't been given the attention they deserve in film literature. At least Paramount seems to feel that way about it. Now comes Clara Bow to remedy the deficiency.

CLARA BOW

Miss Bow has been given the character name of Lady Mike, radio announcer extraordinary, in "Station S-E-X," her next Paramount starring picture, according to an announcement yesterday from Jesse L. Lasky. As Lady Mike, Clara will become embroiled in a series of thrilling adventures in the background of a metropolitan radio studio.

Regis Toomey will be Clara's leading man, while David Newell will have the heavy role. In the secondary feminine part is Miriam Seegar, blond ingenue leading woman for Adolphe Menjou in "Fashions in Love," and for Richard Dix in "The Love Doctor."

Rowland V. Lee will direct the picture, taken from a story by Marie Nelson Lee, with adaptation by Jules Furthman.

Miss Bow will start work in a few weeks, shortly after the completion of "The Saturday Night Kid."

Kathleen Clifford in Trade

Not content with owning flower shops, Kathleen Clifford, vaudeville, motion-picture and musical-comedy star, is going still deeper into trade.

Miss Clifford is about to open a de luxe beauty shop in a new building on Wilshire Boulevard. Here she will manufacture as well as sell face lotions, creams and other beautifiers.

And if you should happen to want your favorite face cream done in a color to match your bathroom, Miss Clifford will see that you get it.

VERNON RICKARD TO STAR FOR BEL-TONE

Now you are going to have a chance to see how one of your favorite radio singers looks. And I think you will agree he looks as well as he sings.

VERNON RICKARD

Vernon Rickard, who has been singing over the Warner Brothers radio station during the past couple of years, has just signed a contract to star in twelve pictures which Bel-Tone Productions, Inc., a new organization, will produce.

It was just bound to happen that this handsome young man with such a good voice should find his place in pictures. So we weren't at all surprised to hear of his contract. He is not without stage experience, having been leading man for the Duncan Sisters in "Topsy and Eva," appearing with them in New York and other eastern cities. He has also appeared in a few Vitaphone shorts.

"Peacocks on Parade" is the title of the first production starring Rickard, the film being already finished. It was written and directed by Al Short and Karl Emlay, and according to those who have seen it in the projection room, it promises to be a winner.

The pictures are all to appear in color, and all will be musicals.

Janet Gaynor Returns

Returning rather unexpectedly from her honeymoon trip a full two weeks before she was expected, Janet Gaynor reaches San Francisco tonight from Honolulu, accompanied by her husband, the lawyer, Lydell Peck. The Fox organization, on receiving word of their star's expected arrival, has wired Charles Farrell, formerly reported engaged to Miss Gaynor, and her partner in many pictures, to return immediately to begin work.

JANET GAYNOR

Farrell is now in Washington, D. C. He is scheduled to begin work as soon as he returns in "Playmates," in which he will be co-featured with Miss Gaynor.

Belle Bennett Starred

Now that "The Woman Forgotten" is off the hands of David Thomas, its producer, and is launched on what looks like a successful run, Belle Bennett is to turn her attention to another of the Thomas Production series.

BELLE BENNETT

In the first picture, Miss Bennett was featured as the school-teacher, that somewhat martyred figure of the present social fabric, who gives her life to the service of others, and who is all too often underpaid and her wonderful services soon forgotten.

In the next feature, the star will appear as a business woman. In the meantime, before beginning work on this feature, Miss Bennett is addressing women's clubs and parent-teacher associations regarding "The Woman Forgotten."

Spain is studying the possibilities of producing nitrates as cheaply as they are produced in other parts of Europe.

NEW FILM REBELS AT CONVENTION

"Constant Nymph" Given Colorful Treatment at Filmarte Theater

BY ELENA BOLAND

It would seem that something as rare as "The Constant Nymph" would spoil at the slightest touch. But Margaret Kennedy herself took a hand in the film adaptation and with Basil Dean turned out a delightful imitation of her best-seller.

"The Constant Nymph" should be far more popular than any other Filmarte offering this season.

In some indescribable fashion it catches the book's original elusive charm and safeguards it throughout. The zest Sanger's circus had for living, their untamed caprices, their innocent waywardness are adeptly transposed to the screen.

For once the atmosphere of genius, light-hearted Bohemia, rings true. Photographed high in the Alps is the first portion. The scenery, which is never overfeatured, is superb. Whenever possible, native life is shown, peasants a-carnivaling and a-steaming over mountain lakes.

The story unwinds at rather great length, overfilled with details, charming as they are. Characters are drawn with life-like vividness and a genius for comedy. There is Mabel Poulton, whose Tessa is a creature of elfin sweetness and later, powerful restraint. The scene of her death is one of the most moving yet seen on the screen.

The soul of a great musician is somehow lacking in Ivor Novello's portrayal of Lewis. His eccentricity and playfulness are exactly right, but even a pair of horn-rimmed glasses don't make hime the man he should be.

Sanger, Madame, Florence, down to Roberth, maestro of the mess, are all marked individualities and much of the picture's refreshment is due to their efforts.

The absence of sound is keenly felt in "Symbolesque," a short feature. Written and directed by Ezra Mir of Calcutta, India, it endeavors to show how the music of the universe can sway a man's soul. Not an agreeable subject is this battle by a man to conquer the shadows which beset his spirit. If one could only have heard the wild music with which he tortures himself, the symbolism of music would have been better appreciated.

Particular excellence is evinced in the work of George and Pedro Rigas, Charline Burt and Augusta Dolph. Photography by Leo Shamroy is exquisite.

Versatile Bill Scheduled for Midnight Show

Tonight will mark the forty-ninth Hollywood Midnight Frolic at Grauman's Chinese Theater. For this occasion, the William Fox studios have brought together an exceptional program of talent. Lew Brice, brother of the nationally known Fannie Brice, will act as master of ceremonies and keep the audience in good humor with his comedy.

He will introduce Nina Mae, the feminine lead of "Hallelujah," which starts next week at the Palace, who will present a program of original songs and dances. Jack Wade and Bernice Snell will offer an extraordinary specialty in doing the "Break-A-Way."

Joyzelle, an eccentric dancer, who is favorably known in the West; Al Dale, who has been acclaimed as one of the surprise singing sensations of the year; Emily Renard and George Lipschultz, violinist and guest-conductor of Grauman's Chinese Symphony, are some of the entertainers who will help round out the program. The William Fox-Raoul Walsh Movietone production, "The Cock-Eyed World," will be given as usual.

Horton Reaches New Heights in Current Drama

The combination has come to be known locally as "Hortonesque," it is said, and in the production of "The Command Performance" consists of the excellence of the play itself, a series of regal settings, an ever-changing array of gowns and masculine costuming and in much of the wit that results in an accompaniment of chuckles and laughs.

Many of the comedy lines of the play were written into the script by Horton or were suggested by him during rehearsals. Included in the cast of the comedy are Horton, who plays a dual role, Kay Hammond, Claude King, Evelyn Hall and others.

Carlotta King Leaves Studio for Vaudeville

Carlotta King, who headlines the Orpheum bill starting today, chose the songs for her act through the aid of a number of her motion-picture friends.

Miss King is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and has been especially loaned by them for her present engagement. As soon as she finishes her local run she will return to the studio.

She appeared in the film version of "The Desert Song" and will continue making pictures in which her voice is featured.

FILM REVUE AT RITZ

Youthful Star Makes Local Debut

Nydia Westman

Who is barely 20 years of age, will have the leading feminine role of Nancy Gray, society flapper, in "Cooking Her Goose," a stage comedy starting tomorrow at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Director Takes Unique Role in 'Dance of Life'

The customs and idiosyncrasies of Hollywood first-night audiences will never be quite fully understood by the average movie fan. Mr. Fan is almost reconciled to hearing "Hello, everybody. I wish that you were here at this glorious opening" over the radio on the opening night of an important picture. He is almost reconciled to hearing the audience applaud each favorite player as he appears on the screen, and each particularly well-done scene after it is executed.

But Mr. Fan had one that stumped him on the opening night of "The Dance of Life" at the United Artists Theater. A scene came on the screen, late in the picture, and pictured Nancy Carroll, going to a speak easy and ringing the bell for admittance. The proprietor made his appearance at the door. The audience accorded him the heartiest applause of anyone who had yet appeared in the picture. Then, when this proprietor did not appear again in the picture, and had no part in the story, Mr. Fan was bewildered.

The switchboard operator at the United Artists Theater has had no less than fifty calls inquiring the identity of this unusually brilliant "whisper-low" proprietor. Having been informed previously, the operator is able to tell patrons that the gentleman is John Cromwell, co-director of the production with A. Edward Sutherland.

Carthay Circle Will Celebrate Three Events

The Carthay Circle Theater is busy preparing programs for the celebration of three important events in the history of motion pictures.

The tenth anniversary of the inauguration of the Fox News Reel Service, now a regular feature of the Circle Theater's program as the Fox Movietone News is one. The twenty-fifth or silver jubilee of the entry of William Fox into the motion-picture field, is another, and the fiftieth anniversary of "Light's Golden Jubilee," commemorating the perfection of the first successful incandescent electric lamp by Thomas Alva Edison, is the third.

Celebrations of all three events will coincide with the start of the second month of Will Rogers's first all-talking, singing and laughing picture, "They Had to See Paris." Will Rogers yesterday sent the following telegram to William Fox: "Congratulations on your silver jubilee. If it weren't for your theaters and Edison's moving-picture machines I'd still be on a lecture tour. Now I can give it to 'em in a can with musical accompaniment, thanks to American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Electric."

NOTED COMEDIANS ESCAPE TANK TOWNS

Van and Schenck, stage and screen stars, never played the "small time" in vaudeville, which has been their field of endeavor for fifteen years, and in which they are headliners and great favorites. While still in their teens, they had a professional tryout in a New Jersey theater, and were immediately booked and put on the train for Chicago, where they opened in the leading variety house, and made good.

They are now making their first feature-length talkie, entitled "Take It Big," for M.-G.-M.

HUNGARIAN MUSIC AT MONTMARTRE

Margit Hegedus and her Hungarian orchestra will offer a program of classical and semiclassical numbers at the Hollywood Montmartre Sunday evening. Selections from the late Victor Herbert's operas will be featured.

VACATION PLANNED

When Joseph Cawthorn finishes his current engagement for Radio Pictures, playing the role of the proprietor in "Dance Hall," he and Mrs. Cawthorn plan a hurried trip to their old home.

FOX PALACE PLANS GALA PREMIERE

"Hallelujah" to Have First Local Showing Wednesday

Manhattan's theatergoers are giving a tremendous reception to King Vidor's production of "Hallelujah," it is said. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will have a spectacular premiere at the Fox Palace Wednesday night, which will serve to introduce this opus to the public.

Film fans are voicing tribute to Vidor, it is reported, also to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the members of the cast for the gripping character of the production. The charm of the musical features of the all-talking and singing production is said to have created a sensation among New York patrons.

Filmland's stars and other celebrities are showing intense interest in Wednesday night's premiere of "Hallelujah" here. From the advance reservations indications are that the most brilliant throng in history of downtown Los Angeles will turn out for the event.

Camera Records Youngsters at Play for Film

Fifty Los Angeles boys, 4 to 14 years of age, helped Al Jolson and Davey Lee with several scenes for the new Jolson picture, "Say It With Songs," now playing at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater, and had a fine time doing it.

The youngsters and Davey were turned loose in a school play ground and the natural hilarity that resulted was carefully recorded by the Vitaphone. Most of the time the children were unaware that their calls and cries were being incorporated into the picture, or that the cameras were recording their games.

Outdoor Vitaphone recording has long been done successfully but seldom with such abandon on the part of the cast, it is said. Shy at first when Jolson appeared in their midst, the children soon took their cue from Davey, who holds the great comedian in no awe whatever, and before he knew it Jolson was swamped with youthful admirers who asked questions and presented autograph albums.

Screen Players See "Shavings"

Two of the interested spectators at the premiere of "Shavings," which the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at the President, were Frederic March and Kenneth Thomson, both well-known featured players in motion pictures.

When "Shavings" was produced first in the East, both March and Thomson, then beginning their careers as actors, were in the original cast, playing juvenile roles. They were among the many picture celebrities at the opening performance who were on hand to greet William V. Mong who has the leading role, and James Bradbury, Sr., who appears as Capt. Hunniwell, his original part.

Included in the cast of the comedy of Cape Cod folks are Joyce Booth, Frances Morris, Erville Alderson, Allen Connor and others.

Local Favorite at Vine-street

Return of Marjorie Rambeau to the local stage, after an absence of a number of years, will be marked tomorrow night by the first showing of "What a Woman Wants," a comedy romance by DeWitt Newling, at the Vine Street.

Among the most popular of stage favorites, Miss Rambeau scored her first outstanding success here in "Merely Mary Ann." Her performance in this production elevated her to the position of distinct prominence she since has held. Another production in which she scored during her early days before the footlights was "The Rose of the Rancho."

NELLIE PUTS MODERNISTS TO SHAME

Pasadena Playhouse Offers Revival of Davis's Play of Gay Nineties

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

"Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," that beatitude of the gay 90's by Owen Davis, having survived these many seasons, is wending its fervid way across the boards at Pasadena Community Playhouse, enlivened with every concomitant of the theater of that exuberant period.

The fragile Nellie seems to possess every quality which makes for permanence, and actuality puts to blush the hardy flapper of the day with her inexhaustible vitality. Despite the fact that she is called upon to go many times through the agonies of death, her vitality refuses to weaken. Rescued from the very jaws of death itself, frail and pitiful, this shrinking maiden of the nineties displays an iron nerve and bravado, which are almost incredible.

Nellie is indeed a tower of strength. Nothing can shake her stable equilibrium. She passes through vicissitudes which would annihilate one of lesser moral stature, only to remain the willowy and sweetly ethereal creature which Mr. Davis has drawn with such unctuous enjoyment.

Pasadena Players with gay effrontery and slyly humorous gesture rather seek to burlesque this turbulent effort. However, in the main deas they run true to form, since exaggeration is unnecessary. The play itself fulfills its raison d'etre through the very violence of its hysterical denouement. Nellie is indeed refined gold and the Playhouse deals in reality. So they present the young lady as the author saw her in the virtuous nineties, without a sin to desecrate her shining purity.

Jeanne Wood, who won the leading part in the melodrama, through a beauty and personality contest held by Gilmor Brown, justified the confidence reposed in her. She was as chastely beautiful and genuinely pathetic, as this heroine was called upon to be, and passed from one lurid experience to another with a versatility and sturdy dramatic intuition which was splendid. Norval Mitchell, as Walter Hilton, the villain, managed a very good impersonation. Richard Menefee as the lover brought a degree of reality and sympathy together with a sly bit of humor to his part. As the haughtily pompous forewoman of the cloak department, Virginia Lykins was appallingly lifelike. Ralph Freud as the drunken father somehow lacked his usual conviction, and Lisa Thompson as "A Woman With a History" was a trifle too dolorous.

Conway Tearle Takes Part of Stern Guardian

He came, he saw, and was conquered! To paraphrase the historical catchline alluding to the great Caesar, the unusual events surrounding Conway Tearle in "Gold Diggers of Broadway" are stated in brief.

Tearle, who makes his Vitaphone talking-picture debut in this Warner Brothers special of Broadway's chorines, now at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater, enacts the stern guardian of a scion of a wealthy family. The ward desires to marry a chorus girl. Following out his duty as he sees it, Tearle investigates the girl's character. Instead he becomes acquainted with another fair member of the chorus and promptly falls in love!

This, and the surrounding events, contribute to making "Gold Diggers of Broadway" one of the funniest of talking pictures, it is said. Principals in the all-star cast also include Ann Pennington, Nancy Welford, Nick Lucas, Lilyan Tashman, William Bakewell, Helen Foster, Winnie Lightner, Albert Gran and many others. Roy del Ruth directed.

Event Planned at Roosevelt

Practically every 1929 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is represented in the list of stars who have accepted invitations to be guests of honor at the M.-G.-M. frolic, to be staged in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel Monday night. George Olsen and his band, co-operating with Eugene Stark, managing director of the hotel, have arranged a night of unusual festivities.

Stellar representatives of other studios are also expected to make reservations for the event, and George Olsen is personally arranging a number of travesties on recent M.-G.-M. productions.

M.-G.-M. Signs Lottice Howell

Lottice Howell, noted operatic soprano and declared the most beautiful woman in opera today, has been signed for talking pictures. Her new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was announced yesterday, and she arrived Friday to take up her new work at the studios.

Like Lawrence Tibbett, the baritone, Miss Howell is an American who won stellar note in song. She hails from the South and created brilliant successes with the American Opera Company.

FOOTBALL COMEDY READY

Harry Gribbon will have a football comedy for release just at the time when the season is at its height. The comedian, who is starring in Mack Sennett comedies, is now engaged in the photography. He is supported by the same cast that appeared with him in "Clancy at the Bat," a baseball comedy.

FAWCETT MAY SIGN

George Fawcett, who is stepping along with one engagement after the other, will probably sign for another interesting role this week. He hopes to have a few days which he can spend on the desert.

COLUMBUS DAY IS RADIO THEME

KHJ Will Transmit Sports Events Likewise

Damrosch, Dean of Directors, Returns to Radio

Paige Enters on New Duties at Station

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Even though this seems to be an age of Lindbergh epics, Columbus still gets a fair-sized break once a year. The deeds of the intrepid explorer, financed when Queen Isabella hocked the family jewels, will be narrated in various forms over radio frequencies today, Columbus Day.

The 8 o'clock chain program, through KFI, will contribute to the Columbus programs in a dramatization, with music and sundry props, of incidents from the explorer's life.

BASEBALL AND FOOTBALL

KHJ's contribution to the day will feature the realm of sports. The fourth world series game is due at 10:30 a.m., with the line opening up a half-hour earlier for preliminary remarks.

In case it rains in the Quaker City, a substitution will be made in the form of broadcasting the Navy-Notre Dame grid classic in Baltimore. You can't lose either way.

Then in the afternoon, at 2 o'clock, you can turn an attentive ear for the U.S.C.-Washington struggle from the Seattle battlefield. KHJ will send out a yard-by-yard account of the carnage with Ernie Smith manipulating the microphone.

DAMROSCH RETURNS

Worthy of more than passing interest is the return of Walter Damrosch to the radio tonight, KFI at 6 p.m., with a program including Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony;" Pierne's "Entrance of the Little Fauns" and the Delius, "Summer Night on the River."

Damrosch, during the winter series, plans six complete symphonies. Glazunov's "Symphony No. 3" will be the first one on November 18, next. Others will include five symphonies of Mozart, Brahms, Haydn, Beethoven and Tschaikowsky.

TWO BLACK CROWS

The 7 o'clock KHJ hour will bring another theater hour with Moran and Mack as the stellar lights and Richard Arlen as master of ceremony. That part will come from Hollywood, while the rest of the broadcast will originate in New York.

The KHJ Night Court comes on the air at 8 o'clock. It is one of those dizzy type of programs. The dimber it gets the more the fans applaud. The Absent-Minded Professor, the Bailiff's Music Lesson, Ramsay MacDonald and Herbert Hoover and Fire Prevention Week are some of the episodes. Lindsay MacHarrie will preside.

NEW MUSIC LEADER

Raymond Paige, KHJ's orchestra leader, is taking charge of all musical activities at the local Don Lee station, succeeding Charles Shepard, who remains as orchestral conductor.

Paige tonight will assume the role of a great explorer in presenting the first of a series of "discovery hours," the discovery being for new radio talent.

Preliminary auditions pick out some of the best for appearances on the Saturday night programs. The time will be 9 p.m.

Tomorrow night The Times world-wide news period will be on the air via KHJ at 8 p.m. instead of its former schedule of 6:45 o'clock.

TRAFFIC CHECK ORDERED

Council yesterday instructed the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners to make a traffic check at the intersections of One Hundred Eighth street and Broadway and at Holmes Boulevard and Ninety-seventh street in order to determine the type of traffic regulation which should be installed. This action was taken at the request of Councilman Henning.

RED CROSS HEADS CONFER

Southern California Chapters Represented Here; National Vice-Chairman Speaks

That the American Red Cross is doing the greatest piece of public education in the country in its present program of activities is the statement of James L. Fieser, vice-chairman of the American National Red Cross, who was the principal speaker yesterday at the annual regional conference of Red Cross chapters in Southern California, in Patriotic Hall.

"Of necessity," Fisher said, "we have to become authorities on any and every subject in order to meet the situations that confront us at every turn, and in our home service work and public health education we are making every effort to pass this knowledge on to the great mass of people.

QUOTES HOOVER

"The American Red Cross in the past seven years has been the dispensing agent for more than $54,000,000 in disaster work," he said. "To impress upon you our responsibility as Red Cross members, I want to quote from an address given by President Hoover in which he said, 'The Red Cross has become the one guarantee to the American people that loss of life shall be prevented in calamity, that suffering shall be mitigated to the utmost degree. In assuming this great responsibility the Red Cross must further develop its own organization. In the disasters of the last four or five years we have seen the growing necessity for a permanent, solidly built staff of skilled men and women to deal with these problems. Such a staff can be maintained only by larger support.'"

OTHER SPEAKERS

Judge Robert H. Scott gave an address of welcome, to which John B. Miller, vice-chairman of the Los Angeles chapter, responded. Other speakers on the program, all of whom are assistant national directors, were, Miss Rena Haig, Washington, public health nursing; Pacific branch; Edwin H. Carroll of San Francisco on the necessity for greater education in first-aid and live-saving work; R. E. Arne, San Francisco, the problems of ex-service men, and Miss Marianne King. George Phillips of the Los Angeles High School, and Eric F. Young of the University of Southern California, also were speakers.

Miss Mary Concannon, assistant national director and also a national director of the Junior Red Cross in high schools, told of Junior Red Cross work and progress. The junior movement, she declared, is the reserve power for the Red Cross of the future.

A special session of the Junior Red Cross was held in the afternoon, service in high schools being the chief topic. Leigh Newcomer of Burbank High School, served as chairman.

D. C. MacWatters, chairman of the Los Angeles chapter, presided at the conference sessions.

IOWANS TO GATHER TODAY

The Pottawattamie County (Iowa) Society of Southern California will meet for its semiannual picnic and reunion today in the glen north of the speakers' stand at Sycamore Grove Park. The program, beginning at 2 p.m., will be featured by talks on citizenship by Municipal and Superior Court judges, an address by Col. J. J. Steadman and saxaphone solos by C. H. Kellogg.

AUSTRALIA LABOR REVIVES

General Motors Official There Tells of Return to Sanity After Futile Strikes and Strife

Australian labor, worn out by strikes and strife, gradually is regaining its sanity and has the vigor for vast industrial strides, in the opinion of Lee Wallace, Australian production manager for General Motors Corporation. He returned by way of Hawaii yesterday on the Lasco liner City of Honolulu.

The emancipation was started, he said, by the tire industry in introducing the piecework system, the employees not being entangled with any union award. Gradually General Motors plants invoked this method, and other industries are doing likewise. He found the men really want it.

General Motors has $27,000,000 invested in five assembling plants, and supplies about half the consumption of 115,000 new autos yearly in Australia. Eighty-five per cent of them are American.

Australia, while objecting to America's proposed tariffs, he said, is on the eve of imposing one itself, which will require General Motors to manufacture everything it can in the Antipodes, such as springs, brake rods and frame members. Incidentally, he blames a visiting American for unwittingly putting the tariff idea in Australian politicians' heads.

He will visit here ten days and proceed to New York, where he will embark for Egypt to open another plant for his company.

Philanthropic Bridge Played at Town House

Bridge and showing of fall fashions with tea served on the terrace brought approximately 400 women to the Town House on Wilshire Boulevard, yesterday afternoon. The affair was given under the auspices of the Woodrow Wilson chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to raise funds for financing girls through college and for other philanthropic purposes.

The terrace of the Town House was lavishly decorated with flowers, gayly hued garden furniture and huge colorful sunshades. The tables were crowded during the latter part of the afternoon, when the models paraded a canvas-covered walk laid from the dining-room across the terrace and down the aisle between the tables.

Patronesses in charges were Mrs George Trowbridge, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Chandler, Mrs. Burnett Wright and Mrs. Otis Healy.

Among the guests were Mrs. W. I. Bartlett, Mrs. Harrison Purdon, Mrs. B. T. Sheppard, Mrs. Samuel Cairy Dunlap, Mrs. James L. Dunston, Mrs. Theodore L. Grabe, Mrs. George Farrell, Mrs. William Warmington, Mrs. Richard Thorpe, Mrs. Irving P. Werner and Mrs. Grantland S. Lang. Music was furnished by Miss Dorothy Janice, vocalist, with Mrs. Ruth Duclos at the piano.

Fox Announces Additions to His Theater Chain

Addition of approximately 200 more theaters to the William Fox national chain of operations during the past week was announced yesterday. These theaters represent three important circuits with headquarters in San Francisco, Kansas City, Mo., and Wichita, Kan. Purchases and negotiations were carried through by Harold B. Franklin and Howard Sheehan.

All of these operations and the conduct of the theaters will be directed by Franklin from the Los Angeles office. These acquisitions added to the Fox West Coast Theaters represent more than 500 theaters under the supervision of Franklin.

These houses cover territory extending from San Diego to Seattle and as far east as Kansas City, Mo. The circuits acquired are the Midland Theaters, Inc., the L. M. Miller circuit, and the Ellis Arkrush Theaters.

Film Pair Will Not Marry---Yet

While they do not deny they ultimately may be married, Alice White, screen actress, and Sidney Bartlett yesterday announced they are not engaged at the present time as was stated in The Times of recent date. Bartlett declared they are not ready to announce their betrothal for business reasons.

He said he came to Hollywood to attempt to carve a name for himself in talking pictures and that it is not his desire to have his name linked in such a manner with an established screen artist, as it appears is being done, to help him in his effort.

Miss White also asserted she and Bartlett are not engaged, but that their marriage some time in the future is not improbable.

CLUB TO HEAR AUTHORESS

Marriage is to be discussed by Joan Adamson, authoress and philosopher, in a lecture before the Women's Club of Hollywood at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Miss Adamson has lectured throughout the United States and Europe. She has spent years here and abroad studying the intellectual development of various countries. A musical program also is announced.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

BUSY MOTHER SAYS TIME SPENT SAVES TROUBLE

Mrs. C. E. H. writes: "I was interested in a recent article of yours on imaginary games. I have six young children, only one in school, but I find it saves trouble to take a little trouble. Here are two of my successful experiments.

"One day when I wanted to rest I made for the children a plain cookie dough, gave them each a ball of it, each a pan and a cookie cutter and a rolling pin which each had to use in turn as there was only one. I said that when they were ready I would bake them. It took some time to make and remake them and afterward we had a "party" and ate them.

"If one day turned a fretful 5-year-old into a happy busy nurse with a cap and apron, by giving her too-ripe string beans, which were a "sickly" color to use as patients. There were endless possibilities, beds made of corn-flake boxes, old, white cotton torn into sheets, tiny beans for babies, tiny bottle of tea for iodine, small nails for thermometers, and so on.

"My healthy sextet lives on milk, fruit, vegetables, whole-wheat, eggs and some meat."

Answer: When I get letters like yours I think of all the mothers of one or two children who think they have a full day and can't think of one thing to suggest when the lone chick cries to be amused. I hope some of them read your letter.

Breaking Pacifier Habit

Mrs. R. J. T. writes: "I have a little girl 3 years of age, who has the bad habit of sucking on a pacifier. I have tried taking it away from her but she cries something awful. I have tried putting things inside of it but this doesn't work. What shall I do?"

Answer: I wonder who gave the child the pacifier in the first place? Who ever did is responsible for the present bad habit. You can't foster such a habit in a child for a year or more and then expect her to drop it afterward without infinite trouble and tears. She is old enough now to understand why it is being taken away and I should do it gradually in this way: Give it to her only at bedtime, for the time being, then shorten the time she may have it until she no longer has it at all. When she wants it in the daytime remind her that she is getting older and that only babies put things in their mouths. She is old enough now to help herself. Also, keep her busy and entertained with interesting games to play. She won't miss the pacifier if she is otherwise engaged. If you make her feel that she is trying, and you are trying to help her, you won't meet such resistance.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

KEEPING BABY'S BED DRY

Babies by living on an exclusive milk diet, receive such an enormous quantity of liquid that the bladder is really overworked all the time. Every time the bladder fills up to any extent, the baby will urinate in order to relieve the pressure. Some infants learn to control this after a few months, but a lack of control cannot be considered really abnormal before the second year.

As the child grows older it will learn to avoid wetting its clothes during the daytime because of the scorn it receives from its companions and from its parents, but the bed-wetting often continues for a much longer period. The bed-wetting is often exceedingly exasperating to the child, and criticising does not usually accomplish much. Encouraging the child to overcome this disorder helps better than punishment.

The three principal causes of bed-wetting are: First, an overdistention of the bladder from drinking too many fluids during the latter part of the day and just before retiring; chronic or acute bladder inflammation; third, lack of subconscious mental control.

Usually, after a child changes from the milk diet to solid food, it is a good plan for these children to avoid liquids after 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Children fed on improper food combinations may develop a chronic inflammation of the bladder. This can usually be corrected by a few days' exclusively on acid fruit, followed by a diet of the right food combinations. Where neither of these two conditions are present, the habit can sometimes be stopped by making mental suggestions to the child while it is awake.

It is a good plan to offer some little reward to the child if it has a dry bed in the morning. For example, take him to a picture show or to a picnic in the park if the bed is dry every night during the week. The bed-wetting often takes place at night because the child actually dreams that he is going to the toilet, and usually the child is very embarrassed upon awakening to find the bed wet. This is most apt to occur on cold nights.

If the child is a sound sleeper, good suggestions may sometimes be given to him when asleep. After the child is asleep, the mother may sit at the side of the bed and talk to her child in this manner: "When you wake up in the morning, your bed will be perfectly dry," or, "Mother will be so pleased to find the bed perfectly dry in the morning." Use the word "dry" over and over again but in giving this mental treatment, never at any time use the word "wet." This treatment may seem too simple to be true, but I urge you to try it for a few times, as children are very sensitive to positive suggestions.

There is abundant evidence to believe that when a person is asleep the mind can be educated and instructed by someone giving instruction and suggestion in a low tone of voice. With children, this method of giving suggestions is especially valuable, as their minds are more elastic. When the mind receives suggestions during sleep there is very little resistance to the ideas given, and they continue to assert their effect when the child is awake but without any conscious remembrance of the suggestions given.

Final Rites for Mrs. Edna Jones Will Be Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Edna Mae Jones, wife of Mark M. Jones, member of the board of directors of the Inglewood Park Cemetery Association and well known before her marriage as a concert soprano under the name of Edna Mae Alchin, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. in Grace Chapel, Inglewood Park Cemetery. Rev. H. B. Thelin, assistant dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, will deliver the funeral obsequies. The body will be placed in the receiving vault of the cemetery following the rites.

Mrs. Jones died Thursday at the California Hospital following an operation. She was 35 years old. She appeared in recital throughout California, Washington and Oregon before her marriage in 1911. She leaves her husband and two daughters, Edna Mae, 16, and Doris Deighton Jones, 5. The family residence is at 2121 West Pico street.

ALL-WARS VETERANS PICNIC TOMORROW

Veterans of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are to join tomorrow in a picnic at Brookside Park, Pasadena, it was announced yesterday by J. H. Hoeppel of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis Post No. 1537, Veterans of Foreign Wars. This will be the first reunion of its sort in the Los Angeles area, bringing together the retired personnel, which includes Civil War veterans, many Indian War veterans and a great number who served in the Spanish-American and World wars. WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORTON W. BURGESS

FLIP FINDS A DOORWAY

Who trusts in luck will seldom gain;
To trust in it will prove in vain.
—[Old Mother Nature.

Striped Chipmunk had lots of fun with Flip before Flip found out that Striped Chipmunk was simply fooling with him. Having Flip try to catch him was just a little excitement for Striped Chipmunk and he enjoyed it. However, there is nothing slow about Flip. It took only one or two lessons to teach Flip that trying to catch Striped Chipmunk on the old stone wall was merely a waste of time. After that Striped Chipmunk could be as impudent as he pleased without arousing the least bit of interest on Flip's part.

Early one morning, however, Flip discovered Striped Chipmunk a long way from the old stone wall. That is, it was a long way for such a little fellow as Striped Chipmunk. He was over on the edge of the road in Farmer Brown's dooryard.

"This is the time I'll get that fellow!" thought Flip. "When I do, he'll be sorry. I'll teach him that he can't be saucy and impudent to me and not pay for it."

Flip is, as you know, very quick. It is amazing how fast he can run for a short distance. He ran his very fastest now. Striped Chipmunk gave a startled jump and then instead of making for the old stone wall as Flip expected him to, he scurried as fast as his little legs could take him along the edge of the driveway. Flip almost laughed aloud when he saw this. Never in all his life had he felt more sure of anything than he did of catching Striped Chipmunk now.

And then Striped Chipmunk disappeared. One instant there he was, scurrying just as fast as his legs could take him just ahead of Flip, and the very next instant there was no Striped Chipmunk. Flip was going so fast in trying to stop he almost turned a somersault. He had to stop because, with Striped Chipmunk gone, there was nobody to chase. Such a sheepish look as there was on Flip's face as he turned and slowly made his way back toward the spot where he had last seen Striped Chipmunk. When he got there he looked all around as if he expected to see Striped Chipmunk hiding behind something.

And then Flip discovered a little round hole that went right straight down.

But he didn't, for the very good reason that Striped Chipmunk wasn't hiding behind anything.

And then Flip discovered a little round hole that went right straight down. It was on the very edge of the driveway. There was no sand scattered around it. There was nothing to show that it had been dug recently. There was just a little, plain, round hole—that was all. Flip sniffed at it. There was the odor of Striped Chipmunk. He sniffed again to make sure. There was no doubt about it. Striped Chipmunk had gone down that hole. That hole was a doorway and Striped Chipmunk had popped through it.

"It's a lucky thing for him he found it!" thought Flip, as he dug with both feet and found that the driveway was too hard for him to make any impression on. "Yes, sir, it's a lucky thing that fellow found this hole! If he hadn't found it just when he did, I would have had him."

And then an odd look passed over Flip's face at a sudden thought. "I wonder," said he slowly, "if he knew that that hole was here all the time. I wonder if this is a doorway he has been in the habit of using."

Even then it didn't occur to Flip that Striped Chipmunk might have made that hole. No, sir, this didn't enter Flip's head.
